IRRIGON NEWS ITEMS

Fred Cronk and family of Hoquiam, Wash., have been visiting with Mrs. Cronk's sister, Mrs. W. A. Walpole. While here Mr. Cronk was looking after his property interests also.

Mr. Powell and his son Charles are visiting at their former home, Kendrick, Idaho, this week. Mr. Powell will return to Irrigon in a short time and his son will probably enter some branch of the war department and do his bit towards eradicating the "Hun."

At the annual school meeting Monday George Rand was elected to the three year director term, succeeding J. S. Dawson, and M. E. Wadsworth was elected clerk to succeed himself. It was a most successful meeting, entirely without eventualities, and all were well pleased with the result.

Farmers are now getting ready for the second harvest of hay and the crop promises to be a good one—much better than the first cutting.

Now that the eclipse is out of the way and the school election is over, and other exciting events on the shelf, it seems as though some one ought to start at least a Fourth of July celebration. Perhaps, however, it would be better to confine our energies to buying thrift stamps and working for the Red Cross.

The Red Cross society now occupies the building owned by W. M. Castle and are very enthusiastic in their work. A couple of large boxes of material to work with came in by freight Wednesday and all the ladies of Irrigon are expected to get real busy with it.

Frances Walpole now has well towards a hundred young turkeys and is beginning to figure future prospects in pounds per bird and price per pound, and so is the dealer that furnishes the feed for the young birds.

FOOD ADMINISTRATION FACTS

One ounce less of meat each day for everyone means a saving of 4,400,000 meat animals a year. Save your ounce. The sacrifice is small, but the result for your country is large.

1,185,000 tons of sugar will be saved the first year if each of us uses one ounce less each day. This will keep sugar plentiful and cheap.

The Allies are all in the same boat, a long way from shore and on limited rations—and Uncle Sam is running the relief ship. It's up to us to save the cargo.

Reduction, Production—the 1918 watchwords.

Food will win the war. Save it. Produce it.

If you run your household on three pounds of sugar a month per person, when fall comes the grocer won't have to hang up the sign "No Sugar."

The second helping is getting to be bad form.

There's lots of money to go round, but bacon, beef and wheat can't make the circuit. Save your share.

Waste and want are twin sisters and neither beautiful.

Potatoes for Patriotism.

By eating potatoes instead of wheat the people of the United States can help win the war. We have not enough wheat for the Allies and ourselves. We have an abundance of potatoes. Wheat flour is a concentrated food and therefore good for shipping; potatoes are bulky and are consequently not suited for limited shipping space, nor are the Allies so short of potatoes as of wheat. Next to cereals, potatoes have been in this country the mainstay of starchy food, which supplies energy.

The more potatoes we eat, the less wheat we need. A medium-sized potato, weighing about 3½ ounces, supplies about as much starch as two small slices of wheat bread one-half inch thick. In other respects also, the potato measures up well with wheat bread and even has the advantage over it in supplying certain salts which the body needs to counteract the acidity resulting from the use of such foods as cereals, meat and eggs. By exercising her ingenuity the housewife can prepare potatoes in many different attractive ways, thus increasing their proportion in the family diet and conserving wheat and other staples needed for shipment abroad. An important use of potatoes, also, is in the mixing of breads, in which mashed potatoes up to fully ten per cent may be used without detracting from its appearance or taste; in fact, many persons hold that potatoes properly mixed in bread, improves both appearance and flavor.
