Who says we can't raise wheat in this district? Show us the man who would dare make such a statement and we will refer him to J. K. Shotwell, who began Tuesday last harvesting his crop of this cereal on his place in the eastern suburbs of Hermiston. Mr. Shotwell will be glad to demonstrate to any skeptic that his wheat crop is no mythical proposition, and that irrigated lands hereabouts can be made to produce this product if need be in large quantities. The gentleman has not decided as yet what disposition he will make of the grain after it is threshed—but he will either sell it for No. 1 hard or dispose of it locally for chicken feed.

Through a typographical error in The Herald last week the son born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ralph on the Fourth of July is now three years old. Evidently he is too old for his age, so we take this means of making the correction for fear he may have to enlist before his time if the war continues for any great length. The proud parents have had the child christened Francis, and to be exact he is now two years, eleven months and eighteen days less than three years of age, having been born on the fourth day of July, 1917.
