Sunday and Thursday. "Now we that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves."—Rom. 15: 1. A. Segsworth, pastor.

George Wagoner and wife left on Tuesday afternoon for Portland and other valley points.

Frank Silvey returned Wednesday morning from Klamath Falls where he had gone to look over the country in company with Sid Bowman. Sid did not return but will meet Mrs. Bowman in Portland Friday.

Mrs. Frank Bilderbeck was a Pendleton visitor Friday.

Julius Gimble has accepted a position as clerk in Mullins' confectionery. Herschel Hiatt who has held the job for some time past has resigned.

Jim Pearson was a business visitor in Pendleton Tuesday.

C. D. Fitzgerald, of La Grande, has accepted a position with the Mitchell Drug Co. of this city. Mr. Fitzgerald and wife have rented and are living in the Elliott house.

J. G. Lawler moved the first of the week to the Seaton place west of town.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. B. Smith of Irrigon, an eight pound girl on the fifteenth. Mr. Smith is better known as "Frenchy" and has made quite a reputation for himself in this locality as a boxer.

Otto Heini has accepted a position with a greenhouse at Wilsonville, Oregon. Mr. Heini expects to move his family to their new location just as soon as school is out.

Harold McKeen was unable to be at his usual place behind the counter of Kingsley's Wednesday on account of sickness.

There will be a silver tea given by the Baptist ladies aid at the home of Mrs. J. K. Shotwell next Wednesday afternoon. All the ladies are invited.

August Beisse is visiting his folks here for a few days from Longview, Wash. August is much enthused over the future of Longview and is now the owner of an apartment house in that city.

During the years that we have seen in the newspaper game we have announced hundreds of births thru the columns of the paper. But at this time it is with individual pride we announce the birth of a seven and a half pound girl to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Crowder. We want to call her "Spike" but the wife says it does not sound dignified and besides it is not an appropriate name for a girl, so guess we will have to live up as usual and let the Missus have her way.

A Modern Romance

By the shores of Cuticura, by the sparkling Pluto Waters, Lived the Prophylactic Chiclet, Dandrine, fair Buick's daughter. She was loved by Instant Postum; son of Sunkist and Victrola; heir apparent to the Mazda; of the tribe of Coca Cola; Thru the Tanlac strolled the overs— thru the Shredded Wheat they wandered— "Lovely little Wrigley Chiclet," were the Fairy words of Postum. Conscience Ruled Him

One of the witnesses at a royal commission appointed to inquire into a case of alleged bribery in an election stated that he had received $25 to vote Conservative, and in cross-examination it was elicited that he had also received $25 to vote Liberal.

Mr. Justice Matthew, in amazement, repeated:

"You say you received $25 to vote Conservative?"

"Yes, my lord."

"And you also received $25 to vote Liberal?"

"Yes, my lord."

"And for whom did you vote at the finish?" asked the astonished judge, throwing himself back in the chair.

And the witness, with injured dignity in every line of his face, answered with great earnestness:

"I voted, my lord, according to my conscience."—Vancouver Province.

Franklin Ranks High as Apostle of Thrift

Who does not remember Benjamin Franklin's advice: "Don't give too much for the whistle"? And by that he meant don't give more of thought or time or money for anything than it is worth. His unhappy experience with the whistle marked the beginning of Franklin's great work in the cause of thrift, the Thrift Magazine recalls.

He had few books but was determined to have an education. Many a time he would sit up nearly all night reading by candlelight. To buy more books, Franklin made a bargain with his brother, to whom he was apprenticed, by which he would board him self on half the money it had been costing. Then he did without fish and meat, lived on a cheap vegetable diet and invested his savings in worth while books.

He never attended a college or even a high school. He went to a primitive grammar school but two years and yet he was one of the best educated men of his day. He found time to write books, to study science, to invent. No one ever exemplified the value of thrift in time more than did Franklin. His "wise saws" on time saving, such as "Since thou art no sure of a minute, throw not away an hour," are known to all.

Policy of Silence Makes Few Enemies

A keen observer recently remarked that harsh words in the English language have more synonyms than pleasant words have. A little turning of the pages of the dictionary bears him out.

If you say a man tells the truth you have said it all. There is no neat and forceful way of emphasizing and enlarging upon that. But if you say he lies you will find a hundred subtlety ways to say it. From the "short and ugly" to "equivocate," "subtle," "prevaricate" and the like the list is long, says the Montreal Star.

One politician made himself famous by saying of another that he "was economical in the use of the truth to the verge of parsimoniousness." Such a statement draws a smile. It is bland, it is suave, it has the mild sting of vinegar, not the burning erosion of vitriol.

Even better than such elaborate circumlocutions to express a thing which at best we should have left unsaid is to forego for the moment being clever, and keep our peace. The world will think more highly of us for it.

When Pedagogues Kicked

Scotland's army of schoolmasters in the year 1782 sent a memorial to parliament pointing out that while their average income was £13 a year that of a plowman was £14 to £16. No relief was granted until 1802, when the Schoolmasters' act was passed, and their income was legally fixed at "not under 300 merks (£10 13s. 4d) nor over 400 merks (£22 4s. 8d)." The heritors had also to provide a house, "which need not contain more than two rooms, including the kitchen, and with ground for a garden or not more than a quarter of a Scots acre, or two bolls of meal as its equivalent." They were highly indignant at being obliged to "erect palaces for domines," but legal compulsion could no longer be ignored. Thereafter, conditions were at least good enough to prevent schoolmasters from resigning their office to become headless—as had actually happened during the darkest days!
