Odd Beliefs of Zulus
Recorded by Traveler

They believe that the earth, moon, sun, stars and indeed everything was created by a Supreme being called "Mvelingangi," i. e., "The First Appearer," though there seems to be no idea as to within what period all these things were made.

There is a tradition to the effect that all people originally came from a single pair, and this pair sprang from a bed of reeds; but where such a bed is to be found, tradition does not say. At the same time, if pressed, a Zulu would probably locate it somewhere in the North, seeing a deep-rooted tradition of their having descended from that direction is widely prevalent, not among them, but other allied peoples like the Basutos, Xosas, Swazis and Tansas. A certain fairly well-defined section declares that its ancestors "rolled down from the North in a large basket (isilulu)."

In my opinion the Zulu race today is the finest colored race in the world. There is hardly a man under six feet tall. They are good subjects to their chief and are a clean-living, law-abiding race. They have given no trouble to the Natal government since the bambata war of 1908. I have lived among them, so I know.—Adventure Magazine.

Pottery Maker Must Be Skilled in Art

Thrown pottery is shaped on a rapidly revolving disk. The preparation of the clay is a scientific process. The ingredients—ball clay, flint powder, feldspar and kaolin—are carefully selected and weighed in certain proportions, so that they will fuse properly and become sufficiently hard when shaped and fired. The mixture is left to stand until thoroughly soaked and then is lanned through fine linen and dumped into a plaster box which absorbs the water and leaves the clay in condition to be beaten. All the air bubbles must be driven out of the ball of clay before it is placed on the throwing wheel. Workers in pottery delight in the touch of the plastic clay as it spins upon the disk. The thumbs make the inside of the object while the extended fingers shape the walls. After the work of art is properly shaped it is put into a plaster box to become "leather hard" and is then finished or turned. The plain objects finally are ornamented and placed in the fire oven, and a still later baking process puts on the desired glaze.

Toadstone's Bogus Virtues
The toadstone is generally described as a species of black pebble of no especial beauty as an ornament. During the Dark Ages, however, it was in great demand. It was supposed to protect children from the molestation of fairies and to cure kidney and stomach troubles, says the Springfield Republican.

That a common toad wears a precious jewel in its head was a profound belief in the Middle Ages. Its possessor was supposed to be immune from toothache, so the legend runs, and it was a sure antidote for poisons. These creatures were said to forewarn against venom by transmitting a smarting sensation to the flesh. The toad was credited with having a natural fear and antipathy for man as well as for all venomous reptiles, hence its warning.

A Concession

"A young woman of our family returning home from a trip brought a gift for each of her mother's servants," writes a contributor. "For the laundress she had a silk blouse of a bright shade. 'That won't do for Hannah,' her mother said; 'her husband died and she is in mourning.'"

"Later in the day she showed Hannah the present she had intended for her and said she was sorry for the mistake, adding: 'I will give the blouse to Lizzie and get you something else.'"

"Hannah looked admiringly at the pretty garment and then said: 'Don't you give that blouse to no Lizzie, Miss Annabelle, 'cause next month I's gwine outa mournin' from de waist up.'"—Boston Transcript.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF THE STATE OF OREGON FOR UMATILLA COUNTY

Etta Elizabeth Elliott, Plaintiff, vs. George Francis Elliott, Defendant.

Summons Equity No. 3977.

To George Francis Elliott, the above named defendant.

In the Name of the State of Oregon, you are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit within six weeks from the first publication of this summons and you will take notice that if you fail to answer or plead herein within said time, the plaintiff for want thereof will apply to the above entitled Court for the relief prayed for in plaintiff's complaint filed in said cause, to-wit: for a decree of divorce dissolving the bonds of matrimony now and heretofore existing between the plaintiff and defendant and for an absolute decree of divorce in favor of plaintiff and against defendant.

This summons is published pursuant to an order of the Honorable Gilbert W. Phelps, Judge of the above entitled Court duly made and entered on the 12th day of January, 1925, directing that publication be made herein once a week for a period of six consecutive weeks in the Hermiston Herald, and the first publication hereof is made pursuant to said order this 15th day of January, 1925.

W. J. Warner, Attorney for Plaintiff.

Vol. 4. No. 1

Mid-year exams, which were conducted during the past week, established varying degrees of successes and failure. However the results, the majority of the students are glad to have attained more credits, and are looking upon themselves with more or less satisfaction.

A shocking but evident truth, was recently expressed in chemistry class. Frank Swazey Jr., on looking back at the rows of seats just quitted by himself and a few others in order that front seats might be occupied, remarked, "Hub, that back row is about as vacant as it was before we left it."

Miss Sestak is at school again after a week's absence caused by illness.

The Hi School is beginning work on the operetta "El Bandido," a musical comedy by May Hughes Dodge and John Wilson Dodge. Watch for further particulars.

On February 7th an interesting program is to be given consisting of an operetta, "The Toy Shop," by the lower grades and some dances and musical numbers by the lower grades and the high school glee club.

A brief synopsis of "The Toy Shop" is as follows: In the first scene the fairies, called together by their leader, Puck, have a meeting at midnight one night in May and plan to visit a certain toy shop.

A scene in the toy shop follows: The fairies admire the dolls, set the alarm so that it goes off, the dolls awaken and entertain the fairies. After a frolic together the clock strikes five, the dolls are forced to go back to sleep, the fairies must leave, and all is still in the toy shop once more.

The eighth grade will have a double header basket ball game with Umatilla the end of this week.

After mid-year exams the persons holding highest place in the eighth grade were found to be Edna Weisner first, and Ruth Bessel and Edith Sales tying for second.

Cats Have Positive Likes and Dislikes

Few persons really know their cats. Yet cats can talk, though it is a dumb language.

Give your cat for dinner something she doesn't like, and watch her sniff it, shake her right paw, and walk away in disgust. If she is really hungry and no other food offers she will return to the disliked dish, making a queer cackling hiss as she eats it, and saying, "Must have it if there's nothing else in the larder."

Watch her "smile" at you when she is pleased. She does this by closing her eyes very slowly and opening them again. A cat will "smile" like this every time when spoken to by someone she loves, says the Springfield Republican.

When in absolute ecstasy she will paw the air with outstretched claws. In making a new friend she will arch her back and hold up a trembling tail, saying, "I know you like me."

If there be a savory smell she will walk round and round your legs, rubbing them hard, and asking you to "burry with dinner."

It is wonderful how domesticated the cat has become. Yet we have only to see her knead her bed before settling to realize that the wild animal strain persists in her, for her ancestors turned round and round and round and knelt their heads to soften the forest growths.
