 Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Taylor and children, Jack and Dick, have returned to their home at Olympia, Wash., after several weeks' stay with Mrs. Taylor's father, George Stockton. They were accompanied home by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Palmer who went in hopes of securing work there.
 M. Norby and son Leonard arrived home Saturday evening after spending three months at Bristol Bay, Alaska. They report a fine trip. Wednesday Mr. Norby presented his family with a fine new Chevrolet sedan purchased through the Fieldhouse-Shearer Chevrolet company of Gresham.
 Mr. and Mrs. Ray Van Slyke have come from Portland to stay indefinitely with Mr. Van Slyke's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Van Slyke. Ray's health seems to be slowly improving and it is hoped by his friends that the change of location will greatly benefit him.

Mt. Hood Tramway Seems a Possibility
 The proposed construction of a tramway from the vicinity of Cloud Cap Inn to the top of Mt. Hood, which was agitated a few years ago and rejected by Colonel Greely of the forestry service, seems now to be receiving favorable consideration on the part of Secretary Jardine and bids fair to become a reality.
 Secretary Jardine is on his way from Alaska and will be in Portland next week. He will meet with chamber of commerce officials and committees which have been investigating the possibilities and then he will be taken to Cloud Cap Inn where he can see for himself whether the proposition is a good one.
 It is necessary to have the sanction of the forestry department as the area is all in the reserve and Secretary of Agriculture Jardine is the final authority in the matter. A private company will finance the project which includes a fine modern hotel at Cloud Cap.
