Old Doc Trudgeon

Once in a blue moon there appears some writer in whom are combined the ability to tell real stories, the quaint humor of the small town and the philosophy of the man who actually knows folks.

The COUNTRY GENTLEMAN

has discovered such a one in Tom P. Morgan, and his stories, appearing every now and then in the pages of the great national farm weekly, are such a feature as I'd like everybody hereabouts to enjoy with me.

In the first issue you will receive if you subscribe today is the story of Old Doc Trudgeon, a brave old cavalry surgeon who at eighty-nine is as great a war hero as any of the boys. To come later are the stories of The Ghost of Lester Dart, The Autobiography of a Hill Billy, Coonrod's Buddy, The Feudists, The Pop Corn Man, and many others—you'll love them all.

I want you to know Tom Morgan's stories; they're full of fun, full of kindly philosophy. They take only one page in any issue—one page of humor in the midst of fifty or more pages devoted to the serious business of growing crops and live-stock to feed the world. You owe yourself that much fun, don't you? Then send me your name and dollar and read Old Doc Trudgeon next week.

LOCAL BRIEFS

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Morfitt will depart for Baker, Ore., Sunday morning, where they expect to locate.

If you don't think we are going to lose the present manager of the telephone office, just notice the big "sparkler" on the lady's left hand.

Robert Hobbs, formerly of this city and just recently returned from overseas after serving in the army for two years, is in Hermiston visiting relatives and friends.

Mrs. J. H. Young and daughters went to Pendleton Friday because of the sickness of Miss Selby Johnson, a sister of Mrs. Young. They will be away about two weeks.

Another to enter the hay buying field are the Hunt brothers. These young men have purchased an $0 ton baling outfit and are now prepared to take baling jobs. In addition, they are buying baled and loose hay for R. F. Kirkpatrick of Pendleton who represents the Globe Milling Co.

Monday evening Mrs. Briggs entertained about fifty guests at the Four Sisters ranch, the Briggs country home. The occasion was in honor of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Reeves, former residents of Hermiston. Also included in the invitation list were a number of the younger set honoring Carroll Reeves, who came up from Portland Monday morning for a few days with former friends and school mates.

NOTICE

All members of Vinyard Lodge No. 296 I. O. O. F. should make an effort to be present at regular meeting Monday Evening July 14 Installation of officers and Eats Lodge meets every Monday here after.
