TOLD BY THE THUMBS

If you curl your little finger, you are blueblooded.

The spendthrift may be told by the thumb turned back.

Interlock your fingers with another and you will quarrel.

A weak character is indicated by a small, narrow thumb.

Coarse, heavy, wide thumbs belong to crude, ignorant folk.

The second division of the thumb reveals your power of determination.

Thumbs that curve downward are those of the shrewd and the miserly.

One who hides his thumbs in the palm of his hand is not to be trusted.

Some one is jealous of you when the skin tears at the roots of your finger nails.

The length of the upper joint of your thumb determines the strength of your will power.

Wide-awake minds are indicated by the middle finger being very much longer than the palm of the hand.

If you can make the tips of the first and fourth finger meet over the back of your hand you can attain anything your heart desires.

To find out if you are going to be the ruler of your house clasp your hands together, interlace the fingers. If the right thumb comes on top you will rule. If the left you will be ruled.

If the end of the little finger reached higher than the last joint of the ring finger he or she shall rule the house. If one's little finger is below the third joint on the ring finger you will wed twice.

There is a belief that the first finger should never be used to rub ointment on with because the power of cure has been deprived of it since Judas Iscariot betrayed our Lord by pointing him out to the Jews.

FARM JOURNAL SAYS

Furrow long—furlong.

Spending a day with a friend suits some better than spending a dollar.

A man needs all his religion when he undertakes to teach a calf to drink from a bucket.

A lawyer should never despise a horse. Both get their living by drawing a conveyance.

Behind a horse you see a lot of a little country. In an automobile you see a little of a lot of country.

Don't stint yourself in order to save up money for your relatives to quarrel over after you are gone.

A fog can be blown away by a breath of wind, and a misunderstanding by a word of explanation.

Better do the butchering after the children have gone to school. Bloodshed is heart rending to a sensitive child.

No man on earth is so happy as the man who loves his work and goes home at night with a contented heart because of a good day's work well done.

Putting off the thing that needs doing right now means putting on a bigger load for another day. Come on; let's go right down to the barn and clean up the big floor now!

YOU MAY HAVE NOTICED

Life doesn't ask much from a man for all it gives to him.

Ever notice what a superior air a man assumes when he is arguing with his wife?

The reason some people don't succeed is because they're perfectly satisfied if they finish somewhere in the second division.

It takes all sorts of people to make a world, including those who can make themselves look happy while riding in the bathtub attachment to a motorcycle.

ITEMS WITH A POINT

Tyranny begins when a small boy is made to eat the fat as well as the lean.

Why not add to the gaiety of nations by again introducing pants-lettes?

Boys would like to go to school if the schools knew how to make the boys like to.

A man having brains and eccentricities will be remembered mostly for his eccentricities.

When a person who knows all about books and doesn't want any suggestions, goes into a book store it doesn't take long to find it out.
