DON'T STOP

"Keeping everlastingly at it brings success" they say.

Let's don't stop. Let's keep everlastingly at it. We are making a wonderful start for the new year and have accomplished a great deal. Keep on going in high, before the year is over, we may have accomplished more than we ever dreamed of.

Great things have happened to us all ready this year, greater things can happen if we try to help them to happen. It's up to us.

One thing we can do is to make clear-up day a great success. That will be accomplishing a great deal.

The Umatilla project is in better condition than any other part of the state because we have the natural advantages for one thing. For another reason, our people have not been extravagant, they have not bought expensive cars, or other luxuries that they could not afford, they have kept within their means, and now when the times are tight, and money is scarce, they have enough to get by until conditions become normal.

So let's don't stop keeping on. We have everything in our favor and let's make use of everything.

JUST A LITTLE SERMON

Here is a true story of every day life that contains a sermon for every adult person in this town.

Two families lived side by side. One was childless. In the other were two little boys.

The younger boy was as sweet as ever child was made, and was petted and coddled by the neighbors. The older one felt his isolation keenly, but said little. He became morose and self willed, and was a trial to his parents.

One day the younger boy died, and the neighbors grieved.

But there was no petting for the remaining boy, because he had not been petted during the life of his brother. He, too, grieved, but his disposition did not change.

The neighbor sat in his home one night thinking of the future of the remaining child. He wondered if he had been quite fair with him, and concluded that he had not.

The next time he saw the little fellow he was kind and gentle with him. He gave him the same attention he had given his brother, and continued that course from day to day.

Soon he detected a change, and in the course of a few months there was a wonderful transformation. The moroseness gradually disappeared, and was replaced by a sunny disposition.

Not all due to the neighbor, of course, but it had its effect. It aided in removing the gloom that clouded the infantile brain and brought his better qualities to the surface.

There are little children around us of this community each day. They are sensitive to indifference and neglect as the boy whose story we have told.

What are we doing to put the sunshine of happiness into their lives? What are you doing?

PUNISHMENT TO FIT

Some people advocate jail sentences for those who conspire against the government. But it is doubtful if that is the best policy, or even one that will produce satisfactory results.

Drastic action is necessary in such cases, but it should be action that will relieve us of the presence of the plotter instead of merely depriving him temporarily of his liberty.

In nearly every case these plotters come to us uninvited from some foreign shore. Since they do not approve of the manner in which we manage our own affairs, the logical course would be to send them back to the countries from whence they came. They may find conditions more to their liking in the hotbeds from whence they fled.

Foreigners who are willing to become productive assets in this country are welcome.

Dangerous liabilities are not wanted.

WOMAN

When a man exhibits extraordinary intelligence and progress the world looks up to him as a man among men. His father comes in for a good share of credit for having produced such a son. The mother is generally forgotten. Women usually are, where credit is to be given.

And yet it is the mother who brings him into the world—who is his constant teacher from infancy to maturity—who starts him on the road which travels with such distinction and success.

Women have never been accorded their just dues in this world. It will be many years before they ever receive them, although each one brings us a little closer to the goal.

Man is quick to take but slow to give.

Woman waits for her own.

YAP

Yap is a little island with a little name, yet it looms large upon the international horizon.

The council of the League of Nations, breaking faith with Mr. Wilson, has handed it over to Japan, although its possession is vital to American cable interests.

When a nation founded upon honor deals with other nations where honor is a secondary consideration, it should not feel surprised when double crossed.

Neither should it cancel billions of dollars worth of war debts when these paupers come whining around of their inability to pay.

Remember Yap. The end is not yet.

WHEN PEACE COMES

Is universal peace to come out of the great war? It is not. Even as a dream it is fading away.

Governmental greed in Europe is the rock upon which it was wrecked. International hatred and distrust will keep it submerged.

On the surface diplomacy maintains a fiction of unity, but underneath the fires of imperialistic passion are raging unchecked.

Dreams come and dreams go, but peace for this world will come when we are all gods, and not men.

Eighty-seven per cent of the land in this country is not in use. It is yet to be placed under cultivation. The millions of foreigners seeking admission to this country are headed for the cities, where they are not wanted. They do not care to settle upon this untilled land, where they are needed. They need us, but do we need them?
