Compared with the Railroads

The estimated possible annual passenger mile service of motor cars is about 60,000,000,000 as compared with 35,000,000,000 passenger miles attributed to our railroads. These multipliers of energy are traveling 40,000,000 miles a day, the equivalent of 1600 times around the world. Many a nation has been conquered, not for lack of bravery or men, but for lack of transportation. We are farther from our bases of supply than any warring nation.

This nation must devote every ounce of energy to produce more food, more munitions, but with the enormous increase must come more transportation; more done in less time. We cannot go back to the days of the army mule and pack saddle, the prairie schooner and the "One hoss shay." Speed, speed and more speed is the cry. And America answers with her 5,000,000 automobiles—the greatest transportation tool, the greatest aid to personal efficiency in the world.

Have you an Auto? If not see us now. It will save you more than it costs if you use it right.
