M. L. MORGAN TAKES OVER

BOARDMAN GARAGE CO.
Committee of Portland Business Men Visit in Interest of Roosevelt Memorial Highway

Boardman, Ore., May 4—The Boardman Garage company composed of M. L. Morgan and Macumber Bros. has worked out a business change whereby Morgan takes over all of the garage and shop interests and the Macumbers continue with the school bus contract, which the firm has been handling.

Boardman was visited Wednesday by a committee of Portland business men composed of Fred Volger, Sidney Vincent, J. P. Jaeger and H. J. Oppenheimer representing the Theodore Roosevelt International Highway association. Their plans primarily are for the development of the association but includes also the stirring up of interest in the care and consideration of tourists, special opportunities for prospective settlers and incidentally to mention that the 1925 fair at Portland is assured and is to be put over without a statewide tax. A local committee composed of M. L. Morgan, L. S. Bonney and O. H. Warner took the guests in charge, showed them over the project and arranged lunch at The Highway Inn. During their stay the attention of the visitors was called to the matter most near the hearts of the people of this section—the development of the Umatilla Rapids primarily for irrigation but also for power and navigation. The Portland gentlemen expressed themselves heartily in commendation of the consideration that was shown them by the local committee, and especially with the fact that Boardman had no "knocks" to hand out.

WITHOUT STREET ADDRESS

YOUR MAIL IS DELAYED AT OFFICE OF DELIVERY

The Dead Letter Office has been in existence ever since Ben Franklin started our postal service. Even then people addressed mail to Mr. Ezekiel Smithers, "Atlantic Coast," and expected Ben to know just where Zeke lived.

Perhaps they had Zeke's address in letters up in the garret, maybe a chest full of 'em, but then it was easier to let Ben hunt Zeke. Today people are addressing letters to John Smith, New York, N. Y., or Chicago, Ill., thinking Uncle Sam can locate him, which is just as incomplete as was Zeke's address of yore. The Postoffice Department asks you to put the number and street in the address. It helps you.

The High School Mirror

Devoted to the Interest and Development of the Hermiston Schools
Vol. 2. No. 19

The annual west end track meet was held on the local field last Saturday afternoon. Hermiston took the track meet with 83 points while Stanfield the nearest competitor had 25 points and Umatilla 13 points. There was a good crowd and every body enjoyed the races.

The annual county meet will be held in Pendleton next Saturday and the boys who took first or second last Saturday will go to Pendleton and compete against the rest of the county for honors and from there they will go to the eastern Oregon meet.

This week has been set aside as post office week by the nation government. The purpose is to get the people to understand the workings of the postal system. The schools have been asked to take a part in this work. Tuesday and Wednesday morning of this week classes from the high school have made visits to the post office where Mr. Skinner has explained the working of the postal system.

Ethel Long Newman Writes of Life in Armenia, Where She Manages Great Orphanage.

Some vivid pictures of life in Russian Armenia, where gaunt famine stalks in the wake of devastating war, are given by Mrs. Samuel Newman, formerly Miss Ethel Long, graduate of Oregon Agricultural College, class of 1920, in letters to friends in Oregon. Mrs. Newman and her husband, the latter a graduate of the Idaho Agricultural College, were married in Portland last spring, and soon after left for Armenia to join the staff of Near East Relief workers in charge of two large orphanages near Alexandropol, where an extensive agricultural reconstruction project is being inaugurated by the Near East Relief organization. The Soviet government, unable to cope with the appalling conditions following the warfare waged in that region almost continuously since 1914, last year turned over to the Near East Relief three mammoth military posts which had been converted into orphanages, together with 115,000 acres of land to be put under cultivation.

"It is a staggering task the Near East Relief has undertaken," writes Mrs. Newman, "but we are working hard and making progress in the face of overwhelming odds. Sam has 20,000 acres of farm lands under his supervision, and is tilling early and late getting his farm units started. I am busy every hour of the day with my work in the orphanage here, which shelters 2,000 children and gives employment to the mothers and fathers of many hundreds more. The farms, you know, are operated in connection with the orphanages. Besides receiving instruction in manual training and other useful things, the larger boys are taught modern scientific methods of farming. The orphan girls are taught to weave rugs and to sew and cook. We are also operating several industrial units where cloth is woven and garments made for the children.

"It was all very discouraging at first," Mrs. Newman continues, "but now we are taking heart and working harder than ever. Sam had an awful time getting his first unit started. However, after scouring the whole country he got together a few plows and harrows and things; also, a little later, the modern machinery contributed by friends of the Near East Relief began to arrive, and Sam had the good fortune to round up 32 good reliable mules. He has sixteen teams now at work, and expects to have a tractor in the field soon. * * * The poor peasants here had never done any real farming, and it was very hard for them at first, but their eagerness to learn and to help is very pathetic. The great deep furrows Sam plows with his good American equipment are a never-ending marvel to them. When Sam gets one unit started with men trained to operate it, he begins another and the orphan boys take to the training with great zeal.

When the Newmans arrived at Djelaghobu, the orphanage there sheltered only 400 boys and girls, and Mrs. Newman writes of these: "There were 1,000 in this lot last spring, but because of malnutrition and sickness, 600 of them died during the summer, so the Soviet officials had only 400 left to turn over to us. Enough have been brought down from the over-crowded orphanage at Alexandropol to make 2,000 here, and as you can imagine, I have my hands full, helping to mother them. It is wonderful to see how the wretched, dirty, starved little newcomers begin to blossom and grow as soon as they have been bathed, clothed and given a few rations of wholesome food."

Mrs. Newman says there are things the relief workers must think of as little as possible, and must turn away from when outside the orphanage gates. To attempt to aid all the starving people, or even the children, would be utterly futile, she says, and would exhaust the Near East resources without permanently helping any. The orphanages take in just as many as can be managed safely.

"We simply must ignore the rest," she writes. "Just outside our gates there are scores of starving children lying or sitting about listlessly, shivering in filthy rags, with their little bones fairly protruding through their skins. Many of them are sick and in pain, and they all beg pitiously to be taken in every time they can catch the attention of any of the workers. Many times we have taken in 'just one more'

Mr. Ward of Pendleton was at the school Tuesday. He brought the group pictures and some that were not completed at his other visit.

Hermiston will meet Stanfield on the local field May 12, in the last baseball game of the season. Everyone expects this to be the best game that the high school has participated in this year. The admission will be 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children. Everyone is invited to come out and help the student body clean up its debt.

Principal James of the Heppner high school was visiting the school Tuesday.

The baccalaureate sermon will be preached May 14 at the Methodist church by the Methodist minister Rev. Wann.

We are very sorry yet glad to say that the semester exams will begin May 16. All are expecting to get what we fear they will not, a grade above 75.

until it cannot be done again, else there would not be food enough for the ones we already have. Another awful thing one may see any day, are the little quiet bundles of rags lying on the sunny side of a wall or a hillside, just able to stir feebly now and then, or to lift up pleading little wistful arms in supplication, if anyone passes. They will lie in the same spot for days sometimes, before they become quite still. Then the Soviet cart with its daily load of the dead, comes and picks up the little bundle. Just picture any one of the many mothers in this tragic land—half-starved and despairing, clad in rags and tatters, with her naked babe in her arms, the little thing trying feebly to draw nourishment from her dried-up breasts. I must not write of it, nor think of it. We must all keep strong for the work that is before us, and think only of the great good that we are doing. But I beg of you, never believe that there can be any exaggeration in the stories you hear of the sufferings and horrors here in this unhappy land.

Gorgeous Turkish Wedding.
A Croesus-like wedding on which $50,000 was spent was celebrated in Istanbul recently, despite the general poverty of the present-day Turks. The bridegroom, an Albanian Turk, made a big fortune after the armistice by selling opal. He hired 43 houses for the wedding guests, who were entertained sumptuously for a week. A hundred motorcars and 300 open carriages followed the bride's closed and curtained carriage to a large school building, which he had rented and decorated for extravagant festivities. Each table provided for 300 guests and was loaded with Turkish delicacies. The wedding presents, it is said, were worth $30,000.

Illustrating Food Values.
To teach food values to children and to combat malnutrition the American Museum of Natural History educates a traveling exhibit which includes a set of 16 wax models of food suitable for children between the ages of ten and thirteen and models and charts illustrating the composition of six common foods and the contributions of different foods to the body.

MAKE OREGON SAFE FOR THE REPUBLICAN PARTY

Re-elect
RALPHE WILLIAMS
Republican National Committeeman

KEEP THE WEST IN POWER

The Republican National Committee consists of one member from each state in the Union and is the political organization of the party.

In June, 1921, at the Committee's first meeting after the inauguration of President Warren G. Harding, every state cast its vote for Ralph E. Williams of Oregon for vice-chairman of the Committee, recognizing by their unanimous vote his fitness and ability as a leader to fill this responsible position.

A vote for Ralph E. Williams for Republican National Committeeman will confirm the action of the forty-eight states in electing him vice-chairman of the Republican National Committee, a position never before held by a Western man.

Ralph E. Williams of Oregon, as vice-chairman of the Republican National Committee, is directly in line to become National chairman, the highest position attainable in the Republican organization.

A National Committeeman on the National Committee does not make or execute the laws, but carries out the policies and platform of the party adopted by the delegates at each previous National Convention.

Mr. Williams is senior member of the National Committee. Seniority in this committee gives one the same power as seniority in the U. S. Senate.
