HERMISTON LOCALS

Mrs. Jack Kennedy and child left for Tacoma last week to join her husband, who has permanently located there.

Mrs. J. A. Robb returned to Spokane Saturday after a short visit here with friends and looking after property interests owned by herself and husband in this city.

C. E. Sawin, whose ranch adjoins that of Jesse Prindle's west of town, departed the first of the week for a month's visit to the old home in Evansville, Wis.

Frank R. Knox, who moved here from Sherman county a short time ago, was recalled to Moro Tuesday by the draft board there to take physical examination.

Oliver Hart left Tuesday for Stites, Idaho, to settle up business matters connected with the recent trade of properties between his father, H. T. Hart, and John Rice.

H. E. Bettinger, who with Henry Notz is busily engaged in constructing an enormous sheep shed in the upper Butter Creek district, was here on a visit to his family over Sunday.

Judge Burke, formerly collector of customs at Portland, visited here a couple of days last week with his old friend J. W. Messner, president of the Western Land & Irrigation Co.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Anderson arrived Tuesday from Ellensburg, Wash., on a visit to their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Knox, ranchers on the Kellogg place north of town, which they recently purchased.

Mrs. C. J. Roberts of Westland entertained the teachers and pupils of District No. 8 by being hostess to them at the matinee at The Movie Wednesday afternoon, the trip being made by auto.

Dr. Kern, president of the Inland Empire Lumber Co., who is devoting his time these days to improving his big ranch near Irrigon, was visiting in this city a couple of days the first of the week.

La grippe took such a firm hold on J. A. Reeves, rural route carrier, Tuesday that he was unable to make his usual trip, so his reliable substitute, J. T. Embry, is carrying the mail during his illness.

Harold K. Dean, assistant on the experimental farm, is away on a several weeks trip to Washington, D. C., to make annual report to the government of work accomplished by Superintendent Allen and himself the past year.

R. C. Challis arrived home Tuesday from a business trip to Walla Walla. Returning by way of Pendleton, he was compelled to remain there a day and night to take treatment for an attack of appendicitis, an ailment that has troubled him off and on for the past two years.

H. C. Parrett, owner of about 400 acres of land adjacent to the town of Boardman, was in Hermiston from Los Angeles this week negotiating with the government for the conveyance of water to the land so that the work of improvement that he has decided on could be carried out this spring.

H. D. Newell, project manager, and C. H. Young, chief clerk in the local reclamation offices, are away to Denver, Colo., this week, having been called there to attend conferences of project managers and chief clerks from all government projects, who have assembled in convention in that city.

Col. H. G. Newport arrived home from Portland the middle of the week after having been in the Rose city since Monday on business connected with the compilation of figures to be used in bidding on the state highway contract for the building of the trunk line road through the western part of Umatilla county that is to be let shortly.

Will the groundhog see his shadow today.

Do not forget the union meeting at the Methodist church Sunday evening.

Mrs. James Ware of Butter Creek, was operated on at Pendleton Thursday by Dr. Gale.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. West received a postcard from their son Robert the first of the week informing them of his safe arrival in Boston from a hazardous ocean trip, the details of which will appear in a letter from him next week.

Cost Just as Much

I have two pieces of land left and they cost just as much as they did a week ago. They are the best tracts of land on the whole project.

THE "OPEN DOOR."

What is Meant by the Term in International Politics.

The "open door" is in international politics the principle of equal treatment in trade with oriental countries for all trading nations as opposed to the policy of effective monopoly in favor of any one nation.

The phrase came into popular use toward the end of the nineteenth century, when various European nations were trying to establish "spheres of influence" in China.

The United States was opposed to the granting to any nation of exclusive trading privileges in these "spheres of influence," and in 1899 John Hay, secretary of state, addressed a circular note to the interested powers, asking them to pledge themselves not to interfere with any treaty port or with any vested interest within their respective spheres of influence, to engage that discriminating customs and port duties should not be levied in such spheres and that within any nation's sphere of influence no higher railroad charges should be imposed upon subjects of other nations than upon subjects of the nations having such spheres.

The pledges asked were given in their entirety by France, Germany, Great Britain, Italy and Japan. Russia reserved the right to levy discriminatory duties.—New York Times.
