Cannon Nominated for Superintendent

Principal Roy E. Cannon of the Gresham Union high school was nominated Saturday night on the first ballot for the county school superintendency, at a meeting of the republican precinct committeemen for this county held in the auditorium of Lincoln high school, Portland.

There were eight candidates in the field. It was thought by some it would be a close race between at least two of the aspirants but it was soon evident that Mr. Cannon was in most favor with the committeemen. The votes lined up after his name totaled 128, while his nearest competitor got 45. There were 212 votes cast.

There was no material discrepancy in the voting on which to base the report which gained some currency that there was duplication in the voting.

Cannon Appointed to Fill Vacancy.

The county commissioners at their regular meeting on Monday appointed Mr. Cannon to fill the vacancy caused by the death of W. C. Alderson. He will file his bond today and enter upon his duties as county school superintendent at once. His resignation as principal of the high school will take effect at the same time.

A committee waited upon the county commissioners yesterday urging that in view of the reasonable certainty of Cannon's election and the need of filling the vacancy that Mr. Cannon be appointed to the county office at once.

Mr. Cannon will be missed from the high school with which he has been connected for the past eight years, but with his wide acquaintance and the opportunities of his new office it is believed he will still render great assistance to the school he is now leaving as well as all the rural and high schools of the county. It is acknowledged he is well qualified by training, experience and personality to fill creditably and efficiently the office of county school superintendent.

No action has been taken by the high school board as yet with reference to the principalship of the high school.

WOMAN CHARGED WITH SUPPLYING LIQUOR

Mrs. Alameda Benson, of the Mt. Hood Loop grocery, three miles east of Gresham, was charged with the sale and possession of liquor, on October 11 and 13, according to this morning's Oregonian. A charge was filed against Mrs. Benson by Charles W. Erskine, assistant United States district attorney. Mrs. Benson is said by the prohibition service to have been doing a thriving business in the sale of liquor to the workmen employed on the dam at the headquarters of the Bull Run water supply. She was released under $500 bail. W. K. Newell, deputy federal prohibition commissioner, announced Monday that a nuisance charge would be filed against Mrs. Benson later.

Charlotte Johnson and Jean Inglis of Gresham, who placed second in a canning demonstration contest at the state fair have been invited to put on their demonstration at the Meier & Frank auditorium next Saturday at 1:30, in company with the winning team at the fair in canning and all other teams of the state placing first.

Grange Home-Coming Brings Large Crowd

Gresham grange hall was crowded Saturday with present and former members and friends who gathered for the first "home-coming." There were visitors from near-by granges and altogether a happy company was seated at the long tables which filled the main hall for the sumptuous dinner which was provided by the grange. The program followed the dinner immediately and was eagerly listened to from beginning to end.

O. I. Neal, worthy master of the grange, opened the program with reference to the many old members and friends present and called on all to rise in loving remembrance of the departed. He then introduced H. E. Davis, who acted as toastmaster. Mayor Cleveland was first called upon. He spoke of the constructive work done by the grange and of the fact that its activities in this community extended over practically 50 years. The fact was brought out that the present grange is the second to be organized in this vicinity. The first met in the Good Templar's hall which was located not far from O. I. Neal's present home. The hall was moved to Gresham to an acre of land donated for the purpose by James Powell. The grange later discontinued and surrendered its charter.

The beginnings of the present grange, No. 270 Patrons of Husbandry, were related in a paper by Mrs. H. L. St. Clair. The original record book has been preserved and shows that the grange was organized on March 17, 1894, at a meeting in Shattuck's hall, with the aid of Deputy Master Jacob Johnson of Evening Star grange. The membership from the date of organization to December, 1901, included nearly 150 persons. The brief sketch of the activities of those years appears elsewhere in the Outlook.

In introducing J. J. Johnson, master of Evening Star grange, who was the principle speaker of the day, Mr. Davis told of the good work done by Johnson in assisting to organize the first county fair, which was participated in by the granges of the county. Ninety thousand feet of lumber was delivered on the ground near Gresham grange hall and grangers and others gathered and built the fair in a day.

HOME ECONOMIST EXPERT TO CONDUCT FREE CLASSES

Final preparations are being made for the opening of the Outlook free electric cooking school to be conducted Thursday, Friday and Saturday afternoons this week in the grange hall, Gresham, beginning at 2:30.

Miss Hubbs will be the instructor. She has a pleasing personality, is a graduate of the economic department of the Oregon Agricultural college, class of 1924, and has made herself outstanding in efficiency and helpfulness as a demonstrator of the latest and best methods in her chosen art.

To get the latest in cooking methods does not mean more expensive or extravagant methods, but the very opposite. While new methods are demonstrated, the ideas given will show how time and money can be saved, waste avoided, more appetizing and wholesome dishes prepared, and the housewife's work made more pleasant.

The cooking demonstrations held in Gresham have always been exceptionally well attended and it is hoped this one put on by the home economics department of the P. E. P. company will be a record breaker. The use of electricity in the home has become so common and important a factor that its use in cooking should be known by the housekeeper whether an electric range is possessed or not. It is valuable information even if a wood range is used.

The Outlook is glad to sponsor this school for the benefit it will be to the homes of this community and hopes for a large and enthusiastic attendance.

Women's "Y" Club Adopts New Plan

Dorothy Mae Hubbs.

A called meeting of the club will be held next Monday night at 7:30 at the library for the purpose of forming classes. Among the studies which the members wished to take up were gymnasium, applied art, swimming, stenography, French, cooking, literature, music, public speaking and dramatics. It is possible to have any of these courses if enough women can be secured to form a class.

While the club is formed originally for the young business and professional women of Gresham, anyone who is in sympathy with the purpose of the club is invited to join and take advantage of the privileges of the organization. Application for membership should be made to the membership committee.

Accidents Injure Some; One Killed

Galen Fancher, driving a Chevrolet sedan, and Ed Baumann, driving a Dodge touring, met in a head-on collision at the intersection of Kelly avenue and Powell street, about 8 o'clock Saturday evening. E. Brown, of Montavilla, who was riding in the Baumann car, received cuts about the face and head by the shattering of the windshield. The others were unhurt but the cars were badly damaged. The cars were not turned over but the frames, fenders and front wheels were badly smashed.

Another accident that proved rather serious to some Portland people Friday evening, was the one that occurred when a Dodge touring, driven by Raymond Koppert collided with a P. E. P. company freight train, on the Brunner crossing on the Section Line road. Two women and a man, all of Portland were with Mr. Koppert. The men received minor cuts and some bad bruises. One of the young ladies, was severely cut and received a possible fracture of the skull. Willard Gill, who approached the scene soon after the accident, took the injured people to their homes in Portland. The conductor of the P. E. P. car stated that he saw the approaching car and blew his whistle. He supposed that as the car was progressing at a slow rate of speed, the driver intended to stop before crossing. Mr. Koppert says that he did not see the freight train.

A very serious accident that occurred near Gresham, was the one that resulted in the death of Ernest Sandy, of Walla Walla, who was burned to death Saturday night when his truck caught fire, near the old clubhouse bridge on the Base Line road. Mr. Sandy, who was driving an Old Oregon Trail freight truck, had evidently fallen asleep and released control of his car. The truck ran across the bar pit and caught fire, damaging it beyond repair. Mr. Sandy was found immediately and taken to the St. Vincents hospital, but died soon afterwards. He leaves a wife in Walla Walla, and other relatives in eastern Oregon. The body was shipped to Ontario for interment.

Fine Trip Won by Sycamore Boy

Ralph H. McCullough, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. McCullough, who live near Sycamore station and who are well known in Gresham, was the winner of the grand prize in a contest sponsored by the Portland fire bureau in the interests of Fire Prevention week, observed extensively in Portland and throughout the country during the past week.

McCullough's address was chosen as the best of the nine delivered at the final contest held Friday evening at the public auditorium. Prior to Friday every high school in Portland had held a contest to determine the best orator of the school and McCullough, a fourth year student, was selected to represent Franklin high.

As a grand prize, McCullough was awarded a round trip to Philadelphia and other points, with expenses paid. He left Saturday morning for Philadelphia where he will be a guest at the international convention of fire chiefs. At the many cities he will visit en route he will be greeted by officials, entertained at dinners and given sight-seeing tours, and in a number of places will deliver his address on fire prevention. On the way to Philadelphia he will stop at Omaha, Chicago, Niagara Falls and Buffalo. On his return journey he will stop at New York, Washington, Atlanta, New Orleans, Houston, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Ralph McCullough was a proud youth Saturday morning when the firemen's band was on hand at the Union depot, to give him a rousing send off. Mayor Baker was there to pin a fireman's silver badge on Ralph's coat and commend him for the excellence of his oration delivered the night before. Fire Chief Lee Holden loaned his own gold badge which the boy is to wear as a means of identification wherever he goes on the trip.

This year Portland is the only city to stage such a contest and the results have been so favorable and so much interest has been aroused that it is expected that this sort of educational work will be taken up throughout the United States. Con-

TICKET COMPLETE FOR CITY ELECTION

Nearly all those nominated for city offices at the recent mass meeting have qualified and their names will appear on the ballot for election on November 6. One name has been added by petition and the candidate, C. J. Lundquist, who will oppose C. E. Johnson for the office of treasurer, has qualified. The ticket as it now stands is as follows:

Mayor, Russell K. Akin and Chas. Cleveland; treasurer, C. E. Johnson and C. J. Lundquist; councilmen, three to be elected, A. W. Botkin, Roy H. Gibbs, Frank Hamlin, C. E. Stockton, B. W. Thorne and W. J. Todd; recorder, C. G. Schneider.

It is possible that still others may enter the race, as petitions may be filed up to 10 days before the election.

A heavy vote is expected in the city election, coming as it does in connection with the general election. The registration in the county is 147,000, much heavier than it has ever been before, and it is certain that a large proportion of those registered will vote.
