Sport Whispers

Arnold Gralapp, director of athletics, announced Wednesday morning in the assembly that Columbia University of Portland, desired a game with the local eleven.

The students were unusually excited over this honor because the University aggregation played a tie game with the Oregon University freshmen which goes to prove that they are a strong and fast team.

Since satisfactory arrangements for the use of the Multnomah field could not be made by the university, and the high school could not afford to bring the Portland team here the game had to be cancelled. The boys were very much disappointed and are still hoping that a game might be secured later on in the season.

Members of the football squad accompanied by Coach Gralapp made a trip to Stanfield last Friday to get some "dope" on the Athena team. Athena walloped Stanfield 40-0 so the local boys are anticipating a close hard game when they meet Athena on Armistice Day.

Basketball Girls Meet

A meeting of the girls' basketball team of last year was called Monday by Miss Yennery to discuss the question of a uniform suit to be purchased for the team this year. The girls seem to be in favor of a purple and gold jersey, and designs are now being selected and discussed.

Speeches Enjoyed

The students of the high school were fortunate in having the opportunity of listening to two interesting as well as instructive talks Tuesday morning. The speakers represented the Near East Relief and told of the terrible conditions existing in Europe and Asia at the present time. Also of the work done by this society in the stricken territory. The students pledged to help this worthy cause, by giving contributions of money, and clothing which they have discarded.

Social Events

Miss Irma Buchner was hostess to a number of her girl friends at a unique party Friday evening of last week. A novel feature of the affair was the appearance of half of the invited guests as "beaux" who escorted "blushing Belles" and flappers. Games, a mock wedding and a taffy pull were enjoyed by all.

Wilma Waugaman Entertains

A pleasant Halloween party was given at the Waugaman home last Saturday when Miss Wilma entertained a large number of her friends and schoolmates.

The lawn and porches were decorated with weird looking Jack-o-lanterns while the interior of the house was brilliant with the same Halloween scheme of decoration.

Outdoor games were enjoyed during the early part of the evening then the guests frolicked for a few more hours in the house. Pumpkin pie was served, at the close of the evening.

Many Halloween parties are being held this week. Among those who are to entertain are Marjorie Pelmulder, Lenora Dyer, Pauline Voelker and Mabel Brown.

The second grade had a Halloween party Tuesday afternoon. The room was gay with Halloween decorations. Games and refreshments were enjoyed by all.

The third grade also enjoyed a Halloween party Friday.

Sure Enough

The old negro woman who washed for Mrs. Worth came one day with a tale of woe calculated to awaken pity in the hardest heart.

"Cheer up, auntie," said Mrs. Worth consolingly, "there's no use worrying."

But auntie held other views. "How come dere's no use worrying?" she demanded. "When de good Lawd send me tribulation, he done spect me to tribulate, ain't He?"—Everybody's Magazine.

But No Vice Versa

When little Percival arrived at school, on the opening day, he carried the following note to the teacher:

"Dear Teacher: Our sweet little Percival is a very delicate, nervous child, mad if he is naughty—and is likely to be naughty at times—just punish the boy next to him, and that will frighten him so he'll be good."
 —Wayside Tales.

If the pullets sit around on the perches in daytime, they are telling you as plainly as they can that something is wrong with their feed or feeding—the kind of feed, or possibly the amount of scratch feed. The light egg basket will be a further reminder if this warning is not heeded.

CHAMPION HOGS AT PORTLAND STOCK SHOW

In some ways a hog is very much like a man. He knows very well what will happen if he allows himself to yield to his appetite and yet cannot resist the temptation. Man has used his failings for his own benefit and probably a hog is of more value to the human race than any other animal. There are a number of breeds, and styles in hogs change almost as much as they do in ladies' apparel. For a long time very heavy hogs were popular. Then the demand was for lighter ones and today it would seem as though the bigger ones were coming back again. The great breeds in this country, at least, are Poland China, Duroc Jersey, Chester White, Berkshire and Hampshire. All of these will be represented by the finest examples in the art of hog breeding at the Pacific International Livestock Exposition, November 4 to 11.

OREGON TELEPHONE RATES

pany, shall cease and desist from imposing, charging and collecting the rate hereinbefore found to be unjust and unreasonable, and shall substitute in lieu thereof, the just and reasonable temporary rate above set forth, and that said temporary rates shall continue in full force and effect until the completion of the investigation now being carried on by this commission, relative to the exact rate to be charged and adequate service to be rendered by the company, as aforesaid and an order made based thereon; provided, however, that the temporary rates and services herein prescribed shall continue for such temporary period only and at the expiration thereof this temporary order shall become inoperative and void, unless extended by appropriate order of this commission.

Ring Change Ordered
 It is further ordered, that the company shall abandon and replace its obsolete code ringing facilities and equipment above mentioned and replace the same with modern selective ringing facilities and equipment capable of selective ringing on all party lines up to and including those which serve ten parties, and that within 30 days from and after the enactment of this order, the company shall report progress therein, including a statement of the time which will be thereafter required to complete such change of equipment.

It is further ordered, that the allocation of toll rate revenue to local exchanges shall be 50 per cent of all toll revenues which originate in local exchanges in Oregon, under the present intra-state toll rate schedule and that the present practice of allocating only 30 per cent of such revenues to such local exchanges, excepting intra-state toll charges, shall cease on, from and after the first day of December, 1922.

That the company by and hereby is required during the continuance in force of this order to make monthly statements to the commission of the proportionate cost of operation of all toll service in the state of Oregon for each and every local exchange of the proportionate cost of the operation of toll services therein.

That the company be and hereby is required to make reports to this commission monthly, during the continuance in force of this order, of the income derived from each and every local exchange in the state of Oregon and all toll revenues therefrom.

Statements Are Demanded

That the company be and hereby is required within 30 days after the date of this order to file with this commission a complete statement of its relations with the American Telephone & Telegraph company and the Western Electric company, purchasing agent, and each of them, and also a statement upon what ground or claim if any, the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company justifies its actions in evasion of section 10 of the Clayton anti-trust law.

That the company be and hereby is required within 30 days after the enactment of this order to report to this commission with respect to the means, methods and instrumentalities whereby measured service may be established and supplied to the people of the state of Oregon and that the company be prepared to demonstrate to the commission such means, methods and instrumentalities upon its demand, and also within said time to file with the commission for its information, schedules of measured rates in use by it in other communities.

It is further ordered, that this proceeding shall remain open upon the docket of this commission and that the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company shall make such studies and reports to this commission as will meet the full object and intent of this order and such further studies and reports as they may be required by the commission from time to time.

The Exposition Means Immediate State Development

YOU ARE ASKED to vote November 7 on a constitutional amendment authorizing the city of Portland to levy within the city a tax of one million dollars a year for three years to finance the proposed 1927 Exposition.

There is evidence that plans and purposes of the 1927 Exposition are not fully understood and this message is being published to give a more complete understanding and to gain state-wide approval of the Exposition plans.

It should first of all be made plain that the proposed three million dollar tax to be levied in Portland is contingent upon the raising of a fund of one million dollars by private subscription—the men who are pioneering the building of the Exposition showing their own faith in a material way.

The one purpose of the Exposition is the development of Oregon and Oregon resources.

Oregon, twice the size of the state of New York and one of the richest sections of the world in natural resources, has less than a million population instead of the four or five millions which the state can easily support and which in turn would contribute to the support of the state.

Oregon has fewer people than the city of Los Angeles.

Oregon has only eight people to the square mile. California has 22 and Washington 20.

Oregon is burdened with taxes and the one sure relief to the individual taxpayer is more people to develop more wealth to share the tax burden.

Vast areas of Oregon soil, as fertile as the world contains, are untouched by the plow because the people of the world do not know of their fertility and opportunity.

But these are facts we all know.

We are all agreed as to the need of development in Oregon; now let us see what the 1927 Exposition can mean in bringing about that development:

It is proposed that the 1927 Exposition shall be the central feature of a ten-year development plan for the state.

The first essential of this plan is that the people of the East who can better their own conditions by coming to Oregon be made to know what Oregon can offer.

It is planned, if the Exposition measure is approved at the polls, to begin, not later than 1924, a campaign of advertising which shall cover all the rich states to the east of us. This advertising is to appeal to farmers, stockmen, orchardists, manufacturers and tourists, telling each of these classes of the opportunities which Oregon offers them and inviting them to come and see for themselves. All this advertising will lead up to the 1927 Exposition, but it will be intended to attract not alone sight-seers but settlers and investors even before the Exposition.

It is planned also to continue this development programme after the Exposition is ended and until 1934.

It is proposed that the Exposition shall strongly feature the products and resources of Oregon, so that visitors will become interested in the state as a place for them to live and prosper.

Each section of the state will be given an opportunity to benefit both by the preliminary advertising and by the Exposition itself.

Railways will be asked to sell excursion tickets to the Exposition, which shall give the holders without extra cost a trip to other sections of the state which they may desire to visit.

Each county in the state will be invited to participate in a carefully worked-out plan to direct attention to and create interest in all sections of the state.

Those who sponsor the Exposition believe that these plans will insure a speedy and definite development of Oregon's vast resources by bringing together the entire energies of the state and by focusing attention upon the state.

The welfare of every man, woman and child in Oregon is directly connected with state development. Adequate state development means increased prosperity, a better social condition, better markets, more comforts and conveniences, with reduced taxation.

In the present condition of the United States and of the world at large, Oregon's state development will not come speedily unless well thought-out and aggressive plans are put into execution.

The 1927 Exposition—as the concentration point of a ten-year development plan—is a definite, tangible movement for state-wide progress, and on this basis you can confidently give your approval to the Exposition measures to be voted on at the polls November 7.

Why the Exposition Has Been Set Forward From 1925 to 1927

The change of date from 1925 to 1927 has been made because it has been found impossible to build an adequate Exposition and to co-ordinate all its features in a general plan for Oregon development in the little more than two years between now and 1925.
