QUEER THINGS IN KOREA

STREET SCENE IN SEOUL

TO THE natives of Korea, the world is populous with active and malevolent beings who are ready at any moment to fall upon them in wrath, according to a statement made by Dr. I. M. Casanovic, assistant curator of old world archeology of the United States National museum, concerning the parphenalia of a Korean sorceress now deposited in the museum collections.

Doctor Casanovic says the Koreans believe that these beings or spirits haunt every tree, mountain and watercourse; are on every roof, fireplace and beam, and infest every their chimneys, living rooms and kitchens; that they beset them at home and waylay them when abroad. To their influence the Koreans attribute every ill, all bad luck, official malevolence, loss of power or position, and especially sickness; demons, consisting of self-existent malicious spirits and spirits of departed impoverished persons who died in distress, and spirits whose natures are partly kindly, which include the ghosts of prosperous and good people, but even the latter appear to be easily offended and extraordinarily vindictive.

Two Classes of Sorcerers. To cope with these two forms of spirits and be assured of a little peace and quiet, the Koreans have two classes of sorcerers, or, as they call them, "shamans"; the Pansu and the Mutang. Both classes are mediators between the people and the spirits, but they bear little relation to each other. The former are "fortune-tellers," and the latter, the "deceiving crowd," or "bad lot." In this connection, Doctor Casanovic said:

"The office of the Pansu is restricted to blind men, perhaps owing to the common belief among primitive peoples that those who have been deprived of physical sight have been given an inner spiritual vision. The Mutang is always a woman, generally from the lower classes and of bad repute, and her calling is considered the very lowest in the social scale. While the Pansu is, as it were, born or made by dint of his loss of eyesight, the Mutang enters upon her office in consequence of a 'supernatural call,' consisting in the assurance of demoniacal possession, the demon being supposed to have become her double and to have superimposed his personality upon hers. The 'possession' is often accompanied by hysteria and pathological symptoms. The spirit may seize any woman, maid or wife, rich or poor, plebeian or patrician, and compel her to serve him, and on receiving the 'call of the spirit' a woman will break every tie of custom and relationship, leave home and family to become henceforth a social outcast, so that she is not even allowed to live within the city walls. But notwithstanding her low social status, her services are in constant demand.

In traveling through the country, the Mutang or sorceress is constantly to be seen going through the various musical and dancing performances in the midst of a crowd in front of a house where there is sickness. And at the close of the nineteenth century the fees annually paid in Korea to the sorcerers were estimated at $750,000.

Pansu is Master of Spirits. "The Pansu acts as master of the spirits, having gained by his potent formula and ritual an ascendancy over them. By his spells he can direct them. The Mutang is supposed to be able to influence them with her friendship with them. She has to pray to them and coax them to go. By her performances she puts herself in rapport with the spirits and is able to ascertain their will and to name the ransom for which they will release the victim who is under torment. "More varied than the functions of the Pansu are the pacifications and propitiations, called kauts or kuts, performed by the Mutang. The kaut may be carried out either at the house of the patient or at the home of the Mutang, or at some shrine or temple, called tang, dedicated to some spirits, which are seen on the hillsides in Korea. If, as is occasionally the case, the Mutang belongs to a noble family, she is allowed by her family to ply her trade only in her own house. Those who require her services send the required fee and necessary offerings, and the ceremony is performed by the Mutang in her own house or at the tang.

Her equipment consists of a number of dresses, some of them very costly; a drum shaped like an hourglass, about four feet high; copper cymbals; a copper gong; a copper rod with small bells or tinklers suspended from it by copper chains; a pair of telescoping baskets; strips of silk and paper banners which float around her as she dances; fans, umbrellas; wands and images of men and animals.

The paraphernalia of the sorceress or exorcist was acquired for the United States National museum through the agency of the late W. W. Rockhill, formerly envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to China, and is now exhibited in the section of historic religions in the older building of the museum.

Healing the Sick.

"The service of the Mutang most in demand is the healing of the sick," continued Doctor Casanovic. "If a sick man believes that his distemper has been caused by a spirit, he sends to the Mutang to describe the symptoms and learn what spirit is doing mischief. The Mutang may declare the name of the spirit without going to the patient's house, or may say that she must see the patient first. On retaining her fee she names a 'fortunate' day for the ceremony, which will be performed either at her house or shrine or at the patient's house, according to the seriousness of the ailment and the fee he can pay.

"The performance of a certain sorceress reported took place before the open door of the sick man's house, in an inclosed space within which were tables laden with food and delicacies. Three old women accompanied the Mutang, two of them beating large hour-glass-shaped drums, while the third clashed symbols. The sorceress faced them, dressed in rose-pink silk and a gauze robe of buff, its sleeves trailing on the ground. Her hair was decorated with strips of white paper and a curious cap of buff gauze with red patches. Over her left shoulder she carried a brightly painted stick supporting a gong upon which she beat with another stick, executing at the same time a slow, rhythmic movement accompanied by a chant. Every now and then one of the ancient drummers gathered pieces of food and, scattering them to the four winds for the spirits to eat, invoked them by saying: 'Do not trouble this house any more, and we will again appease you by offerings.' The exorcism lasted from two in the afternoon until four the next morning, when after fourteen hours of treatment the patient began to recover. It is believed by another writer, however, that all the gestures and whirling, and the noise of the drums and cymbals, must in some cases actually 'kill' instead of 'cure.'"

TAKE OUT GREASE SPOTS

Blemishes That So Greatly Annoy the Housekeeper May Be Effectively Dealt With.

Grease spots may be removed by the application of carbon tetrachloride, according to H. F. Zoller, assistant in chemistry in the Kansas State Agricultural college.

"Removing grease spots with gasoline or benzine is both dangerous and wasteful," said Mr. Zoller. "Chloroform is effective, but is dangerous. Carbon tetrachloride is used by cleaners because of its safety, cleaning power and the absence of a disagreeable odor. The disadvantage is its expense.

"Ink is difficult to remove if it has been in the garment for some time. Iron inks may be removed by oxalic, acetic, citric, or dilute hydrochloric acids. In case of the coal-tar inks, the spot must be bleached.

"Iron rust can be removed by fairly strong oxalic acid solution, if allowed to stand on the goods for a short time, and often when it is exposed to the sunlight the action is a little quicker. The excess of oxalic acid must be washed out, and the goods washed with a good soap, in order to neutralize the acid. Hydrochloric acid is the best remover of iron rust, if handled by an experienced person.

"An excellent formula for the removal of fountain-pen ink, especially iron ink and iron rust, is the aceto-oxalic acid formula. It is made by saturating a 10 per cent acetic acid solution with oxalic acid, and mixing one part of the product with four parts of alcohol."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

To induce a canary to take a bath sprinkle a few seeds upon the water. This added attraction will make the bath become a habit with the little fellow.

To keep flowers fresh, place a pinch of bicarbonate of soda in the water before putting them into a vase. To make glassware clear and sparkling, add a little washing blue to the soapuds when washing.

If ink is spilled on the carpet or table cover, cover it immediately with salt as it absorbs the ink. Powdered alum added to ordinary stove blacking adds to its brilliancy. Oxalic acid and javelle water are excellent for removing ink stains.

New tinware will never rust if greased with a little fresh lard and baked in the oven before it is used.

Corn Chowder.

One can corn, four cupfuls potatoes cut in one-quarter-inch slices, one and one-half-inch cube fat salt pork, one sliced onion, four cupfuls scalded milk, eight common crackers. Cut pork in small pieces and fry out. Add onion and cook five minutes, stirring often that onion may not burn. Strain fat into a stewpan. Parboil potatoes five minutes in boiling water to cover, drain and add potatoes to fat; then add two cupfuls boiling water; cook until potatoes are soft, add corn and milk, then heat to boiling point. Season with salt and pepper and butter and crackers, split and soaked in enough cold milk to moisten. Remove crackers, turn chowder into a tureen and put crackers on top.

Colonial Cake.

One-half cupful butter, one and a quarter cupfuls granulated sugar, three eggs, half cupful thin cream or rich milk, half even teaspoonful soda, one even teaspoonful cream tartar, two cupfuls of pastry flour, half cupful seeded raisins. Add whites of eggs last and bake in tube pan. When cold frost with a heavy white icing that will contrast prettily with the yellow of the cake. Citron sliced in thin strips may be used instead of raisins, or in combination with them.

Chocolate Pie.

Four tablespoonfuls cocoa, one pint of water, yolks of two eggs, two tablespoonfuls cornstarch, six tablespoonfuls sugar. Boil until thick, add one tablespoonful vanilla. Bake the crust, pour in the chocolate. Beat the whites of the eggs with one cupful of sugar, spread over top and brown. One teaspoonful of baking powder in one-half cupful granulated sugar added to the white of one egg stiffly beaten makes a fluffy meringue.

Cornmeal Muffins.

Sift together one cupful cornmeal, one cupful bread flour, one teaspoonful soda (level) in one cupful sour milk, and add it to the sifted ingredients. Then add one-quarter cupful molasses, then two eggs, two tablespoonfuls melted drippings. Beat well and bake in well-greased muffin pans about one-half hour in moderately hot oven. Makes 12.

Graham Drop Biscuits.

One pint graham flour, one-half cupful white flour, one level teaspoonful soda, one-half teaspoonful salt, one tablespoonful sugar, one egg, one tablespoonful thick cream and enough sour milk or buttermilk to make a stiff batter. Have gem pans hot and well greased. These are fine.

Baked Salmon Wiggle.

One can of salmon, one-half can of peas, butter size of egg, salt and pepper, milk sauce. Bake about one-half hour.

White Sauce.

One pint milk, small piece butter, salt, thicken with heaping teaspoonful flour.

Rice Soup.

Add a cupful of boiled rice to one quart of heated soup stock. Stir until it comes to a boil, season with pepper, salt and parsley or anything you like.

Most Eminent Medical Authorities Endorse It.

Dr. Eberle and Dr. Braithwaite as well as Dr. Simon—all distinguished authors—agree that whatever may be the disease, the urine seldom fails in furnishing us with a clue to the principles upon which it is to be treated, and accurate knowledge concerning the nature of disease can thus be obtained.

If backache, scalding urine or frequent urination bother or distress you, or if uric acid in the blood has caused rheumatism, gout or sciatica or you suspect kidney or bladder trouble just write Dr. Pierce at the Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N.Y.; send a sample of urine and describe symptoms. You will receive free medical advice after Dr. Pierce's chemist has examined the urine—this will be carefully done without charge, and you will be under no obligation. Dr. Pierce during many years of experimentation has discovered a new remedy which he finds is thirty-seven times more powerful than lithia in removing uric acid from the system. If you are suffering from backache or the pains of rheumatism, go to your best druggist and ask for a 50-cent box of "Anuric" put up by Dr. Pierce. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak women and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the blood have been favorably known for the past forty years and more. They are standard remedies to-day—as well as Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets for the liver and bowels. You can get a sample of any one of these remedies by writing Dr. Pierce.

Doctor Pierce's Pellets are unequalled as a Liver Pill. One tiny, Sugar-coated Pellet a Dose. Cure Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Dizziness, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the Liver, Stomach and Bowels.
