

County Fair Assn. Elects 20 Directors

Some difficulty was experienced last night in getting a majority of shares of stock represented but when it was secured the Multnomah County Fair association elected 20 directors for the ensuing year. Reports were read and various matters were presented especially pertaining to the care of the grounds.

According to a plan adopted previously, five directors, constituting the finance committee, hold over. They are: C. I. Raker, H. A. Lewis, T. R. Howitt, T. J. Kreuder and Theo. Brugger.

Directors elected at last night's meeting for the year are as follows: B. L. Walrad, S. B. Hall, M. M. Squire, O. A. Eastman, H. L. St. Clair, Mrs. Mabel Korstad, Leslie Walrad, Al Hammar, W. H. Mitchell, C. G. Schneider, A. W. Metzger, Mrs. Pearl Mack, Fred Crane, W. R. Hicks, R. D. Bailey, C. E. Johnson, Ed. Aylsworth, L. L. Kidder, F. Olbrich and Richard Deich.

KIWANIS PROGRAM TO BE SURPRISE, MONDAY

For the meeting of the Kiwanis club next Monday evening at 8:15 the main speaker will be C. G. Schneider, who will talk on the future of the Gresham Kiwanis. The entertainment committee, under the direction of W. J. Olmscheid, chairman, is planning a surprise program which will furnish much enjoyment to complete the evening.

After the regular dinner and business meeting last Monday evening a very interesting talk was given by Dr. Jack Jones, of Portland, on Kiwanis education. Later in the evening a number of selections were given by Marion Goodfellow, a local high school student, who is very adept with his home-made musical instruments.

Thirty-four of the 39 members were present and seven out-of-town visitors. The visitors were Dr. and Mrs. Jack Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Marriott G. Farr of Portland, Lloyd and W. L. Foster of Seattle, and C. E. Foster of Portland. Mr. Farr is district trustee of the Portland Kiwanis.

RURAL CHURCH HAS BUILDING PROGRAM

Once again the Methodists of Pleasant Home find themselves in the midst of a building program. The vision which some have had of a new entrance and belfry is in the course of becoming an accomplished fact. Tuesday and Wednesday of this week Joe Caldo, Wm. Caldo and Oliver Gill with Alfred Sloop as assistant and director built the foundation forms and poured the concrete between showers. The building of the frame work will be the order of the day Saturday.

The Ladies Aid society met at the home of Mrs. Martin Lennartz Wednesday afternoon for work and the annual election of officers. Mrs. Lennartz was re-elected president. Mrs. Emil Bartsch was elected vice president and Mrs. Joe Caldo was re-elected secretary-treasurer. The newly organized work committee will consist of Mrs. W. E. Markell, chairman; Mrs. G. H. Blackburn, Mrs. Grant Sloop, Mrs. Alonzo Radford, and Mrs. Emil Bartsch. Mrs. John Ickler assisted by Mrs. Mary Miles will be in charge of the sick and relief work.

Rally Day will be observed at the Methodist church Sunday, October 7, at 11:15. This service is expected to be very interesting and helpful. It will supplant the church service for the day. The Sunday school will meet at the usual hour, 10 o'clock, and the Epworth League devotional service at 7:30. This will be conducted by Elma Cook. A hearty welcome will be given all who attend these services.

IMPROVEMENT CLUB TO MEET AT JACK & JILL'S

The Base Line Improvement club will hold its next regular meeting on Monday, October 8, at 8:30 p.m., at Jack & Jill's on the Base Line road near Barker road. The entertainment for the evening promises to be very unusual. The Hill Villa Hawaiian orchestra, radio artists, will play during the dinner hour. Also on the program is the display of bathing suits, sweaters and garments made at the Dehen Knitting Mills on the Base Line road. This display will be given on live models.

Dinner will be served, beginning at 6:30 and continuing throughout the evening, as the guests arrive.

Card of Thanks.

Outlook Free Electric Cooking School, 18-19-20, Grange Hall

The Gresham Outlook has made arrangements with the Portland Electric Power company to hold in Gresham a free cooking school. The dates chosen are Thursday, Friday and Saturday, October 18, 19 and 20, and the place is the grange hall on Powell street. The demonstrations will be made on an electric range of the most modern type by Miss Dorothy Hubbs, who is a graduate of the O. S. C. home

Berry Growers Report 50 per Cent. Increase

Summary of the tonnage of berries of different varieties handled this season by The Cooperative Berry Growers, together with some comments on the advantages of the development of the industry to the community and to business generally, is given under date of October 1, 1928, by Manager D. E. Towle.

Strawberries—Total, 775 tons. (1927 total, 640 tons). Paid for harvesting $30,000.
Red raspberries—Total, 1904 tons. (1927 total, 922 tons). Paid for harvesting, $95,200.
Loganberries—Total, 160 tons. (1927 total, 205 tons). Paid for harvesting, $4,800.
Blackcaps—Total, 13 1/2 tons. (1927 total, 8 tons). Paid for harvesting, $175.
Blackberries—Total, 17 1/2 tons. (1927 total, 144 tons). Paid for harvesting, $5,280.
Royal Anne Cherries—Total, 44 1/2 tons. (1927 total, 56 tons). Paid for harvesting, $1,760.
Total tonnage berries and cherries, 1928 ..... 3073 tons
Total tonnage, all fruit, 1927 ..... 2059 tons
Increased tonnage, 1928, 1014 tons or 50 per cent.

Total cash paid for harvesting ..... $137,515

This in itself was a nice sum of money to distribute to families at the close of the school term to the school children of the poorer class of people and was no doubt appreciated and the earning privilege would have been sorely missed by those who earned it if they had been denied the privilege.

This comes under the head of what is known as the creation of new wealth and any line of industry is considered basic that creates new wealth. The gross value of the berry crops this year to the growers of the association can be closely approximated now at slightly over $420,000. This compared with $244,467 paid to growers last year shows a gain of 58 per cent.

This is a very gratifying showing in the creation of new wealth compared with last year and is good as far as it goes and no doubt will be appreciated by all lines of industry that come directly in touch with berry growers' dollars as well as indirectly benefiting trade in the wider circles of commerce. To enumerate, a few of the industries benefited are labor employed at the cannery, lumber, sugar, tin cans, truck and rail transportation, also fuel, gas, coal, wood, and electric energy.

So it can be seen that the benefits of the creation of new wealth are far reaching and if the creation of new wealth shows a profit to the producer all is well but if not the picture does not present a rosy but a drab appearance to the producer of the commodity and I wish to again bring to the minds of all who are interested in the problem directly or indirectly the problem

What think you? Should we not have tried the law at least, or will it be better to face four or eight years more of injustice for the farmer? This stands out as the problem that is paramount to all others that confronts American progress and prosperity at the present time. Please give this matter serious consideration and unless you can figure it so as to prosper without agricultural prosperity please lend a hand.

Please take notice that this article is not of a partisan political nature and that all members and others who have drainage problems to solve should attend a meeting at the cannery office at 7 p. m. Monday, October 8, when S. B. Hall will be pleased to consider the drainage problem.

The grange hall is easily accessible, commodious and pleasant and should be filled each day. It is important that those interested plan to attend each day to secure the greatest benefit.

that confronts the American farmers of producing food stuffs for a market price that does not cover the cost of production and to ask you in all seriousness to consider this problem with a view to using your influence to the end that values may be equalized and that the farmer may receive a larger net value of the new wealth that he creates, it being currently quoted that the producers who represent two-thirds of those engaged in production receive only one-third of the consumer's dollar while the distributors representing only one-third of those engaged in distribution get 66 cents of the consumer's dollar, on an average, and this year in many food commodities the producer's share is much less than the 33 cents of the dollar that the consumer pays.

It was the writer's privilege on September 21 to listen to a masterful plea made at Spokane before a meeting of all allied interests of the Pacific Northwest advisory board by W. B. D. Dodson, manager of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, for the apple growers which I wish to sketch briefly to bring the agricultural problem to your attention.

The estimated tonnage of apples in the Pacific Northwest is thirty million boxes and current values are around $1 per box, (Incidentally, talking with a Spokane dealer he told me he was buying at 65 cents), but at the dollar Mr. Dodson submitted figures to show that after paying all expenses there was no margin left for the owner of the tree. He also showed the railroad interests that including transportation, the value of the apple crop would be raised in value to $49,000,000. Forty-nine million dollars of new wealth created but nothing for the man that planted the trees, and the key thought that Mr. Dodson wished to give his hearers was that if they wish to have the forty-nine million annually to benefit all lines of northwest trade they should see to it that the grower received enough to continue in the business, for in the event that he could not carry on and cultivate, prune and spray all other interest would suffer by his failure.

In the writer's opinion the apple growers' problem clearly illustrates the big problem that confronts agricultural production in all of the major lines and supports the theory of the need of national legislation that will set up a machine that can be used annually in case of full crops of any major farm product to take care of the surplus to prevent it reducing the value of the whole crop below the cost of production. Congress expressed this thought in the passing of the McNary-Haugen bill. Mr. McNary was quoted recently as saying that in his opinion that wheat would be 30 cents per bushel higher if his bill had not been vetoed.

NEW MACHINE GRADES SPUDS AT LESS COST

H. W. Strong, local farmer, claims to have discovered a way to save from 16 to 21 cents per sack in sorting and grading potatoes. Earlier in the season he was instructed by the county agent, S. B. Hall, where he could purchase a potato grader for about one-sixth the ordinary price.

Mr. Strong went to Vancouver and brought the grader home. He is now employing a crew of five men to run the grader, take away the filled sacks and do the entire necessary work in sorting and grading three classes of potatoes. With this crew he is turning out graded potatoes at the rate of about 38 sacks an hour, at the very reasonable cost of approximately 5 cents per sack.

The grader, according to Mr. Strong, is the most inexpensive and practical one the producer can use to prepare his potatoes for market, at sometimes a low rate of sale, and expect to clear anything for himself.

Mr. Strong, who has 65 acres in potatoes this year, states that he is receiving a very good yield, averaging about 200 sacks to the acre. He is marketing them for $1.25 per sack for the grade A potatoes.

With the seconds he is furnishing the Salvation Army, the Volunteers of America, the Gresham High school cafeteria and the White Shield home with their fall supply at no cost to them.

CRATER LAKE PARK HAS GREATER YEAR

Visitors at Crater Lake park in 1928 greatly exceeded any year in its history, according to R. W. Price, manager. The factors united to bring about this result, the wonderful highways leading to the park, the publicity given it by Oregon newspapers and the efforts of the Southern Pacific company in California and throughout the east. California has contributed over 50 per cent of the entire travel, said Price.

The Portland Dahlia Show. The finest and most representative exhibition of dahlias ever displayed in Portland will be on view at the coming annual dahlia show which will be staged in the Meier & Frank company auditorium next Wednesday and Thursday, October 10 and 11. ## Church Services

METHODISTS TO USE AUDITORIUM

The services at the Methodist church will be held in the main auditorium for the first time since the work of re-building began. There yet remains considerable work to be done in completing the room, and the new pews are not yet in place, but the work has reached the point where it seems possible to use the room for worship. The pastor is to preach on the word, "Thou." This service is at 11 and is preceded by the Sunday school, all departments of which will meet in the rooms occupied before the re-construction, with the exception of the beginners.

The evening services begin one half hour earlier, beginning Sunday. The Epworth League is at 6:30 and the preaching service at 7:30.

BAPTIST SERVICES FOR SUNDAY GIVEN

At the Bethel Baptist church Sunday Rev. Mrs. A. D. Huntley will take for her morning sermon "Memorials," and in the evening "Two Mission Fields." Bible school will meet at 9:45. The preaching services will be at 11 in the morning and 7:30 in the evening.

The ladies of the church and congregation will meet for an all-day session at the home of Mrs. C. W. Guile Tuesday, October 9. A pot-luck lunch will be served at noon.

Udenominational Temple.

The regular services will be held at the Udenominational temple next Sunday, beginning with Sunday school at 10 o'clock. At 2 o'clock the pastor, Rev. S. F. Pitts, will take for his subject "The Second Coming of Christ." He will preach again in the evening.

No Services Announced.

There will be no Bible school or other services at the Zion Evangelical church next Sunday, as the congregation will join the Mission festival in Sellwood at 10:30 in the morning.

POWELL VALLEY

The Ladies Aid of the Saron Lutheran church will meet Thursday afternoon, October 11, at the home of Mrs. P. A. Johnson, at 2 o'clock. Everyone is invited.

Services at the Saron Lutheran church will be in English next Sunday both morning and evening. Rev. Enoch Sandeen, the pastor, will preach at both services. The subject for the evening will be "Shadows." Bible school will convene at 9:45 and morning worship will be at 11.

At the Swedish Mission church next Sunday the services will begin with Sunday school at 9:50, which will be followed by children's service at 10:55. The morning service will begin at 11:10, when Rev. Don Shogren, the pastor, will take for his subject "Chastisement." In the evening at 7:30 the pastor will take for his subject "Just Outside the Door." All services will be in English.

PLEASANT VALLEY

Thelma and Roy Springer of Portland were calling on old friends and schoolmates here Sunday.

Mr. Walker and his sister, Miss Walker, and Mrs. Clemens, all of Portland, called on Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Kesterson, Sunday.

Miss Bertha Eavens of Portland, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Eavens, Sunday.

Kenneth Kesterson was a Portland visitor Sunday.

Mrs. Ambrose of Portland and Mrs. Smyth of Vernonia were in Pleasant Valley on business one day last week.

Mrs. H. D. Titzel is seriously ill at the home of a friend in Portland. Friends here hope for her speedy recovery.

Mrs. T. P. Campbell attended a birthday party in Portland for Mrs. P. Berke, who was a former resident of this valley last Wednesday.

Wall paper remnants, room lots, $1.50 to $2 with border. Todd, the Paint Man, Powell street, Gresham.—Adv.

City Caucus Tonight May Develop Contests

The city caucus for the nomination of the officers and councilmen for election on November 6, will be held tonight at the city hall. There will be not more than four candidates put in nomination for each of the offices of mayor, recorder, treasurer and three councilmen.

Chas. Cleveland, the present mayor, who has served two terms, will probably be entered again with possible opposition from Russell Akin, councilman, for the mayoralty. Although a few names have been suggested no definite light has centered on any certain one to be chosen to fill the three vacancies on the council caused by the expiration of the terms of Russell Akin, B. W. Thorne, and Dr. A. W. Botkin.

There is a movement on foot to revise and bring the present city charter up to date and it is thought that after the election, possibly at the next regular meeting of the council, on November 7, steps will be taken to act on this and other subjects needing attention.

Among the business affairs transacted by the city council at the meeting in the city hall Wednesday evening, was the appointing of C. E. Johnson to act as temporary treasurer during the illness of John H. Metzger. It was also voted to have two more street lights placed on Division street directly north of the fair grounds.

GRANADA THEATER WILL PRESENT RAMONA

A big event comes to pass at the Granada theater Sunday and Monday, October 7 and 8, when the record-breaking motion picture, "Ramona," comes to the screen. Taken from Helen Hunt Jackson's great American love classic, which is probably one of the most widely read books in the world and which is now in its 94th printing, "Ramona" as a picture fulfills every promise that has been made by press agents and critics throughout the United States. It is doubtful whether any other picture has received such unanimously favorable notices as this one.

But in speaking of "Ramona" as a picture, one must not overlook Dolores Del Rio who plays the title role. This is beyond all doubt her greatest screen triumph and she has thrown herself into her role until she is veritably Ramona. So true and realistic is her artistry, so deep and touching are her pathos and bathos that no one can witness her performance without living the story with her.

She is most ably supported by Warner Baxter as her Indian lover, Alessandro, and Roland Drew as her Spanish lover, Felipe. In commenting upon "Ramona" it seems sufficient to quote Stanley Orne, motion picture editor of the Oregonian, who reviewed the picture's down town showing in the following words: "Ramona as a picture is in every way equal to the story which inspired it and the story which it inspired!"

4-H BOYS AND GIRLS MAKE MANY ENTRIES

Encouraged by their successes at the county and state fairs, many boys and girls of the 4-H clubs in the county entering their stock or hand work in the Pacific International Livestock exposition, which will be held November 3 to 10 in Portland. The boys and girls have won many prizes at the International in other years and are confident of a good showing this year. The closing date for getting in the entry blanks is October 10.

PARENT-TEACHERS ENJOY AFTERNOON

The P.-T. A. held an interesting meeting Tuesday afternoon at the schoolhouse. On the program were talks by Mrs. Lauderbaugh and Mrs. Merrick of Portland, on the community chest; vocal solos by Miss Jeanette Miller, primary teacher; two dancing numbers by Little Jane Alexander, a pupil of Mrs. Eleanor Block of Portland, accompanied on the piano by Mr. Sanders, also of Portland.
