A Straight Tip on the Fuel and Lumber Situation

We are in the grip of the worst car shortage the world has ever known—and getting worse.

Ninety per cent of all fuel shipments will be made during the three summer months.

Next to fuel, shipments of silo and granary material will have precedence over all others—as this tends to increase the country's food suupply.

May we suggest that you anticipate your wants and order your supplies at once.

We will be pleased to talk these matters over with you in person,

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Burris, of The Dalles, came up Monday. Mr. Burris has a tract of land on the project he is improving and spends Monday to Thursday of each week here. They have taken the Waterman ranch house and Mrs. Burris will remain all summer.

In order to take care of the baled hay business for 1917, the Oregon Hardware & Implement Co. has this week received a full carload of baling wire. In addition considerable has already been received in small lots. Wire is hard to get and the price is advancing rapidly.

F. F. Sharrard, employe of the reclamation service at Irrigon, met with an accident last Saturday in which two ribs were fractured. While working on a fresno he was struck in the side by the Johnson bar. He came to Hermiston for treatment and to remain until again able to work. Mr. Sharrard is a brother of Maurice Sharrard, former Hermiston resident.

Of the six boys leaving Hermiston last week to join the navy four were accepted and are now in active service. Robert West passed as a second fireman and Walter Beasley as third fireman and they are now on board a training ship. Clarence Carson and Harry Todd went in as seamen. Equipment for this branch is short and the boys were allowed to come home on furlough with pay until called, which will be soon. Ross Shaw and George Caldwell failed on the physical examination.

W. B. Knox is one of the recent settlers here, having purchased the Kellogg ranch early in the spring. Mr. Knox moved here about the middle of April and at once started in spring work. Getting a later start than most of the farmers he had no idea of making a record for early farm produce, yet the family has been using string beans for a week and the first lot to dispose of were brought in today. Mr. Knox planted a bush bean and the plants are now loaded from beans large enough to use down to the bloom. He is very well satisfied with having made the change and located in the Hermiston country.
