

WE ARE BUILDING OUR BUSINESS ON SERVICE

We ask You Frankly for Your Business

"Service" here means more than merely wait upon our customers promptly and courteously. It means that we have staked our reputation on a business that is being built upon service. Service is the foundation of this business. It is the reason back of our steady growth. It is the basis on which all future relations with the public is placed. It is the most vital factor in the conduct of this business.

Our service means more still. It means that in addition to courteous and prompt attention, that the builder can depend unconditionally upon the quality of any article bought from us, and upon any service rendered. He can depend upon getting what he wants—a part of the service includes Blue Printed Plans, Photos and hundreds of different designs of various kinds of buildings, Homes, Barns, Silos, Grain Bins, Elevators, Garages, Hog and Poultry Houses and other buildings that are free to customers. Upon the basis of SERVICE, we ask you frankly for your business.

A Lie Nailed

At the recent Commercial Club luncheon it was stated that the impression had been given, ignorantly or maliciously by some one, that the Butter Creek road from the Sheridan bridge is to be changed through Hinkle station in an easterly direction toward Hermiston. This was vigorously denied by the road committee of the Club, which stated that no changes whatever are to be made of this part of the Butter Creek road, except to improve the road and grade leading from the Umatilla river along the present route.

Farmers Sow Weeds

Seeds of wild mustard, corn cockle, Canadian thistle and dodder are some of the weeds that Oregon farmers sometime unintentionally sow along with their farm crops. More than one-sixth of all samples tested by the federal and O. A. C. testing laboratories at Corvallis contained some of these weed seeds. Some of this seed was also low in germination quality. Farmers of Oregon who want to improve their crops may get their seed tested by sending a sample to the laboratory.

Bought More Land

Leslie W. Adams, bee man, alfalfa rancher and all round good fellow, is certainly pinning his faith to this project since his return from Idaho early in the spring. This is shown by his recent purchase from J. H. Strohm of a 46 acre ranch in the Fourth Unit.

The tract has 18 acres in alfalfa, and adjoins 80 acres of land already owned by Mr. Adams. It is the intention of the gentleman to develop still further both tracts, so as to bring them in time up to their full producing capacity.

Will Show at Lewiston

C. C. Mason returned from his visit to the state fair at Salem Monday, bringing with him a bunch of prize winning ribbons. He states that himself and Mr. Adams will take the hogs that won these ribbons to the Northwest Livestock Show at Lewiston, Idaho, Nov. 9th to 14th.

Tell Fortunes With Bones.

In the Transvaal the belief in Kaffir doctors and their wizardry has not died out. Nearly every old Kaffir has always with him a bag of bones—knuckles and joints of animals. With these he pretends to be able to foretell the future. He throws the "bones," as they are called, and then reads out the omens. Should a white man wish to confer with the oracle, he must throw the bones himself. Many white men firmly believe in the ability of the Kaffir doctor to cure them from sundry ills, and in Rhodesia there have been many cases where the Kaffir doctors have saved whites from the ravages of the terrible fevers that rage there, in addition to coping successfully with toothache and other ills.

Here's a Mix-Up.

A resident of this city, a Toronto paper reports, appealed to the morality department of the local police to release him from having to live with his wife because of domestic unpleasantness. He told the police the following remarkable story: He married his present wife's daughter several years ago. While he was living with his first wife his own father married his wife's mother, making her his mother-in-law and stepmother. His father died, leaving his wife in the old country. The son brought her to Toronto and married her. They were not living together any length of time before both of them quarreled and could not get along.

Very Broken.

Athlete—"Did I—break it, doctor?"
Doctor—"I will be plain, sir. The arm is broken, the collarbone crushed, the skull is fractured—"
Athlete—"No, no, no! The—did I—break the—"
Doctor—"What, sir?"
Athlete—"The record!"
