STAND BY YOUR TOWN

If you think your town's the best,
Tell 'em so.
If you'd have her lead the rest,
Help her grow.
When there's anything to do,
Let the fellows count on you;
You'll feel bully when it's through!
Don't you know?
When a stranger from afar
Comes along,
Tell him who and what you are—
Make it strong;
Needn't flatter, near bluff,
Tell the truth, for that's enough!
Join thebo osters—that's the stuff.
We belong.

DR. F. E. GORDON TO BE HEARD AT CHAUTAUQUA

Co-operation Between Home and School is Subject of Earnest Plea.

Here is a lecturer who has gained distinction because of a genuine service rendered to hundreds of communities. There is nothing superficial about F. E. Gordon. He is tremendously, and indeed dramatically, in earnest. His deep interest in people and in communities is based upon a very direct and clear understanding of human hearts. He has never lost faith in people, nor does he ever lose interest in the ordinary things of life.

Dr. Gordon is a veritable Abraham Lincoln in stature, force, and logic. His lectures are packed with wit, sound sense, and human sympathy. Years of experience as a teacher, educator and preacher, are crystallized into his masterful and practical lecture, "Shooting the Goal," a discussion of co-operation between home and school. Chautauqua—fourth night.

SOUGHT TO PRESERVE SOUL

Ancient Egyptians Had Firm Belief That Another Life Followed the Mortal Career.

When a person of importance died in ancient Egypt the embalming process was soon started. An incision was made with a stone knife—for some reason, metal knives were never used—and the viscera were drawn out. The brains, too, were removed. The organs were preserved in jars, which were inclosed in a box and put into the tomb with the mummy.

Strong embalming fluids were poured into the body, which was then steeped in natron and left for 70 days. After this it was washed and bound with strips of the finest flax, strong gum being used to secure the wrappings.

The mummy was first placed in a wooden coffin. The later was deposited in another coffin, which in turn was enclosed in a third, shaped in the form of a human being.

The idea was that the soul was free to wander through the abodes of the dead for a period of about 10,000 years, after which it was supposed to return and look for its earthly body. Transmigration was imagined to have taken place if the body decayed or was disturbed. The elaborate precautions taken to preserve the dead in those far-off days arose from humble beginnings dating back thousands of years, when the dead were dried in the sun and placed in a vault containing a few flint instruments and a pot or two of food for sustenance of the departed's soul on its journey.

Ancestors of the Necktie.

The necktie came into use as something with which to warm the neck in cold weather. The ruff was the forerunner of the bit of color that is knotted at a man's throat today.

After the ruff came neckcloths of Brussels lace, which were at one time worn so long that the ends were tucked in the waistcoat. Later a broad silk ribbon was worn and the grandfather of the cake eater wore a cravat which passed twice around the collar. The modern scarf made its appearance about forty years ago.

Softening Phonograph Tones.

Undesirable high tones, or "whistles," an annoyance commonly experienced by phonograph users, may be eliminated by the use of interference tubes. They consist of U-shaped metal appliances, designed to be incorporated in a main tube that is fitted between the reproducer and tone-arm of a talking machine. According to the inventor, the arrangement of bypaths for the sound waves causes certain of those to be considerably softened with but little loss in volume.
