DYING PLANTS.
Careful observation has shown that some plants pass through a death spasm at the instant when they cease to live. A delicate apparatus has been devised which enables anyone interested to watch this moment. All sorts of plants have been observed. It is found that the petals of a marigold constantly move up and down at the moment it dies. Some of the large garden daisies fold up their petals, while others curl them downward.—Boys' Life.

A NEW STAR.
Astronomers have discovered a new star which is arousing unusual interest. It is known as the Nova Sagittarii star or "novae." Stars of this kind burst suddenly into flame and then fade away until they are invisible to the eye. Sometimes they can still be seen by powerful telescopes, while again they disappear entirely. Astronomers have many theories to account for the sudden disappearance of such stars, but they still remain a mystery.—Boys' Life.

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

THE HAPPY SCOUTMASTER

The National Council of the Boy Scouts of America, at its eleventh annual meeting, held in New York City a short time ago, adopted a resolution expressing heartfelt appreciation of the loyal and self-sacrificing service of the volunteer workers in the movement, throughout the nation. This is a recognition due from all of us who have sons or who are interested in the welfare of boys, all of us, who understand that what our youth is being taught today, will determine what our America will be tomorrow.

In an article in a recent issue of scouting appears this fine commentary on the happy scoutmaster who "valiantly serves his country in time of peace. Placing duties above rights, service above self, he fares forth to win for his country the heart of youth, the hope of the world."

The happy scoutmaster perceives that what makes his efforts worth while is not only that through wholesome play he may save a boy from the error of his way, but also that life being real and earnest and practical a boy must learn to labor, and it is the happy scoutmaster who kindles within the heart of youth the fires of ambition—passion to make the most of himself, the will to work, to serve his country and to honor and reverence his God.

The happy scoutmaster finds the motive power of his own life in the scout oath and law and counts that day lost wherein no good turn is done. Nobly inspired, his boys follow the same vision splendid and like knights of old find the Holy Grail in helping other people at all times. He is, indeed, the happy scoutmaster; when so prepared, he wins the confidence of the boy and offers opportunity for youth to prove how gloriously it will do the right wherever there is such a man to lead.

"Many serve their country valiantly. Some have lived, and given much; others have died, and given all. But who more than the happy scoutmaster for his country's sake lays down his life? Having one life to give to his country, he gives it freely that youth may be served.

"While others concern themselves with seeming weightier matters, the happy scoutmaster lays foundations that make safe the future building of democracy."

SPEED.
An Englishman, recently arrived in the U. S. A., at New York city, asked a smart looking newsboy to show him about the city.

When they came to the American Surety company building, the Englishman asked: "Pray, my lad, how long did it take to build that building?" "About two years," the boy replied. "My, that was quite long, we could build it in a year." Next they came to the National Park bank building. "How long did it take to build that building?" the Englishman asked. "About a year," was the answer. "That was a long time. We English would have built it in six months." Then they came to the Woolworth building. "And how long were you building this wonderful structure?" "I don't know sir," replied the boy. "It wasn't there last night."—Boys' Life.

Sugar Gives Off Sparks.
A queer phenomenon has recently come to the notice of Washington scientists. Disks of loaf sugar mounted on a rapidly rotating lathe while a hammer beat lightly against them were seen to give off a continuous light that has not been satisfactorily explained.

World's Smallest Coin.
The coin of the least value ever issued is the "mite," so called, such as the widow of the Bible contributed to the poor. Its shape was hexagonal, and its value about one-fiftieth of a cent. It would take five thousand mites to make one dollar.

A penurious north side man was so affected by a charity sermon the other Sunday that he borrowed a dollar from a neighbor and put it in his own pocket.—Chicago News.

When Coal Was Not Burned.
Queen Elizabeth, broad-minded in many things, believed coal burning was bad for health, and whenever the country gentlemen came to London to parliament, no one in the city was permitted to light a coal fire.

Proposing Made Easy.
In Siam a declaration of marriage is very simple. It is considered a proposal merely to offer a lady a flower, or to take a light from a cigarette if she is holding it in her mouth, so that even the most timid youths need not fear the ordeal.

Lightning Likes Loamy Soil.
Lightning strikes loamy soil most frequently, according to recent investigations. Then, in diminishing order, sandy soil, clay, and chalk. In fact loamy soil is struck twenty-two times as often as chalk.

Would Maintain His Principle.
"Look here, my friends," said the soap box orator, "I am standing here to maintain the great principle of free speech, and if any man interrupts me I'll give him one on the nose."—Boston Transcript.
