LESSONS OF THE ELECTION.

One of the great lessons of the election is that the American people want a constructive, business administration of the government for the next four years. Hoover inspired confidence in his ability and purposes. As the Oregonian says editorially, "Unparalleled confidence in the character, ideals and political principles of Herbert Hoover has been expressed by the people of the United States in a manner beyond dispute."

Another lesson is that the majority of the people believe in the ability of the republican administration to continue the policies of economy and sound prosperity which have marked the past administration. Their vote is a vote of approval and of confidence in the man and the party.

Another lesson is that the people want the prohibition "noble experiment" continued, corrected of abuses and laxness and made really effective in state and nation.

There is no evidence that Smith was defeated because he was a Catholic. There may have been a shift of votes on this account but, if so, there was probably about an equal shift on both sides which would not affect the results.

It is a gratifying result that the election of Hoover was so overwhelming that none can question that it represents the sentiment of the vast majority. "The Columbia basin project will be put through at the next session of congress," predicts Mark Woodruff, formerly of Portland, but now of Spokane. "President-elect Hoover is for the project and has so stated and his indorsement of the undertaking has been used in the literature of the basin. Once the project is completed, it will be one of the greatest of its kind in the world."—Morning Oregonian.

The recall of Judge Richard Deich of the court of domestic relations carried in the county by a substantial majority. Aside from the merits of the case, which we did not think justified the recall, we were opposed to it especially on the ground that it is an extreme measure and its use to be discouraged. The redeeming feature in this case is that it may be a warning to others who become unreasonably arbitrary in the administration of public office.

MRS. FANNY COTTON DIES IN PORTLAND

Mrs. Fanny C. Cotton, widow of W. W. Cotton, for years a prominent attorney of Portland, died Tuesday at Alexandra Court in Portland, after an illness of about a year. She is survived by a niece, Mrs. Thornton W. Morrow of Portland, and several brothers and sister in the east. Funeral service will be held Monday forenoon at 11 o'clock at the chapel of Holman-Lutz, Third and Salmon streets, Portland. Dr. Harold Leonard Bowman, pastor of First Presbyterian church, of which Mrs. Cotton was a member, will officiate.

Mrs. Cotton was the owner of the berry ranch which was under lease to H. W. Strong for the past ten years, and for a number of years before Mr. Cotton's death the two made this their summer home. It is interesting to note that this berry ranch was a part of pioneer farms. Eighty-six acres was bought in 1875 by John H. Metzger from J. P. O. Lowndale for $900. Metzger in turn sold the 86 acres to W. W. Cotton in 1898 at $135 an acre. The balance of the berry farm, about 95 acres, was bought by Mr. Cotton from Henry Shattuck.

MONEY TO LOAN. On good real estate security. See Ross Brown, Gresham, phone 2501.
