THE CONSTITUTION.

Yesterday was Constitution Day in commemoration of the adoption of the United States constitution on September 17, 1787. The constitution, adopted by the convention of delegates in February, 1787, was submitted to the then 13 states. The first to ratify was Delaware on December, 1787, and the last was Rhode Island, May 29, 1790.

Nineteen amendments have been added. The last, extending the franchise to women, was declared ratified on August 26, 1920.

The 18th, the famous prohibition amendment, was proposed by congress December 17, 1917, and declared ratified January 29, 1919. The states were given seven years in which to ratify this proposed amendment. As a matter of fact a sufficient number, three-fourths of the total states, had ratified this amendment within a little more than a year after its submission and only two states failed to ratify it.

In view of the talk of modifying or annulling the 18th amendment it is significant to note that no amendment has ever been repealed.

The United States constitution, it is claimed, is the oldest constitution that has been in continuous effect as the basic law of a nation, which is a tribute to the wisdom of its framers and an evidence of the solidarity of this great nation, regarded from its beginning as an experiment in democracy—a government "of the people, by the people and for the people."

PASSING THE TORCH.

A brief sketch of an incident from Lincoln's life, portraying the revival in the heart of a wealthy man of the kindly helpful spirit, is well worth reading. Mrs. Andrews gives an incident in Lincoln's human touch with an orphan drummer boy who had lost his father in the civil war and had made his way to the White House to see the president. In after life the memory of the generous kindly treatment which he had received stimulated him to pass on the same treatment.

This is an auspicious time for us to take inventory and to determine whether we are keeping our torches well trimmed and burning. We are altogether too busy, most of us, to give any thought to others and many a kindly act which might start a long series of torches are buried in the debris of daily details. Gradually our appreciation of the helping hand and encouraging word that we have received in our own struggle for education and position becomes dim. We turn from the thoughts of extending any help to those close at hand as if it were unworthy of our attention. Gradually we become immune to all appeal and the sense of smug self-satisfaction and self-enjoyment becomes our daily reaction.

This is a good time of the year to call a halt and to look about us to see whether we can start some torches that will continue to burn brighter and brighter daily. Schools and colleges are opening for the year and many a young person will need the helping hand and the kindly human touch. Some of them need money to help them in their struggle for an education. Some of them want work and a place to stay where they can make themselves useful and reduce their expenses. What could be a better investment than to help some worthy young person? In Gresham we have one of the finest high schools in the state. The community has done nobly in providing buildings, transportation, equipment, laboratories, library, and a fine faculty. The need for the spirit of helpfulness is, however, just as great as it ever was. There are relatively just as many young people who have to struggle to make a place for themselves in the world. The human touch will never be out of date.

Phone Principal Cannon and he will be glad to put you in touch with students who need help.

TEMPERANCE WORKERS REPORT ADVANCE

Final reports of the Gresham W. C. T. U. were given at the annual meeting of the Union Thursday. The report of the president, Mrs. Mabel Clow, indicated faithful service. Only the high spots of the work of directors the past year are given as follows:

Americanization, Mrs. H. C. Larsen reported Sunday school work with Japanese children, several "Young Crusaders" taken, one in Japan, and social activities with parents and children.

Anti-Narcotics, Mrs. W. J. Cooper had distributed literature and sponsored work in public and Sunday schools.

Not far from $100 has been raised for the Children's Farm Home, besides materials for use of cottages and children. Articles for the farm home sales booth at the state fair have been received, and the director of fairs on exhibits, Mrs. C. J. Lundquist, will still receive articles. The Union Signal subscription list equals 50 per cent of the paid-up membership, and many young Crusaders are taken.

Through the efforts of the director of scientific temperance instruction about 225 essays were written in the grade school, and addresses were given in the Gresham, Troutdale, Sandy and Fairview schools, by Miss Maud Aldrich and others.

Two Good-will school bags were sent to Mexico. Election of officers was deferred until the next meeting, which will be at the home of Mrs. W. F. Honey Thursday afternoon, September 27, at 2:30.

Delegates to the annual convention of Multnomah county were elected. The convention will meet in the Evangelical church at St. Johns, corner St. Johns and Ivan streets, Thursday, September 20.

Others than delegated women are urged to attend the convention. Those elected were Mrs. W. J. Cooper, Mrs. Jackson F. Jones, Mrs. Ella Hensley, Mrs. Geo. F. Honey, Mrs. Hattie M. Wolfe, Mrs. B. W. Emery, Mrs. H. C. Larson, Mrs. C. J. Lundquist and Miss Maude Aldrich. Mrs. H. S. Clow and Mrs. W. F. Honey are delegates by reason of their offices in the local union, president and vice president, respectively.

School District No. 7

The Wilkes school, in common with other schools of the county, opened last Monday, September 10. The enrollment here was 82. Mrs. Lois Gray, principal, teaches the upper grades, Miss Mabel Hjort, intermediate and Mrs. Lucile Plunkett, primary. Teachers and pupils were delighted with the new piano and the playshed. Miss Theda Boyle, student of Monmouth Normal was a visitor Friday observing class work. Her mother, Mrs. H. L. Boyle of Parkrose accompanied her.

Joseph Bunnett, who had his tonsils removed Tuesday, is making a satisfactory recovery and expects to be able to return to school Monday noon.

Mrs. Geo. Wills was hostess for an aluminum demonstration, at her home on the Sandy road, Thursday evening. Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Stewart and B. M. McClure, were present and cooked an entire dinner. There were 22 present.

Mrs. John Cereghino of Parkrose has rented the Carter house on Sandy road and with her son and daughter is now occupying it. Mario and Amiline have entered the Wilkes school.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Wills and family motored to Olallie lake for the Labor day week-end. They report that a very large crowd of people was there although there are 40 miles of dust roads to be traveled to reach the lake.

Alpha Delta of Alpha Xi Delta will honor a group of girls who plan to enter Oregon Agricultural college, at dinner followed by bridge, Tuesday, September 18, at Jack and Jill's on the Base Line road.

Mrs. J. Burchett entertained Mrs. Werthen and daughter, Mrs. Fred Rivears and Mrs. W. O. Shaver at luncheon recently at her home on the Barker road.

Mrs. L. C. Binford is the proud possessor of a new Ford sport coupe, which was presented to her by Mr. Binford on her return from the beach recently.

Mrs. Dora Lemon of Oakland, Calif., was a week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Wills.

P. V. Rexford has been improving his home with a fresh coat of paint.

WALRAD'S RETURN; PLEASANT VACATION

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Walrad returned Thursday evening from a four weeks' vacation spent in touring through Oregon, Idaho, Utah, and Colorado.

In Boise they visited with Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Kinder, formerly of Gresham, in Salt Lake with friends, and in Denver with Mrs. Walrad's sister, Mrs. L. R. Kreader, who visited at their home here seven years ago. In Boise also Mr. Walrad met the Idaho state treasurer whom he had known some 30 years ago and Mrs. Walrad renewed acquaintance with the governor, an old classmate of hers.

While in and near Salt Lake City some of the things that were of particular interest that the Walrads visited were the lake, itself, the Mormon tabernacle and the Utah state capitol building. At Denver they visited Lookout mountain and the Buffalo Bill museum. One Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Walrad and another car of friends drove to Colorado Springs, visited the Modern Woodman home there, and spent two days camping near the Springs.

In all three states, Idaho, Utah and Colorado they made special trips to the state buildings and visited them throughout.

Mr. and Mrs. Walrad returned home very much satisfied with their vacation and state that in all the miles of travel they only encountered one stretch of unimproved highway and only one half day of bad weather.
