The total vote in the 1924 presidential election was 29,911,417. Starting from that as a standard, says Mark Sullivan, the safest possible bet about the November election would be that the total vote will be greater. A reasonable bet at fair odds would be that the total vote will reach 35,000,000. It might readily reach 40,000,000 or even 45,000,000. (The total possible vote—the number of persons estimated to be qualified to vote—is roughly about 56,000,000.)

It is now found possible to make a non-asphyxiating, harmless gas for household purposes. One of the by-products will be solid carbon dioxide, or dry ice. Hence it may come about that the gas company of the future will not only furnish the source of heat for our homes but also the ice for refrigeration. But think of a non-poisonous gas in the home! What will the world-be suicides do if this new development is brought about?

It may not be generally known that two-thirds of the fuel supply of the great dirigible Graf Zeppelin which recently visited this country was in the form of gas and counted zero as to weight. The other third was benzene of which 14 tons were carried. This lightening of fuel weight made possible a greater load of passengers and supplies.

GREATER ONENESS SEEN.

It has been remarked that with the advent of the radio sectional divisions are beginning to disappear, colloquialisms are merging into a common language and the country-wide presentation of ideas and ideals is destroying sectional prejudices and producing a oneness of thought and purpose throughout the nation.

The wide circulation of newspapers and magazines of recent years has had a tendency in this same direction, but now through the radio—the greater news disseminator—the people hear first hand, in the appealing voice of the speaker, the thoughts, ideals, purposes and plans of the leaders. All are hearing the same things at the same time. The reaction is immediate and more general and certain. The newspaper, the magazine, and public discussion are indispensable to a republican form of government and the radio will undoubtedly give greater unity to the thought of the nation.

MUSIC INSTRUCTIONS TO BE BROADCASTED

A unique plan in broadcasting, comprising the first great constructive use of the radio for educational purposes, has been adopted by the Standard Oil Company of California. Beginning October 18, the Standard Oil company will broadcast over the Pacific Coast Network of the National Broadcasting company every Thursday morning a musical lecture, intended primarily for the schools of the Pacific coast. Each Thursday evening the Standard Symphony orchestra will play for an hour. Hitherto the orchestra has played on Sunday evenings.

A course of 36 lectures has been developed by Arthur S. Garbett of the National Broadcasting company, a noted musical expert. The course is divided into six main sections—American music; Austro-German classics; Russian, Scandinavian and Polish; French and Italian; operatic influences, and Romantic 19th century musical developments. Six lectures will be devoted to each of these major topics. Thus there will be a lecture on one of the main topics every six weeks.

This new plan, which is unique in its conception, aims to further a knowledge and appreciation of the best in music among the school children and general public on the Pacific coast. By these lectures a type of instruction in music of the highest value, and which in many cases is unobtainable, is placed before the schools.

The weekly lectures started Thursday morning, October 18, and will be broadcast over radio stations associated with KFI, Los Angeles; KPO, San Francisco; KGO, Oakland; KGW, Portland; KOMO, Seattle; and KHQ, Spokane. For schools which are not equipped with receiving sets the company will issue the lectures in printed form, to be used by music teachers in instruction.

LAUREL ACRES

Alexander Thompson has recently been at his home for a few days, resting between trips as a shoe salesman. Mrs. Thompson is in southern states campaigning for Hoover and Curtis. She had been "commandeered" by the Kentucky campaign director for the remainder of the campaign. Kentucky is Mrs. Thompson's native state.

Miss Joyce Gilbert entertained several of her friends with a Halloween party at her home Tuesday night last. Several of the girls remained through the night. Her guests were Gresham high school pupils.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert entertained the friends of their son Richard Wednesday evening, the event taking the form of a Halloween masquerade party. Richard and his friends attend the Lynch school.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac McMahan returned last week from an extended visit to Mr. McMahan's old home and relatives at Elmer, Mo., and nearby points. While the trip and visit were pleasant Mr. and Mrs. McMahan were glad to return to their Oregon home and its prosperity.

The Lynch Parent-Teachers association held its monthly meeting Friday night, the program being put on largely by the primary and fifth and sixth grade pupils. The topic was on the line of Oregon history.

The Camp Hill club will meet Thursday instead of Wednesday as is usual. The ladies will meet with Mrs. R. H. Confrey on Laurel avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Lawrence and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. MacKenzie, all of Portland, visited Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Gilbert Friday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence are beginning a trip to Bend in the interests of Mr. Lawrence's business in connection with the Aetna Life Insurance company, and do not expect to return to Portland until near the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. J. B. Wolfe attended the meeting of the Gresham W. C. T. U. Thursday, which met with Mrs. W. C. Spence at Troutdale. The meeting was largely devoted to matters pertaining to the presidential campaign.

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA ANNOUNCES PROGRAMS

The next concert on the Portland Symphony orchestra's 1928-29 calendar will be the first of the series of seven matinee concerts, and will be presented in the public auditorium Monday afternoon, November 12. Since this will be a legal holiday, Armistice day falling on Sunday this year, symphony patrons who have been compelled, in the past, to attend only the evening programs, will find this a convenient time to acquaint themselves with the matinee programs.

The coming concert will feature a program abundantly varied and consisting mostly of numbers with which symphony patrons have become endeared in the past. Two of the excerpts from Berlioz' "Damnation of Faust," which were presented at the opening concert of the season Monday night, will be repeated on this program. These excerpts are "Dance of the Sylphs" and the "Rakoczy March." At this concert the orchestra will give its first performance of the entire Mendelssohn "Midsummer Night's Dream" suite. The nocturne, scherzo and wedding march from the suite have been presented on earlier programs, but the overture is now to be given its first hearing at these concerts. The beautiful Mozart four-parts serenade, "Eine kleine Nachtmusik" will receive its first repetition in two years at this time.

Mr. van Hoogstraten will give short preliminary talks before each concert. This concert is primarily designed to meet with the favor of musically inclined young people, though adult patrons will find much in the programs to interest them.

One of the most unusual concerts ever presented in Portland will be given on the evening of Nov. 19. This event is to feature the first appearance here as orchestra soloists of Guy Maier and Lee Pattison, the phenomenal two-piano team. These renowned artists appeared in joint recital two seasons ago, and their concert was remembered as an exhibition of flawless pianism. What will give this concert the distinct flavor of the unusual is the announcement that Messrs. Maier and Pattison are to perform the now-famous "Ballade" for two pianos and orchestra, by Leo Sowerby, which was given its premiere in Chicago last season. In fact, almost this entire program is to be made up of novelties, and that in spite of the fact that the composers represented are Schubert, Sowerby, Mozart, Wagner and Gluck.

The inclusion of the overture to Schubert's "Rosamunde" on this program is especially fitting, as November 19 is the 100th anniversary of Schubert's death—a centenary which is being observed the world over. This opus is the only work on the program not repeated from earlier Portland Symphony orchestra concerts. The other numbers are a Mozart Concerto for two pianos and orchestra (with Messrs. Maier and Pattison), the Sowerby ballade; "Siegfried's Rhine Journey" and "Siegfried's Death and Funeral March" from "The Twilight of the Gods" (Wagner); and the overture to "Russian and Ludmila" (Gluck).

Both concerts will be directed by Willem van Hoogstraten, who will return to Portland next week after serving for a brief season as guest conductor of the Detroit Symphony orchestra.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY TO BE GIVEN NOV. 27, 28

The senior class of Gresham Union high school has chosen "Wait, Incorporated" for their class play. The cast is now working on the play under the direction of Charles Saverude, a member of the faculty, and it is planned to stage the three-act comedy on the evenings of November 27 and 28.

"Wait, Incorporated" is a farce in which a group of capitalists seek to exploit the money-making ability of Wait Woodward. The situation is humorous, and the lines are humorous too. Practically the same cast that gave "The House of a Thousand Thrills" last spring is trying to make "Wait" as funny as the thousand thrills were full of excitement.

WOMEN DISCUSS POLITICAL ISSUES

An interesting meeting was held Thursday of the Gresham W. C. T. U. at the home of Mrs. W. C. Spence at Troutdale. Rev. Mrs. A. D. Huntley had charge of the devotions. Mrs. Mabel Clow outlined the beginnings of the temperance movement among women, the agitation and organization which have been necessary. She believes that such activities are still necessary for the development of women and the protection of homes.

The playlet, "Kate's Pointers on Politics," presented by Mrs. W. J. Cooper, Mrs. Wm. Thom and Mrs. Mabel Clow, gave much information as to the correct expression of opinion at the polls, and was well received by the company.

Mrs. W. F. Honey presented arguments to prove that prohibition does prohibit, not to the point of perfection, she said, that the lawless elements of pre-prohibition days should quietly subside when law is involved against them. Disregard for law is no new condition, she said, as to bootlegging and moonshining, these operations are old as time. Uncle Sam has done much, but so long as he is influenced by the same element as of old, so long will law be disregarded.

Select Within Your Means

Again and again we urge that the bereaved family select within their means. We suggest that judgment as well as sentiment should direct choice. We want to do things right and we see no reason why folks should choose a funeral out of keeping with their finances.

We offer Complete Funeral Service for as low as $75. We say "Complete" because everything essential to reverent, impressive care is included. We have more elaborate funerals as well. The family decides which funeral is wanted and we, in turn, supply everything needed.
