Three weeks until election.

Generally the man who thinks that his wife doesn't understand him would be out of luck if she did.

Many are still claiming that Smith will be elected. Perhaps we shouldn't begrudge them three weeks more of hopefulness.

Will Rogers' suggestion for ending wars is not to permit any nation to have a new one until it has paid for the old one. Fine, but why confine it to wars?

He who sacrifices a loyal friend in order to injure a personal enemy is lacking in sportsmanship.—C. C. Chapman in the Oregon Voter. He might have added, in gentlemanly if not moral principle also.

The war department announces that there are not enough war trophies to go around. Here's a chance for some enterprising Yankee who is thinking of going in the manufacturing business.

Many deplore the agitation incident to a presidential campaign. We welcome it. It's a sign of youth and vigor. We're all American citizens but differ in our opinions. Honest and fair expression of them and the rule of the majority are basic in our republic.

There isn't much excitement over Gresham's city election, not enough to make it interesting. Partisanship doesn't play any material part and about the only consideration in the minds of the voters will be the securing of a governing body devoted to a safe and progressive administration.

A man may be honest and square, dependable and faithful, but lacking in temperamental qualifications for a certain position. He may be highly respected for his many qualities but have an unconscious habit of always rubbing the fur the wrong way. There is no doubt Rufus Holman could and doubtless would give Portland a better administration than George Baker has done. But George, with all his faults, has a way of gaining and holding popularity and will doubtless be re-elected mayor. But Holman is doing a good work for his city in showing Baker that a mayor should have something more than popularity. Being a good fellow is good but if coupled with straightforwardness the combination makes an effective team.

It was the privilege of this editor to place Roy Cannon in nomination for county superintendent at the meeting of county precinct committeemen last Saturday night. What he said may have helped a very little bit, but it was the loyal work of his many friends who spared no pains to make Cannon's qualifications known to those who had the deciding vote, and Cannon's own appealing qualities, which won for him the nomination on the first ballot with such a handsome plurality over all the seven other aspirants. Enthusiasm was strong for him. He was known and liked and recognized as the man for the important educational office. He is faithful and honest and a hard worker, and has administrative ability. He is the man for the job. His opinions will have weight and his inherent liking for school work and interest in boys and girls will have a helpful effect on the schools and scholars of the county.

Gives Sketch of Early Grange Days

(By Mrs. H. L. St. Clair)

Gresham Grange No. 270 Patrons of Husbandry has had a long and honorable history, reaching back for more than 34 years. On March 17, 1894, twenty-four citizens of Gresham and vicinity met in Shattuck's hall and with the help of Deputy Master Jacob Johnson of Evening Star Grange, who gave instructions and obligations in the four degrees, the organization was formed. Portland Ministers Oppose Gov. Smith

The members of the Portland Baptist Ministers' conference last week by unanimous vote registered opposition to the candidacy of Gov. Alfred Smith for president of the United States and pledged themselves to do their utmost in behalf of the candidacy of Herbert Hoover. The resolution stated that this action was taken not as republicans or democrats but as responsible Christian teachers and leaders and as free American citizens.

Opening Symphony Program Announced

The announcement that the opening Portland Symphony orchestra program, to be presented in the public auditorium Monday night, October 22, is to commence with Beethoven's fifth symphony, will interest everyone who has a liking for symphonic music. The Beethoven fifth, by all odds the most popular of the composer's larger works, has been aptly called the bed rock of symphonic music. Its themes and general outline are familiar to everyone possessing a smattering of music knowledge.

Need of Hall Felt

The history of the grange hall leads back to the early years of the organization. In the September meeting in 1896 the first mention is recorded of the need of a hall and there was some discussion as to building one. In October of that year a committee was appointed to investigate the matter. This committee was composed of O. I. Neal, D. W. Heron and Allan Shattuck. In November the following entry was made in the minutes: "Committee reported by reading the estimate of a carpenter which placed building complete except flue and paint, with 10 windows and three doors, 12-foot ceiling, ground measurements 24 x 40 feet, at $220."

Grange Backed Cheese Factory

The following history of the Gresham cheese factory was prepared by Mrs. Nellie Herron, secretary during 1899, which was ordered entered on the minutes of Gresham grange: "At the November meeting of the Gresham grange a committee composed of Brothers Ruegg, Peniston, Herron and J. Roberts was appointed to canvass the neighborhood and find out how many cows could be procured to furnish milk for a factory, and to call on Chas. Lewis of Fairview and get his terms for making cheese. At the December meeting the report was favorably acted upon and a meeting was appointed for the next week, at which time they formed a joint company with a capital stock of $1000, and prepared articles of incorporation under the state laws, and employed Chas. Lewis to make the cheese at 1 1/2 cents a pound. A building was procured and fitted up for the purpose and on March 20 the factory was duly started."

In the early meetings of 1899 Deputy A. F. Miller introduced the subject of grange life insurance and urged the members to take it. One of the first mentions of the state grange was in June, 1896, when Mrs. Clarke and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Shattuck reported on a meeting which they had recently attended. John Shram the secretary, inserted the following comment in his minutes: "It seemed that woman's suffrage and politics was about all there was at the state grange."

Subjects for Discussion Given.

Some of the subjects for general discussion in the meetings were "Should agriculture be taught in the schools and if so to what extent," "Does a liberal education benefit a farmer and aid him in making a success?" "Should farmers form a union for mutual protection?" Subjects of interest to both the brothers and sisters was this: "What is the best way and place to spend the summer vacation?" "How should Sunday be observed on the farm?"

Other subjects of special interest to the sisters were these: "What we know about chickens and what shall we do with the tramps?" "To what extent should the farmer's wife patronize the milliner and dressmaker?"

Comedy sometimes cropped out in the meetings as evidenced by the record in the minutes under date of October, 1899: "Brother Shaw presented the sisters with some candy and it disappeared from the overseer's desk very mysteriously so it was motioned that the overseer find the candy and pass it around. Motion carried. It was found and passed around and was very nice indeed."

Impressions of Travel.

When it comes to travel what one thinks marvelous may be insignificant to another, and vice versa.

In pre-prohibition days a farmer happened to be in a saloon and was describing to the others in the place the beauties of the Yosemite valley. Leaving his glass half drained, a stranger at the bar staggered over to where the farmer was sitting and said to the latter: "Mister, have you ever had delirium tremens?"

Elucidated.

"Henry, it says here that Mr. Jackson pelted the pill for three sacks. What does it mean?" "Good heavens, Mary, can't you understand plain English? It means that he slugged the spherule safe and landed on the third pillow."—Chicago Record-Herald.

There's a Difference.

Doc—"Do you sleep on the flat of your back?"

Patient—"No, the back of my flat."—California Pelican.

GRESHAM MEN MAKE TRIP TO CALIFORNIA

Theodore Brugger and his son Andrew, the latter employed as civil engineer in Portland for the Southern Pacific company, have returned from an automobile trip which took them the whole length of Oregon and California and gave them a wonderful variety of scenery and interesting places. They went by way of the Redwood highway and returned by the Pacific highway, making almost 4000 miles in two weeks. They went into Mexico, and on their return visited the Yosemite valley, which Mr. Brugger described as wonderful, but they were disappointed in not finding water running over the "falls."

While away the Bruggers visited Rev. H. R. Gebhardt and family in Los Angeles, whom they found well. Mr. and Mrs. Gebhardt sent greetings through them to the many friends in Gresham and vicinity. A visit was also made on Mr. Brugger's niece Miss Elise Brugger of Columbus, Neb., a teacher in Mills college in Oakland.

Mr. Brugger is promising himself to repeat the trip when his wife can accompany him and when he can take more time for it.
