Fairview Pastor Returns From East

The Rev. E. R. D. Hollensted, pastor of the Smith Memorial Presbyterian church, has returned from Tulsa, Okla., where he attended the General Assembly of his denomination. An account of his eastern trip is most interestingly told by himself in the following words:

"In my journey to Tulsa, Okla., to attend the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church, I traveled a little over 5000 miles. I left over the Union Pacific railway, went through Pendleton, La Grande, Boise, Idaho, and on through Salt Lake City, where I spent a day sightseeing. I heard one of the daily noon-day concerts on the world-famous organ at the Mormon tabernacle. A trip to Fort Douglas afforded a fine view of the city. The streets are unusually wide and all are laid out rectangularly east and west. The city blocks are at least twice the length of those in Portland.

"I had a few hours to spend at Denver, Colo. This, too, is a beautiful city with its many parks, fine business houses and residences. The tourist here finds many trips into the mountains in all directions. At Kansas City I was especially impressed with the magnificent union depot and the wonderful monument erected to the memory of the soldiers of the late war who made the supreme sacrifice. It is located directly in front of the depot on a high hill. At the top of a tall column is seen flickering flames of the eternal fire, and of course, is very impressive in the darkness of the night. Leaving that city for Tulsa, a large number of commissioners from various states boarded the train.

"The session of the assembly lasted a week. The weather was hot, the thermometer registering between 90 and 100 degrees every day. The business of the assembly went like clock work. Controversial matters were studiously avoided. Many fine sermons and addresses were delivered by some of our most prominent ministers. The popular meetings of the evening of each day attracted large crowds and overflow meetings were held simultaneously in the old church, now used as a chapel. Fans were provided both at the church and at the hotels for the comfort of the commissioners. The commissioners were treated to a sight-seeing trip Saturday. More than 400 automobiles were placed at their disposal. There are many beautiful buildings, and especially church buildings, in Tulsa,—the city of oil millionaires. The Methodists are erecting a building which, when completed, will cost a million and a quarter dollars.

"I took the Santa Fe road on my return as far as Los Angeles, then the Southern Pacific home. A stop of a day at the Grand Canyon was a sight never to be forgotten. The variety of colors and shades of these massive rock formations defies description. From the bottom of the canyon to the rim is more than 5000 feet. The Colorado river winding its way at the bottom looks a tiny stream from the great height.

"I spent two days at Los Angeles and Long Beach. A friend gave me a fine day's auto ride through the surrounding country. I took the well-known day trip from Los Angeles to San Francisco. The train follows the ocean with its many resorts for more than 100 miles. It travels the 500 miles between the cities in exactly 12 hours.

"The journey over the Siskiyou mountain, with Mt. Shasta in view for many miles, was enchanting. I was glad, however, when I crossed the line into Oregon. The cool breezes, the ever-green hills and mountains were a welcome sight after traveling through the Arizona desert and the irrigated land of California.

"I am more than ever satisfied and content to spend the rest of my life in this state so wonderfully endowed with natural resources and unsurpassing scenery."

TROUTDALE

The Troutdale Ladies Aid and silver tea which was held Wednesday was well attended and a dainty lunch was served. A neat sum was realized by the Aid.

Mrs. L. A. Harlow entertained the Half Hour Study club of Portland Tuesday at the Columbia Villa. Mrs. J. F. Coons was an invited guest. All report a pleasant time, and speak highly of the delicious lunch served by Mrs. Norton.

Troutdale Boy on "Pep" Committee

Horace Evans of Troutdale, sophomore in commerce at Oregon State Agricultural college, has been appointed to the "Pep" committee for next year. This committee will handle stunts for all of the football and basketball games next year. The committee will also assist in handling pep dances, help in creating enthusiasm for games and assist in guarding the Beaver, a large golden replica of a beaver which is the Oregon state mascot. The purpose of the "Pep" committee is to promote true Beaver spirit among the students.

SPRINGDALE

Improvements are being made on the Tom Northway residence. In addition to a large basement, a kitchen and sleeping porch are being built. Cecil Pounder is the builder.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Wright and family spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Otto at Milwaukie, Oregon.

Mrs. Ed Nelson is selling canna bulbs on the Yamhill market three days out of each week now.

The baby clinic held at the Springdale schoolhouse was very well attended, 17 babies being examined by the doctor and nurse. There seemingly is a scarcity of boy babies in this community, there being only three boys in the group.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Northway went to Amity, Oregon, to spend the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Northway.

Cecil Pounder and Arthur Grim attended the areoplane stunt flying at the Rankin field Sunday. Mrs. Pounder and daughters spent the day at the home of Mrs. Earl Pounder in Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Stevenson and son Bobbie of Portland spent the week-end at the home of Mrs. Stevenson's sister, Mrs. Ralph Rogers.

Miss Rose Berney came from Burlingame, Cal., to spend the summer vacation at the home of her brother, Eugene Berney.

Mrs. Lewis Bradley from Corbett and Mrs. Harry Rickert were visitors at the home of Mrs. Tom Northday Friday.

Edward Berney has returned home from O. S. A. C. for the summer vacation.

Mrs. Glenora Babbitt returned to her home from Corvallis after spending the school term there with her son Halbert.

Bert Parsons returned to the U. S. S. Nitro at Bremerton, Wash., after spending a week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Parsons.

On Sunday, June 3, Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Pillar of Portland gave a dinner at their home in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Salzman's wedding anniversary. Covers were laid for 18. The table and house were beautifully decorated in daffodil and white.
