Miss Margaret N. White, daughter of Mrs. A. White of this city, is here and will spend the summer with her mother. Miss White is a teacher and this week is taking the Oregon examinations. For the past few years she made her home at San Diego.

Word has been received by friends here of the death at Minneapolis of Dr. D. W. Horning Wednesday of last week, June 20. While Dr. Horning is known to but a few, Mrs. Horning has many friends here. She has an orchard tract just outside the city on the west and spends her summers on it. As soon as she heard of the doctor's illness she hurried home and was with him several days before he died.

COOKING IN A HOLE.

A Forest Ranger's Method of Preparing Baked Chicken.

One summer day, while laboriously picking a sage hen, a friendly forest ranger approached, smiling, and offered to show me an easier way.

He lifted a bird as yet untouched by my hands and deftly cleaned but did not pick it. Then he sifted some dirt from the ground into a big mixing pan half filled with water. With these ingredients he mixed a paste of soft mud. Now he cut a slab of bacon, which he placed inside the hen, with a good sprinkling of pepper and salt, at last stuffing feathers into the opening to keep the meat clean. This done, he covered the chicken with the mud paste.

Now he dug a hole deep enough to put the bird in. In the hole he built a fire and waited until there was a thick coating of coals on the sides and bottom. Next he carefully placed the mud coated chicken on top. All this he covered with shovels of dirt until the hole was airtight. Now he turned to me and said, "It will be cooked in one hour from now."

With that he went his way. At the end of the hour he came again and, throwing back the soil, drew forth the chicken, quickly skinned it and laid before us a delicately browned chicken with a wholesome odor about it.—Outing.

A Delayed Execution.

An eighteenth century execution on Kennington common was stopped for a time owing to a strange cause. On Aug. 19, 1763, two days before the date of the execution, a heavy fog came over London, accompanied by thunder and lightning and torrents of rain. These conditions lasted for nearly forty-eight hours, and many people believed that the last day had arrived. When the time fixed for the execution arrived the assembled crowd cried shame on the sheriff for hanging a man when the world was coming to an end. As he persisted in his preparations, they burst through the barriers and stopped the proceedings, shouting that the culprit might as well wait a few minutes, when the grand summons would come to all. The sheriff had to obtain the assistance of a force of soldiers before the execution could be carried out.

Tomb of Noah.

The tomb of Noah is supposed to lie in the small town of Nakhichevan, on the plain of Ararat. The burial place is at the side of the broken walls of an abandoned fortress in the midst of a vast plain which is literally covered with the remains of bygone glories.

Their Relation.

A Pat of Butter

One pat or serving of butter is a little thing—there are about 64 of them in a pound.

In many households the butter left on the plates probably would equal one pat, or one fourth of an ounce, daily—scraped off into the garbage pail or wshed off in the dish pan.

But if every one of our 20,000,000 households should waste one fourth of an ounce of butter daily, on the average, it would mean 313,500 pounds a day—114,062,500 pounds a year.

To make this butter would take 265,261,560 gallons of milk—or the product of over half a million cows.

But butter isn't eaten or wasted in every home, some one objects. Very well. Say only 1 in 100 homes wastes even a pat of butter a day—over one million pounds wasted. Still intolerable when butters so valuable a food and every bit of butter left on a plate is so useful in cookery.

The United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., or the Oregon Agricultural college will tell you how to use every bit of buttery in cookery.
