Must Keep Step

There are different ways of spending the taxpayers money and using the state credit. Measures which add to the wealth of a state and increase its agricultural and industrial resources, by increasing its population and assessed valuation, are good business propositions.

Among the meritorious measures before the people June 3, are two which are of great interest to the whole state. They would increase the wealth of the state by millions of dollars and add no new burdens to the taxpayers. The state guarantee of interest on irrigation and drainage district bonds would be repaid by automobile license receipts, already provided for.

Just because the proposed Roosevelt Highway happens to be along the shore of the Pacific ocean from Washington to California is no reason that the inland counties should fight it. Oregon is merely one link in the chain of coast states, California and Washington propose to have a coast highway to open up and allow development of the millions of acres of unused land in their coast country. Oregon must keep step with the procession if it is to gain its share of business which will come this way in the next ten years.

A Business Proposition

Among the measures to be submitted to the voters at election June 3 is one of particular merit from the standpoint of agricultural and industrial development.

From any angle it can be considered the measure to permit the state to pay irrigation and drainage district bond interest for the first five years after such a project is started, by issuing state bonds, said bond money with interest to the state to be repaid by such districts, six months after maturity of such district bonds, seems a safe and sane proposition. It seems doubly safe when it is provided that no such drainage or irrigation district can be started without the approval of a state board comprised of the State Engineer, the Attorney General and the State Superintendent of Banks, who respectively pass on the feasibility of the drainage or irrigation system, the legality of the contracts, etc., and the holding of the bonds by the state as security for these farmer organizations.

The plan is a businesslike way of using the credit of the state for developing what is now waste land so that it can be used by settlers and at the same time requiring these settlers who have the benefits of this improvement of their land, to pay for it. The first five years on any farm is the hard time and when a man needs help. By that time something is coming in.

Settlement of these lands will mean $50,000,000 of outside capital spent in construction work in the next ten years and add a hundred million to assessed valuation of the state.

Inasmuch as it is a development proposition for the whole state, the expense of which is borne by the beneficiary and not the taxpayer, it would seem that undivided support should be given the measure at this time when we are exerting every effort for increased production and industrial development.
