

A Short Message

A public speaker once said he had three invariable rules. He always stood up squarely so all could see, he spoke plainly so all could hear, and sat down quickly so all would be pleased.

We try to adopt a good bit of that in our advertising. We try to display our words so all can see, write clearly so all can read, and quit before the reader tires. Our message this week? We want you to do business with our bank, because we will render you the best service obtainable.

Water Is Literally Their Staff of Life
The most amazing race of human beings is undoubtedly the El Molo, a tribe of "fishmen" who inhabit the desert wastes bordering Lake Rudolf, in Kenya colony, Africa. This tribe represents the only known specimens of semiaquatic people and it is a curious fact that any tribesman dies if he is kept without water for about three hours. As a rule they drink every hour during the day, for even an hour and a half without water causes cracking and bleeding of the lips, the Boston Transcript says.

The El Moro tribesmen spend their days swimming in the waters of Lake Rudolf and fishing from frail rafts constructed with palm branches. Fish is almost their only diet and they have no opportunity of varying their menu, unless they are fortunate enough to spear a hippopotamus. The water of Lake Rudolf is undrinkable to anyone but the El Moro, for it contains a large quantity of soda and has an objectionable taste. The proportion of soda in that lake increases yearly, and it is believed to be this fact that has caused the "fishermen" to become a deformed race.

Suspicious Confirmed
The story is told of an engraver in the government printing shops at Washington who, at the time the first $20 yellowback gold certificates were issued received his salary in these new bills and decided to take a short trip to New York.

When paying his hotel bill in New York he handed the clerk one of the yellowbacks, whereupon the clerk turned it over several times, then refused as politely as he could to accept it, saying that he had never seen such a bill and thought it of no value.

"Why," said the engraver, "Of course it's good. I made it myself just last week."

"That's what I thought," returned the clerk as he rang for the house detective—Forbes Magazine.

Submarines
There are a number of things which make a submarine stay at varying depths in the water. First, this depends upon the size and weight of the boat; second, the density and condition of the water, and third, the mechanism of the boat. Some are built to go deeper than others. The coast submarines are constructed so as to stay at a more shallow depth. Senging submarines are constructed so as to remain at a depth of from 200 to 300 feet.

Cloth Made From Bark
A material, made from the bark of the wild mulberry, is beaten out with wooden mallets and decorated with designs made from vegetable dyes. A canopy of tapa cloth is used by a widow in Wanigela when she crawls on her hands and knees to make her daily visit to her husband's grave. She is hidden from the eyes of the villagers by a canopy of tapa cloth.

Green Grocer
"Have you any nice fresh eggs today?" asked the breezy customer.
"Madam," answered the man who had just started in the grocery business, "permit me to remind you that nice eggs are necessarily fresh and fresh eggs always nice. Moreover, if I have any I have them today. My possession of eggs yesterday or tomorrow does not affect the situation, therefore—"
"Humph!" snorted the woman as she started for the door, "eggs are not the only fresh things in this store. I'll do my trading elsewhere."—Boston Transcript.

Blessings of Quarantine
"I wish to thank the city authorities for quarantining my family and me recently for three weeks because one of them had smallpox. During that time my wife caught up with her sewing. We had three square meals every day, as no one came in and she was not permitted to leave. We enjoyed three weeks of good nights' sleep, and, best of all, a cousin with four children, who had arranged to visit us, saw the smallpox sign on the door and left town so scared that she will never come back again."

The above letter of thanks was received by a city health department recently.—From Hygeia.
