HEADED FOR BERLIN.

"The colored men of the district have shown a fine spirit," said Commissioner Brownlow, at the Washington. "Nearly all have gone to camp with enthusiasm and rare good humor. Some weeks ago I was at Union station dispatching a bunch of colored men. They were having a jolly time, most of them poking their heads out of the windows to wave good-bye to the boys on the platform. A 'red cap' at the depot recognized a friend who had his head out of the window. The station man rushed up to the draftee and saluted him.

"Where you gwine, Sam?" he said, "to Camp Meade?"
"No, I ain't gwine to Camp Meade," came the reply. "Ise gwine to Berlin. I ain't bothered 'bout dem way stations."—Washington Post.

Why, the Very Ideal
Algernon—Percy Stiffenhawty is undoubtedly the rudest person I evah saw.
Montmorency—What has the uncouth fellow done now?
Algy—Why, the unrefined thing said he hoped that white spots would appear on my fingernails.

SO SHOCKING.

Katherine—My cousin was killed by lightning.
Kidder—Indeed! Trolley car or electric chair?

Imperfection.
"Twas ever Nature's wise intent,
With good to mingle bad;
So she neglected to invent,
Somehow, a boneless shad."

Talent Discovered.
"You say you can get from your house to the station in ten minutes."
"Yes," replied Mr. Crosslots. "Want to buy?"
"No, I want to enter you in a sprinting contest I'm getting up for the county fair."

Hard Lines.
Bertha—What did father say when you asked him if you could marry me?
Percy—He didn't really refuse, but he made a very severe condition.
Bertha—What was it?
Percy—He said he'd see me hanged first.—Tit-Bits.

Superior Facilities.
"Why do you recommend Doctor Pilers so highly? Is he so much better than any other physician here?"
"I don't know about that, but he carries the choicest line of magazines in his reception room of any doctor in town."

Brown's Predicament.
"Honk! Honk!"
"Is that your auto outside?"
"No, that's Brown. He swallowed some gasoline by mistake for medicine and now instead of coughing he honks."

A Friendly Dig.
"I trimmed this hat myself."
"Yes?"
"Now, don't say it looks like it."
"I won't, my dear. If there's anything I pride myself on it's tact."

UP TO HUBBY.

Mr. Nokoyne—We must economize.
Mrs. Nokoyne—Very well. You stop smoking. I'll cut your hair and make all your neckties.

Well, Hardly Ever.
The farmer dialect we see
In print is mostly bosh.
A cultivated man he be,
He never says, "F'gosh!"

Suspicious.
Bess—Is he all right?
June—He uses wretchedly good grammar for a college man. I don't believe he is right.

Very Old.
"I suppose that violin was made by Stradivarius."
"Yes, the label says so. Stradivarius of Bridgeport, Conn."

Card of Thanks
To all kind friends who assisted during the fatal illness of our son and brother, Henry Scott, we desire to express our most sincere gratitude, and especially to Mr. and Mrs. Casserly.
Mr. J. M. Scott and family.

BOARDMAN NEWS

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE
Preliminary steps are being taken leading to the formation of the proposed West Extension Irrigation District. Petitions are now being circulated through this part of the project. It is said that petitions for the near by John Day District will be started in a week or two.

Dr. Strickland of Oregon City wishes to buy two good farms in this district for his two sons.

Mr. Dunan of Willow Creek, who cleared over fourteen hundred dollars on his bees last year, wishes to purchase some land here and intends to start bee farming in this district. Archie Cummings of Portland hopes to be able to buy land in Boardman.

Jack Gibbons, who was hurt at Messner a few weeks ago, is in a very dangerous condition. He will have to have his arm cut off at the shoulder, and also the bones in his leg broken over again, as they were set crooked. Mrs. Gibbons has hurried to Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mefford went to Condon on a business trip last week.

Chas Atterbury's horse fell on his foot and he will be laid up for awhile.

E. Barnes has contracted to bail Col. E. Callahan's hay.

Alex Wilson was in town last week and says his baby is well again. Adolph Skoubo and Frank Otto have received honorable discharges from Camp Lewis and arrived home last week. Both, while willing to fight for "Old Glory" are glad to be on their homesteads once more.

Mrs. Johnson entertained the Ladies Club on Thursday, Jan. 30. Most all the members were there and several visitors also. Everyone spent a very pleasant afternoon. The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Grace Edmonds' home.
