ANOTHER THOROUGHbred HOG FOR THE PROJECT

One day last week there arrived in Hermiston direct from a famous herd in Nebraska a splendid type of the large size Duroc-Jersey hog. This time it is Clinton P. Adams who is the lucky man. Mammoth Sensation, sire of the sow that Mr. Adams has just received, is the largest hog of any breed at his age in the world. At the age of sixteen months he weighed 825 pounds. The new sow is no runt, as she weighed 400 pounds at eleven months. Her breeding, Sensation and Critic, crossed with the Orion hog family, will surely give the state of Oregon some prize winners.

Mr. Adams has recently purchased land on the project, and is now improving 60 acres one and a half miles east of town.

Bound Over

Willie Willkie, a crippled wanderer, was bound over yesterday to the grand jury in Justice Dodd's court, the charge that brought about his arrest the night before by Chief of Police Crandall having been assault with intent to kill. In an altercation he struck a Mr. Troutman with a butcher knife, cutting quite a gash in his forehead. Deputy Sheriff Joe Blakely, who happened to be here on business, took the prisoner back with him.

LESSON NO. 1.

Johnston Alfalfa Mowers

Johnston Mowers were being made and sold as early as 1871, but the output was small and the distribution confined to a small territory. Now they are being sold in nearly every country on the globe.

Back in those early days your father may have had a Johnston machine, but the company for about 50 years has continually been improving these machines, showing as great improvements likely as your own way of farming is over that practiced by your father.

The Johnston Mowers are particularly adapted to conditions as they exist on the Pacific Coast. Each one is built of the best materials, by skilled workmen, and will do your work to your entire satisfaction.

LESSON NO. 2 NEXT WEEK.

We carry a complete stock of JOHNSTON and McCORMICK MOWER parts on hand at all times.
