ONE WAY TO SOLVE THE PROBLEM

Some one felt the cold bleak winds of December and were reminded it was time to buy the winter's supply of coal. Perhaps his bank balance was in figures the same color a matador uses when he wishes to arouse the fighting instincts of a bull in the arena, and perhaps the coal man had emphatically said no after a conference and heart to heart talk. Things begin to look blue to this someone. To him it was a cold world.

He was unable to look forward to the long winter evenings when he would sit beside a glowing fire of coals, toasting his shins and enjoying the warmth and comfort of four walls and a roof above that he called home. Then a light began to shine through the clouds that was symbolic of his troubles. It was a silver lining. There was a load of coal in the bin of the local Mutual Creamery company. Why not appropriate some of this to his own use? Circumstances alter cases and the need of the hour was fuel. So someone backed a truck up to the coal bin of the Mutual Creamery company in this city last Saturday night, shoved on a half ton of coal and like the Arabs that Longfellow speaks of in one of his poems, "silently stole away."

ACHESON SURVEYS AMERICAN OPERATIONS

BARCLAY ACHESON

Barclay Acheson, well-known to many in Oregon and Washington because of years of residence in Chehalis, South Bend and Portland, sailed from New York on November 5th, to continue his work as Director of Overseas Operations for the Near East Relief. Acheson has recently spent more than a year in the Near East, making careful survey of the different fields where American charity is caring for more than 50,000 children.

Speaking before clubs of Portland, Seattle and Tacoma business men, Acheson declared that the Near East Relief is coming into a new phase of work. "Except for Syria and Greece, there is little more than the normal amount of suffering in the Near East," he said. "It is true that the situation in those camps is desperate, and there are thousands of children there who will perish this winter simply because there are some folks in America who are getting tired of giving. Anyone who has ever seen the miracles that I have seen—homeless and hopeless, ragged children turned into happy, confident, healthful children—would never talk about being tired of giving."

"During the past year we saved 16,000 children from going blind and we trained hundreds of girls to go out as nurses to save the sight of other thousands of children, as well as to raise the health standards everywhere they go."

"Boys trained in modern methods of agriculture by Sam Newman of Seattle and Leonard Harthill of Corvallis, are revolutionizing the ideas of farmers who are securing twice their former crops by the use of these modern methods."

"Sometimes people say to me, 'Why don't these people do something for themselves?' And I wonder if they mean the children, some of whom begin as early as eight to help earn their own way."

"The Near East Relief is not giving aid to adult refugees except in the distribution of old clothing. And last year we gave help to 500,000 in this way. Our program is purely one of child-care, and as soon as our children are able to support themselves, our work will be finished. But these are children, mostly orphans, strangers in a strange land, with no claim whatever upon the governments who have given them a place to live."

Acheson declared that the Greek government is doing more to aid the refugees than all the relief agencies combined, and is spending more on them than on all governmental agencies combined.

AMERICAN IDEALS GIFT TO NEAR EAST

"I have always been interested in Near East Relief," stated a prominent social worker of Portland a few days ago, "but, until the last few months the whole thing seemed so hopeless it seemed to be just one dreary round of massacre and sorrow over and over again."

"I am sending a larger check this year for now that the children are out of Turkey and there is no more danger of massacre it seems to me we have the big chance for which we have been looking for these many years. It seems too good to be true that the massacres are ended but such is the case."

"Another thing that encourages me is the great constructive program which the relief agency is carrying out and where methods of education, hygiene and industry have replaced relief methods. This I understand is true of the larger part of the Near East program although much relief work is still necessary in the pitiful camps in Greece and Syria where thousands of children are still homeless and many will die this winter unless help is given."

"The going to the Near East of men like Dr. Paul Monroe of the Teachers College of New York and a nationally known authority on education, and Dr. R. R. Reeder, equally well known who with Dr. James I. Vance formerly moderator of the Presbyterian Church and the carrying out of their suggestions for the training of these children may mean much for the future welfare of that stricken country."

"I give money now to the Near East Relief just as I give it to a college or any other character forming organization in this country expecting my reward in knowing that boys and girls are being trained for successful lives in their own countries. One hundred thousand children going out through the Near East to carry American ideals of life and culture will be one of the greatest contributions that any people could possibly make to a war stricken land."

RELIEF WORK HEROINE BACK FROM NEAR EAST

MRS. W. E. RAMBO

Mrs. W. E. Rambo, a former resident of Chehalis, Klamath Falls and Baker, recently returned from the Near East.

She and her husband were singled out by the Queen of Greece for special thanks in connection with the rescue of fifty thousand Greeks in Batoum, following the World War. With her husband, she walked literally in the steps of the Apostle Paul as they took hundreds of children from a Turkish besieged village through Tarsus to safety on the Isle of Cyprus under the direction of the Near East Relief.

"We are familiar with suffering and even starvation," states Mrs. Rambo "before we went to the Near East for we spent our honeymoon in India in the midst of a great famine where hundreds of children were left at our very doors. With relief money sent from America we gave employment to hundreds of men who were thus able to support their families, and the buildings are in use today as orphan ages."

"Our oldest son, Victor, returned a few weeks ago as medical missionary to the very spot where he was born and he finds that the leaders in the community are the children whom we saved from death twenty-five years ago. With this experience back of us we naturally look for great results from Americans taking care of a hundred thousand children in the Near East."

ARMENIAN CHILDREN WANT AMERICAN FLAGS

Jerusalem.—Armenian children in the Near East Relief orphanages in Palestine and Syria have petitioned the American consul here to secure American flags for all their orphan age building. In a letter to the consul, they state: "It is the only flag we have, and the only one that means a homeland to us. America has been our father and mother, and we want the Stars and Stripes always with us as a constant reminder of what we owe to your country." The consul has invited contributions of flags, 1 foot by 5 feet, or larger.

ANCIENT CHANT REVIVED

Beirut, Syria.—For many centuries, children in Palestine have used, for grace before meals, a chant which has been handed down from early church fathers. The chant survives today as a three-daily exercise in all orphanages of the Near East Relief. Several thousand copies of words and music have been sent to America for use in the observance of Golden Rule Sunday on December 7.
