

Money Helps

"HERE IS YOUR CHECK"

Is that what you say when paying a bill? Or do you simply "go thru your pockets" in an effort to scare up the necessary amount?

The man who saves and banks his savings with us never has to dig down into every pocket in order to pay a bill.

He simply writes out a check, and the money is always in the bank to meet it.

Have you an account with us? Why not start it without further delay?

ANNOUNCEMENT

Lutheran services are conducted on the third Sunday of each month at Echo, one-half block north of the bank, at 1:30 p. m. Sunday school at 1 o'clock. All Lutherans in Hermiston and vicinity are especially invited to worship with us at Echo next Sunday, August 20. This will be a special Mission service. Everybody welcome. "Remember the Sabbath Day, to Keep it Holy" Enod. 20-8. E. G. Wuest, Lutheran pastor.

LOCALS AND PERSONALS

Miss Lorene Elliott arrived Wednesday afternoon to spend a few weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Pierce.

About 200 were present at the dance last Saturday evening at the Hermiston Auditorium. The attraction was the Schubert Jazz Orchestra of Chicago. This is their third appearance here and the patronage fully attests their popularity among the dancing public.

PROJECT WRITEUP IN TELEGRAM

Monday, August 14, the Portland Evening Telegram issued a special irrigation edition containing special writeups of the various projects in the state. A very comprehensive two column article, illustrated with photographs of the Umatilla project and altogether it is a very creditable number of the Telegram.

DANTE'S INFERNO OUTDONE IN ARMENIA

Wails of Starving Children Assail the Ears of Relief Workers at Erivan.

The tragic progression of famine conditions in Armenia is strikingly shown in the personal reports brought back by State Director J. J. Handsaker of the Near East Relief when he visited that section last August, and in the letters that have been received at intervals since.

"When I was there in the late summer," said Mr. Handsaker, "The conditions were truly appalling, despite the fact that the orphanages were filled to their utmost capacity and everything possible was being done. I myself selected a little naked girl with nineteen others from among hundreds of starving children to fill the only possible vacancies in the orphanage at Erivan at that time. However, the weather was warm, and the refugees could manage in some way to keep alive. Reports from Erivan in late September told of the coming of the cold weather, and how the reserves were drawn upon for the opening of additional soup-kitchens. Starving men women and children from all sections were flocking desperately to the Near East Relief stations in the hope of getting work, food and clothing. Two months later, under date of Nov. 29, we have news of the frightful situation that followed. This news came to Dr. Esther Lovejoy, of Portland, Oregon, who is national chairman of the American Women's Hospitals, from Dr. Mabel Elliott, in charge of the American Women's Hospitals in the Near East section. This organization is co-operating with the Near East Relief, and is handling the medical work of the latter at Erivan. Below is an excerpt from Dr. Mabel Elliott's letter to Dr. Lovejoy:

"I cannot begin to tell you, doctor, of the misery here in spite of the enormous amount of work being done. Since I have been here 852 is the lowest number of cases we have had in our hospitals at any one time, and yet they are dying on all corners of the city. Last Sunday we went out on horseback to see how things were beyond the town; we passed a dead horse by the side of the road, and three wretched human beings were sitting beside it, taking the flesh off with their hands. It was a most repulsive sight.

"All day long you can hear the groans and wails of little children outside our building in hopes we can and will pick them up. If the sun shines for a little while they quiet down, and then when it rains they begin again. One day the rain turned into snow and it was awful to listen to them. The note of terror that came into the general wail was distinctly perceptible, although my room was upstairs and the window was closed. They well know what a single night out in the snow would mean to them. We are picking them up as fast as possible.

"You can see by my report how many more patients we have than beds, and the same holds good in the orphanages. There is no use crowding them in so that they will all die."

Brazilian Air Lines.

Brazilian senators have reported favorably upon a bill proposing the establishment of two aviation lines between Rio de Janeiro and Porto Alegre, which are to be started before September of 1922. According to the United States naval attache in Rio de Janeiro, one of the routes will be laid along the coast, carried out by hydroplanes and maintained and directed by the ministry of marine; the other will traverse the interior of the country to the west of the coast range of mountains and will be continued by airplanes under the direction of the ministry of war. The routes will pass through the most important political, industrial and commercial centers, wherever possible.

Retrieved That Gold Piece.

While in the station in Brussels in Belgium, my friend was intent upon getting tickets for the Waterloo battlefield. Not being able to talk much French and trying to speak her best, she in her excitement dropped a $5 gold piece without noticing it. It slipped quietly down her dress. A Frenchman stood within reach of the window, and at once planted his foot upon it. As my friend turned from the window I was nonplussed what to do to recover the coin. I yielded to the impulse of the moment, as I had to act quickly. Stooping I took the man by the trouser leg, gave the leg a quick lift, and so reclaimed our coin. All looked surprised, not a word was spoken, my friend and I were in possession of the coin, and the Frenchman was outwitted.—Chicago Journal.
