ANNOUNCEMENT

We desire to announce that we have added to our garage force Mr. James Brown who carries very high recommendations from the Lozier Motor Car Company, the Wells Fargo Express Company and the United States government, he having passed a very exacting government examination as magneto expert and who has had charge of a crew of automobile mechanics with the government army service since November, 1917. Government advices state that Mr. Brown (though a regular man in the service) was paid civilian wages of $6.00 per day and government expenses extra, as an expert in automobile mechanics during his period with the government.

With the addition of this valuable and expensive man, we trust the automobile owners of Hermiston will appreciate the service we will be able to give them, as this garage is permanently located here, pays taxes and helps the general upkeep of the community, and is not of the here-today-there-tomorrow type service station that furnishes no free air, free battery service and other accommodations that a permanent institution does.

Mr. Brown arrived Tuesday of this week and will be pleased to show his ability to those desiring his services.

Chas. E. Opel is going to quit city life for the more exhilarating pastime of ranching. He will resign his position as assistant cashier in the local bank the middle of the month, and it is understood he will be succeeded by a man from Montana.

Adolf Skoubo was here the first of the week after having received his honorable discharge from Camp Lewis, where he had been since being drafted four and a half months ago. At the conclusion of a short visit here he went to Boardman to take up his ranch work where he left off before entering the service.

SPRAY

Now is the time to prepare for Spraying your Orchard with Lime Sulphur

We have the genuine Lime Sulphur in the dry form which should be used for the dormant spray. The dry Lime Sulphur is exactly the same as the Liquid Lime Sulphur spray only in a dry form, which makes it much more easy and cleaner to handle and so long as it is kept in a dry place it will not deteriorate in killing value. Dry Lime Sulphur can be mixed with either with warm or cold water and after being so mixed can be used in any way in which you have been accustomed to use the liquid, and if used according to directions may be mixed with Arsenate of Lead for summer spraying.

Our dry Lime Sulphur had to pass the requirements of the U. S. patent office before it could be offered for sale as a dry Lime Sulphur. Substitutes for dry Lime Sulphur do not contain lime but are mixed with salt and are not sold as dry Lime Sulphur, have not the same killing qualities and cannot be used as our dry lime sulphur.

We also have the dry Arsenate of Lead and Black Leaf.
