FONTAINE LA RUE IN "THE FAITH HEALER"

Fontaine La Rue, by her human characterization of Mary Beeler, the invalid in "The Faith Healer," George Melford's latest Paramount picture which comes to the Play House next Sunday, proves herself a versatile actress.

In "The Sins of Rosanne," in which Miss La Rue recently made her debut in Paramount pictures, she had the role of a Malay sorceress, and all who saw her in that production and who will see her performance in "The Faith Healer," will notice the difference in the characterization.

THOSE WHO STOP AT HERMISTON AUTO CAMP

During the past week or two it has been noticed that more tourists have been at the camp grounds, an average of about eight to ten cars every evening. In their many conversations they all mention the fact that this is a very fine auto camp and that they enjoy their visit to Hermiston.

Donna, Texas is represented by Mrs. Geo. Ludlow and son who are now on their way for a visit to Vancouver, B. C. They have been touring since June 1 having made the trip through California and Oregon and will go from here to Idaho and Washington, and then to Vancouver.

Two cars from Chicago were parked at the camp Sunday evening. In one car was Mr. and Mrs. W. Sullivan and in the other was Mr. Mrs. John Hogan, and they are all bound for California, but will first make a tour along the Oregon coast. They have been on the road since June 4 as they stopped for several days at many of the scenic spots.
