Vol. 2 Devoted to the Interest and Development of the Hermiston Schools No. 8

Frederic Hesser the editor of the Mirror is absent from school this week so kindly overlook our deficiencies.

The high school eleven showed the old fight last Saturday when they defeated the Pendleton second team 27 to 0. The teams were evenly matched if anything the Hermiston boys were slightly the heaviest.

After three minutes of play the ball was carried across Pendleton's goal line. The Pendleton team was no match for the Hermiston boys. The boys marched down the field by line plunges and end runs which were too much for the Pendleton boys.

Waterman and Addleman were Hermiston's main yardage men, Waterman carried the ball across the line three times, Addleman once. Haddock kicked two goals and Addleman one.

Pendleton fumbled the ball on their 50 yard line and Winesett took the ball and ran 50 yards for a touch-down, but the referee had already blown the whistle declaring the ball dead. Mr. Bennion did not know that the ball had been fumbled and apologized for his mistake. The ball had to be brought back and put in play by scrimmage much to the regret of the Hermiston boys.

Hermiston played the same team through the whole game. Pendleton made two substitutions on account of injuries, one player received a broken collar bone and another a broken nose.

The lineup for the game was as follows:

Hermiston	R. T. L.	Pendleton
Myers	R. G. L.	Warren
Shotwell	C.	Boyer
Smith	R. E. L.	Laing
Stockard	L. G. R.	Saunders
Hughes	L. T. R.	Crawford
Carson	L. E. R.	Minnis
Winesett	Q.	McCulley
Waterman	R. H. L.	McGee
Haddock	L. H. R.	Temple
Boynton	F.	Vaughn
Addleman		Gillette

The senior class has started work on their class play, "The Time of His Life." They plan to put it on the middle of November—so watch for particulars.

Monday there will be a football game between the first and second teams.

Miss Breirly—This is absolutely the worst recitation I've heard this term. I've done all the reciting myself.

Mr. Gralapp—Your answer is as clear as mud. Lawrence Helmi—Well that covers the ground doesn't it?

Gwyn Hughes—I saw a splendid diamond today.

Melba Callahan—Oh! did you buy it?

Gwyn Hughes—Why no I was speaking of the new ball grounds.

SEED CORN NEEDS DRYING, EXPERIMENT STATION FINDS

Much immature corn has resulted from the early September frosts, the C. A. C. experiment station has found and there is likely to be a serious shortage of seed next spring unless it is dried out and properly stored.

Seed corn is best dried in a warm well ventilated place as rapidly as possible. It may be safely dried at 150 degrees F. in hop or prune driers although corn with a large amount of moisture 140 degrees with a little longer time is preferable. Small lots of corn should be hung up by the husks so that the ears do not touch each other and cause faulty drying. If no better method presents itself the corn may be hung near a stove for a few days. Once thoroughly dried, it may remain in storage safely all winter.

points. A great deal of road work will be done there this winter on The Dalles-California highway and Mr. Newport will submit bids for a part of it. He reports a wonderful country south of the Columbia river and thinks conditions will be fine for winter work. He believes the road work the state expects to do will be a big factor in relieving unemployment this winter.

Cooling Helps Root Crops

Root crops that go into storage should be piled up and let dry so surplus dirt falls off, say the O. A. C. experiment station men. They should be stored after cooling out in a dry well ventilated place. Care should be taken to avoid bruising. This is particularly true with mangels.

HAY ASS'N HAS FIVE BALERS IN OPERATION ON CONTRACT

Cost is $2.50 Per Ton and is Lower Than Paid Last Year; Hay is Shipped Fast as Baled

The Oregon Co-operative Hay Growers beginning with the first of last week, have five balers in operation baling on contract, no contract being for more than two dollars and a half per ton.

Early last fall a statement was issued to members saying that they hoped to be able to get a reduction in the cost of baling and they have been more than gratified at the success attained in this direction. So far the association has been shipping hay as fast as baled but now hope to pile up a surplus of baled hay.

The price of two dollars and fifty cents ($2.50) per ton was only possible to the association through guaranteeing a specified tonnage to the contracting balers. Had it not been for the association there is no reason to believe that hay could have been baled for less than three dollars ($3.00) per ton.

"BELOW THE SURFACE" IS A FINE STORY OF THE SEA

The sea again furnishes the background for a strongly dramatic story in Hobart Bosworth's latest photoplay, "Below the Surface" which will be seen on the screen at Pound's in Umatilla Friday and the Play House Saturday.

The locale is a fishing village on the rocky coast of Maine and the star has the role of a stern old New England deep-sea diver. His partner is his son, Luther. The two are approached with a fraudulent enterprise to extract treasure from a sunken wreck. The old diver declines, but Luther, attracted by the pretty demi-mondaine who accompanies the get-rich-quick promoter, accepts the proposition, marrying the girl at the same time.

Dramatic events follow, including the wrecking of a steamer, in which Luther's wife and the promoter are drowned. The ending is a happy one. Mr. Bosworth is supported by such players as Lloyd Hughes, Grace Darmond, Gladys George, and George Webb. Thomas H. Ince produced the picture which is a Paramount Artcraft release.
