

JUDGE GEORGE ROSSMAN

For justices of the supreme court there are two to be nominated from three candidates. One of these is Judge George Rossman, a candidate to succeed himself.

From the time of his appointment to the municipal bench of the city of Portland in 1917, following several years of successful law practice, his rise has been rapid and each advance gained on recognized ability and hard work. In 1922 he was appointed to fill a vacancy in the circuit court of Multnomah county. At the next election he received one of the largest votes ever cast in favor of a circuit judge. On September 12, 1927, he was appointed by Governor Patterson to the supreme court bench.

Judge Rossman is a student of law of high standing and recognized ability, an authority on many phases of legal interpretation. He has an analytical mind, is a keen student of human nature and is an indefatigable worker.

The simplification and speeding up of higher court procedure has been a hobby with Judge Rossman and since his elevation to the supreme bench he has cooperated thoroughly with new rules which have made remarkable progress in clearing the docket of old cases. Instead of hearing cases three and four years old, the supreme court soon will be listening to current cases, none over three months old.

It is said to his credit that during his occupancy of the circuit bench Judge Rossman was never reversed in a criminal, divorce or personal injury case.

There can be no doubt that it is the duty, and privilege, of the voters of Oregon to retain Judge Rossman on the supreme bench.

PLEASANT HOME

Both morning and evening services at the Pleasant Home Baptist church next Sunday will contain special features. The morning service will begin with the Bible school at 10 o'clock, followed by a program appropriate to Mothers' Day, rendered by the intermediate, junior and young people's classes. The Rev. Gordon Johnson will deliver a sermon after the program. In the evening a group of B. Y. P. U. members of the Sellwood Baptist church will conduct the young people's service at 7:30 and Mr. Johnson will preach at 8 o'clock.

Plans are under way for the organization of a junior B. Y. P. U. Sunday evening, May 20, and all children between the ages of 9 and 14 years are invited to join.

Mrs. Clyde Ruegg and Mrs. John Campbell were soloists at the silver tea given Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. B. C. Altman.

Mrs. Elmer Bell and little daughter Edith are having an attack of mumps. The disease has been of a mild form and neither was seriously ill.

Mr. and Mrs. John Campbell went to Cherryville Wednesday afternoon to look at a horse which Mr. Campbell contemplates buying.

Frank Beers was seriously injured at his sawmill at North Plains this week. He came in contact with the saw and a severe wound was inflicted in his leg requiring 50 stitches to close.

Mrs. H. C. Nelson was a luncheon guest Wednesday noon at the home of her sister, Mrs. D. L. Roberts of Portland.

Mrs. Helmer Johnson returned to her home Tuesday from the Portland sanitarium. She is reported to be making a rapid recovery from the operation which she underwent a week ago for removal of a toxic goiter.

The ladies of the Methodist church announce that "all things are ready" for the community supper which will be given at the church Saturday evening, May 12, beginning at 7:45. There will also be a program following the supper.

Mothers' Day will be observed at the Methodist church Sunday. The church will be decorated by the young people. There will be an illustrated lecture at the evening service. The Sunday school will convene at 10 a. m., the morning church service at 11:15; the Epworth League at 7 p. m. and the evening service at 8 o'clock. A cordial welcome will be given those who attend these services.

The Methodist junior choir will meet at the parsonage Saturday afternoon.

Herman Walters and the Rev. Oliver Gill attended the eastern district conference at The Dalles Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Mrs. Oliver Gill spent the week at the home of her parents in Portland during her husband's absence.

PIONEER UNIVERSITY APPLICANTS INCREASE

In spite of Willamette University's severe entrance requirements, the list of applicants for next year has increased 30 per cent over last spring's statistics, and examination of the registrar's files showed the week.

Only 200 freshmen are admitted each year and these are "hand-picked" through a rigid system of entrance tests and character qualifications.

Since Willamette's credits have been officially recognized as being on a par with those of the upper 200 universities in the United States, numerous outstate students are making inquiries and, from all indications, it will be only by turning away those rating lowest that the oldest university west of the Rockies can maintain its student body limit of 500.

SPRINGDALE

The small son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Bourgeois accidentally swallowed a safety pin on Thursday of last week, which lodged in its throat. The child was immediately taken to Gresham where a physician successfully removed the pin by closing it and extracting it through the mouth.

Roy Parsons, Jesse Rogers and Jack Zilm attended the opening of a new P. W. L. A. lodge in east Portland on Monday evening.

A flower club is being organized in Springdale. The first meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Will Wright Wednesday.

The operetta given by the Springdale school was a fine success and much comment was given on the beautiful paper costumes, which were designed by Mrs. W. Woods with the assistance of Mrs. Nora Littlepage, Mrs. W. W. Northway, Mrs. Jack Zilm, Mrs. Ralph Rogers and Mrs. Tom Northway.

The Springdale Parent-Teacher association held an interesting meeting Monday evening. Mrs. Della Henkle, president for the past year, was re-elected; George Canzler, vice president; Mrs. Roy Parsons, treasurer; Mrs. Tom Northway, a committee on membership; Mrs. W. Woods, publicity; Miss Rhodes on program committee; Mrs. Nora Littlepage, eats committee. The secretary will be selected in the fall at the first meeting, which will be held by one of the new instructors. A program followed, after which cake and ice cream were served.

Guests at the home of Mrs. W. W. Northway Sunday were her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sargent and children from Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hugg from Elgin, Oregon, were visitors at the W. W. Northway home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Reeves are the proud grandparents of twin boys born to Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Reeves Saturday, May 5.

Geo. H. Atkinson has purchased an interest in the A. L. Davies ranch. Improvements will be made on buildings this summer.

HURLBURT

Bert McCready's niece, Mrs. W. Peterson and her husband and two children, Billy and Margaret from Burlington, Iowa, visited at the McCready home last week. Mr. Jenkins, a brother-in-law, and Mrs. Jenkins' son Clarence are staying there for a few days. They are also from Iowa.

An indoor baseball game was played between Hurlburt and Springdale grade schools, Hurlburt winning by the score of 10-6. The parents from Hurlburt present were Mrs. Albert Kimbly, Mrs. W. J. Ellis, Mrs. L. Hunson, Mrs. Clarence Devereil, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Johnson and Mrs. Morris Johnson.

Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Elwick were Mr. and Mrs. Waldemar Seton of Portland and their guest, Mrs. Arrasmith of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Hurlburt and Mrs. Richardson of Portland.

Mother Love Thing Divine

In the secret places of the heart there is an inmost sanctuary. The door opens only to God—and to one other. A man may lack religion in the accepted sense; may lack honor in the eyes of his fellowmen; may lack virtue, lack strength, lack everything almost that life requires. Yet, with that inmost shrine inviolate, there is hope for him. And in her who, with God, has place in that sanctuary, always there is faith.

Because of the sacredness of the relationship, it is difficult for men to speak or write readily of mothers, motherhood, mother love. For that reason, much that has been said and written as to Mother's day is weak, inadequate, hackneyed. It is difficult for those of the less demonstrative races publicly to proclaim their deeper emotions, whether the subject be one's mother or one's God.

The average man or woman, striving to voice or depict that which is holiest, feels need of a medium of expression excited beyond average powers. Motherhood and true religion are more than akin. They are inseparable. Great painters of the Renaissance wrought marvels with sacred subjects. But divine inspiration and human craftsmanship blended most magnificently when the greatest among them drew Madonnas.

Through all the centuries, the pains, the joys, the sorrows, the sacrifices, the triumphs of motherhood have provided a bond joining humankind with the Divine Mystery. She who has gone down into the Valley of the Shadow that a soul may come on earth has offered a sacrifice not of this world alone. So, in the years that follow, time and again, she divinely makes new sacrifices in behalf of that same soul for whose life she walked with death.

When the Magnificat is chanted, only a mother truly can hear the exultant glories of the song of The Mother 19 centuries ago. And only a mother's eyes can pierce the mists of time, clearly to see Her who stood by the Cross at the place called Golgotha.

In the secret places of the heart there is an inmost sanctuary; and the door opens only to God—and to a mother.—Buffalo Courier-Express.

Mother's Eternal Day

God would make a failure in this world without a mother's love. Mother's love is the seed and prophecy of altruism—the brotherhood of man. This seed that God planted in human soil will one day cover the world. Brambles and weeds of hate will disappear. Standing on the certitude of a mother's love, we can hear the strains of martial music that indicate the victory of love over hate, and can look forward to the banishment of war and crime, and catch a vision of the triumphant standards of the kingdom of God above the world.

Mother's eternal day in heaven.—Houston Post-Dispatch.

DELEGATES-AT-LARGE.

Sixteen good Oregon men have filed as delegates at large to the republican national convention. Seven are to be chosen at the election next week. Twelve of the 16 declare themselves as favoring Hoover for president. One favors Lowden and one says "for Oregon's choice." One "favors government control of the liquor traffic." That's Sandblast. How can the government control a traffic that has been outlawed? One of them, Lawrence N. Blowers, of Lane county, has a better slogan. He says, "Enforce 18th amendment vigorously and impartially."

Among the names is Elisha A. Baker, of Portland, and every good citizen knows that he is in favor of "law observance and a sane enforcement of prohibition," as he declares in his slogan.

Another man for delegate, of good character and standing and well known in eastern Multnomah county, is Dorr E. Keasey. He says he will vote for Lowden, but probably his next choice will be Hoover. Anyway, Keasey is a good man to send to Kansas City.

Eight of those in the list of 16 are Multnomah county men. Among them are, Wm. A. Carter, Lane Goodell, Robert N. Stanfield and W. L. Thompson.

Curiously enough, the only name on the ballot without any declaration whatsoever is a Douglas county man named Hoover. If he isn't, he ought to be a Hoover man.

VICTORY

The Victory Cattle club was entertained by Mrs. A. H. Burns last Friday evening. After the business meeting refreshments were served. The club has an enrollment of 18 wide-awake boys and girls.

The baseball nine of Victory defeated the Gilbert nine on the Gresham diamond last Sunday, the score being 7 to 6.

Geo. Armstrong of the White Knoll Poultry farm is building a new brooder house.

Mr. and Mrs. Ola Tofte entertained at dinner Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Wester and family from Portland, Mr. and Mrs. John Strebin and family, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Rhodes and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. McMillan and family.

Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Stafford and daughters Vera and Eva, were Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Lundbom.
