Establishment of Control Area for Protection Against Leaf and Stem Nematode (Clackamas County)

The fact has been determined, after investigation, by the president of the Oregon State Board of Horticulture that it is necessary to establish a control area embracing the territory described below for protection of horticultural and agricultural industries from the leaf and stem nematode, a disease affecting clover and strawberry plants, which has occurred therein, and is a menace to said area, and for the eradication from said area of said disease, and of clover and strawberry plants which have been, or may hereafter become, infected with said disease; and for preventing the growth of clover seed, clover hay, and strawberry plants which have been, or may hereafter become, so infected; and for the proper disinfection of implements and machinery which have been, or may hereafter be, infected with said disease.

Now, therefore, I, Charles A. Park, president of the Oregon State Board of Horticulture, under the authority conferred in Chapter 1927, General Laws of Oregon of 1927, do hereby declare section 27, and the southwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section 26, all in township one south, range three east, in Clackamas County, Oregon, to be a control area, for the purpose named in said act.

From and after the publication of this determination in the Outlook, a newspaper published in the vicinity of the above designated area, it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to maintain, within said area, any clover acreage or strawberry plants which have been found by the Oregon State Board of Horticulture, or its representatives or inspectors, to be infected with leaf and stem nematode; or to harvest the seed from said clover acreage; or to seed or plant, prior to the year 1932, any of said control area to any other than cultivated row crops, spring grain or other forage crop than clover, except with the approval of the District Horticultural Commissioner or of his proper representative, or to permit the growth, within said area, of wild or volunteer clover and strawberry plants, except upon similar approval, the essential object of these restrictions being to reduce the menace from persistence in the soil of volunteer clover and strawberry plants. In case any of said control area has been heretofore found infected with said nematode, and shall be reseeded prior to March 1 of any year before 1932, to a spring crop of grain, the seed from said grain shall be consumed on the farm where produced, and shall not be removed therefrom, and the straw from said grain shall be burned in the field where grown, and the field dry plowed soon after harvest. None of the acreage heretofore found by said board to be infected with nematode shall be pastured by any class of stock within one year following the destruction of the infected crop. All implements or machinery used in plowing the acreage so found to be infected shall be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected with creosote, lysol or with a 5 per cent solution of lysol or with a 10 per cent solution of formaldehyde, or with sheep dip; and all wagons, racks, implements or machinery used heretofore in handling the crop from said infected acreage shall be immediately cleaned and disinfected in a similar manner.

If any hay has been hauled to any barn or feeding place from a clover acreage, so found to be in-fectured, said barn or feeding place shall, as soon as said hay has been fed, be swept clean of all chaff and refuse, and the same shall be burned, and the manure resulting from the feeding of said hay shall be deposited on some portion of said control area which is not to be devoted to strawberries or clover for a period of three years. All fence rows surrounding any acreage that has been so found infected with nematode, shall at once be cleaned of volunteer clover and wild or volunteer strawberries, by hoeing out and burning, or otherwise completely killing the said growths for a width of two feet on each side of said fence. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation owning or controlling any acreage that has been so found infected with nematode to neglect to observe the foregoing requirements promptly after the publication hereof. A hearing of remonstrances
