ROCK ISLAND PLOWS

These plows are made of soft center steel, permitting the outer surface to be highly tempered without sacrificing strength. The center layer is very soft and ductile, making a combination steel that is adapted for the hardest kind of work. The shin of the moldboard always receives the most wear, and for this reason Rock Island soft center steel plows have a reinforcing patch at this point. The real appreciation of these features is best realized after giving a Rock Island plow a few years of use.

HARDWARE IMPLEMENTS

Officials of the Grants Pass Irrigation district have filed with the state engineer resolutions outlining a plan of reclamation, request for certification of approximately $400,000 in bonds voted for development work, and application for state payment of interest on these bonds. This district comprises about 8000 acres and is located in Josephine county.
Hop buyers in the Salem district have made several contracts recently whereby they agree to take the growers' product for a term of three years at a stipulated price of 35 cents a pound. As a result of these contracts and the optimistic feeling over the future prospects of the hop industry in Marion county the acreage will be materially increased this season.
It is estimated there will be approximately $883,460.22 of state money available for the construction of market roads in the various counties of Oregon during the year 1920, according to a report prepared by members of the state highway commission. To obtain this money for road construction it will first be necessary for the several counties to match the state appropriation.
