Costs of Government Cut.
The bureau of the budget, under General Dawes, put the government on a sound business basis, resulting in a reduction of public expenditures from $5,538,000,000 in 1921 to $3,487,000,000 in 1924, a decrease in the annual cost of government of $2,041,000,000.

Naval Expense Cut Down.
As a result of the Washington conference for the limitation of armaments, called by President Harding, the United States has saved $500,000,000 annually in its naval expense.

Grapes Valuable Food
Eat grapes and fight anemia. Grapes are particularly valuable in the health diet because of the iron they contain, which helps to build up the red corpuscles of the blood. There is no need of a medical motive to persuade us to eat this delicious fruit, but to know that while we are eating grapes we are building up our circulation is surely not displeasing.

In addition to the iron the grape contains other highly valuable minerals, which it carries into grape juice and other preparations to which this abundant fruit so readily lends itself.

RADIO

The Radio has come to stay, and the home without a Radio will be in a short time as scarce as the one without a telephone or auto.

Radio is not only an instrument of pleasure, but is a great source of news; a regular feature of all broad-casting stations is daily market reports, weather forecast, world news, bedtime stories for the kiddies, and in season base ball scores as well as musical and educational programs.

I am a Radio fan, but I have reason to be for since I installed a radio, world events that you read in your paper were old to me as I had them the night before over the radio.

My set is in use three to seven or more hours every day and money would not buy it if I could not get another.

I have the agency for the Northwestern, a five tube non-radiating set, which is very selective, plenty of volume and perfect modulation, and at a reasonable price.

Will install a set for you on a positive guarantee to please; but get a set from some one.

Yours for radio,
A. W. PRANN

Warm Current Exists, No Matter How Called

It was with some consternation that one read in the newspapers that the gulf stream had been proved a myth. If one of the sacred scientific trinity had died, what was to become of the others—the nebular hypothesis and the law of gravitation?

A closer reading, however, was reassuring, remarks the New York Evening Mail. It appears that M. Le Danolis, a French savant, asserts that there is no such thing as a gulf stream. What is called by that name is a combination of ocean tides.

There are, he says, two kinds of water in the North Atlantic, warm and cold. The warm moves in a northward current to some undetermined point and turns backward again. The fluctuations, however, are tidal.

One has a vague memory of reading something very like that in the physical geography book about twenty years ago. Apparently the phenomena exist, whether one explains them by the term gulf stream or as ocean tides.

That which we call a gulf stream by another name will smell as sweet to migratory herring and sardine and, happily, one can still paraphrase "Romeo and Juliet" regardless of whether Bacon or Shakespeare wrote it. And the warm Atlantic current still saves Europe from a return to the glacial period regardless of whether one accepts the nomenclature of Franklin or that of M. Le Danolis.

Multiplication Feat

The following method is generally used in the multiplication of Roman numerals: It is necessary to remember that half of C is L, half of L is XXV, half of VI is III and half of V is II and I remainder. Write the numbers to be multiplied side by side. Double the first one and take half of the second, putting down an O if there is no remainder and an I if there is one. The two numbers thus obtained are set down under the original numbers, and the process is repeated until the second column ends in I. Then cross out the lines that end in O and the sum of what remains in the first column will be the product.

Postal Service Growth

The United States postal service really began in 1639 when an office was set up in Boston tavern to receive letters from Europe. The growth has been steady ever since. High lights in its course were the appointment of Benjamin Franklin as first postmaster general in 1775, adoption of gummed stamps in 1847, free city delivery in 1863, railway post office service in 1864, rural service in 1890, postal savings banks in 1911, parcel post in 1913, airplane mail service in 1918, and daily trans-continental air-mail service in 1924.
