BUTTER CREEK ITEMS

Well, we had a little rain this week, which cleared the atmosphere and helped the roads considerable.

Did you know the baler on the Fowler place really turned a bale of hay a minute on one occasion. Mr. Kuntz promised a cigar treat, and a bigger one next time they do it.

Mrs. E. H. Gardiner and babies spent a week with her mother, Mrs. R. C. Canfield, on the Hermiston project.

Birthdays seemed quite popular on the Creek this week, Miss Verna Riel, Miss May Newyman and Mr. Edwin Canfield all having been born on the same date—August 17. Miss Newyman and some friends surprised Mr. Canfield with a party Friday night, and Miss Riel had a nice birth affair on the 17th, there being seven Butter Creek girls at the party.

Do you know the new "school marm's?" Better get acquainted with them. Their names are Miss Jennie Hegman and Miss Marie Humfeldt.

Pete Wait was telling the other day of having taken three loads of honey to the wheat, fields and has a lot more to extract. He sold for 20 and 22 cents per pound.

Word has been received that Mrs. A. I. Basey, who is in Portland doctoring for heart trouble had taken a bad turn, but a later message to her husband said she was slightly better.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Kurtz and Miss Newman of Tillamook are at present with Pete Sheridan till they decide to stay and locate here.

Mrs. Frank Fowler reports she has over 200 quarts of fruit put up. We would like to ask her where she got it, as fruit seems real scarce.

THE EMERGENCY SHELF.

Simple Remedies That Should Be at Hand in Every Home.

Gasoline is a good disinfectant for the treatment of wounds in emergency cases. It is especially good if the wound is lacerated or if the skin was dirty when the wound was made. After washing the wound with gasoline paint with a tincture of iodine, using a small wad of absorbent cotton for the iodine "paint brush."

Every family should have a supply of emergency remedies at hand, and a physician suggests this list for the home medicine shelf:

Two ounce bottle of aromatic spirits of ammonia, a good stimulant in case of fainting—use as an inhalation or put one-half teaspoonful in one-quarter glass of water and give internally; eight ounces of gasoline, use freely to cleanse wounds; two ounces of tincture of iodine to paint wounds and kill germs; one yard sterile gauze; one yard zinc oxide adhesive plaster, two inches wide; one yard zinc oxide adhesive plaster, one inch wide; one-fourth pound sterile absorbent cotton; one-half dozen gauze bandages, assorted sizes; eight ounce bottle saturated boric acid solution to use as an antiseptic wet dressing for wounds and as an eye wash; eight ounce bottle peroxide of hydrogen, good for slight cuts and abrasions, but not to be relied on for serious wounds; one hot water bag; one fountain syringe; one ice bag.—Kansas City Star.

TO PREVENT ILLNESS.

That is One of the Objects of Compulsory Health Insurance.

Compulsory health insurance is now being talked of as another step in community welfare, the course being especially recommended in welfare work among wage earners.

Investigation has shown that a large proportion of sickness is preventable, but most persons, small wage earners or not, are likely to neglect their ailments until prevention is no longer possible and serious illness must be treated. Even then the doctor's services are avoided as much as possible because of the cost, and the victim of disease goes back to his work before he is fit.

Under the compulsory insurance system it is the idea that every worker shall be visited at stated intervals by a physician whether he is ill or not; the slightest illness brings a call from the doctor, whose business is to keep him well if possible. In many cases he will succeed, with the result of a great saving of time and wages to the worker.

The total of such savings in the industrial centers will run into the millions and will proportionately lessen the demands on charitable funds.—Indianapolis Star.

The Wild Pigeon Mystery.

That the wild pigeon, once so common in the United States, has become extinct is one of the strangest mysteries in American natural history. It is a puzzle which has baffled scientists and which probably never will be solved. Half a century ago wild pigeons were abundant in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and all the states of the middle west. In their migrations they traveled in flocks numbering tens of thousands, and it sometimes took a single flock the better part of an hour to pass a given point. Vast numbers of the pigeons were killed every year by gunners, but many investigators hold that the complete disappearance of the species must have been due in part at least to other causes. No other bird was ever so numerous in this country as the pigeon.

Grayfish as a Food.

It used to be called the dogfish and was looked upon as a worthless nuisance. Now, through the efforts of Uncle Sam's bureau of fisheries, it is called the grayfish and is in great demand as a valuable food product. The grayfish contains a little less protein and a little more fat than the salmon, but in digestibility, richness and wholesomeness it equals, if it does not excel, many of our popular fish foods. One interesting result of the analysis thus far made by the government is that the grayfish is entirely free from uric acid, which is not true of meats, poultry or other fishes.
