"Use Cars for Business"

"A census of passenger cars taken in Livingston county, Ill., among owners of two makes of machines, one selling from $650 to $850, and the other selling at $1,650, revealed that the vehicles were largely used for business purposes.

"Of 88 farm owners, 63, or 73 per cent, bought their cars as necessary farm equipment; 21, or 25 per cent, bought them for business and pleasure, while only two said they bought them primarily for pleasure. Asked what percentage of the use of their cars was for business, 22 said 95 per cent; 20, 90 per cent; and 10, 70 per cent. The average of all replies was 82 per cent. The average distance the 88 farmers drove their cars was 2,934 miles a year. Average value of the farms in Livingston county is more than $30,000. Results of the investigation may be considered typical of the way farmers throughout the country use their cars.
