

POULTRY HOUSE IDEAS

The poor lumber dealer got an awful wallop not long ago. And this is the way it happened. Chicken houses were being built at least twelve high with a wonderful arrangement of sash and ventilators way up there so high that they might have served as "lookouts" in the time of invasion.

Since chickens are not built on the same plan as giraffes, folks began to realize that all that superstructure was unnecessary. Now they build their poultry houses not more than eight feet high at the highest place. They have found that the chickens can keep warmer and with a simple ventilating arrangement they do much better.

But it doesn't take near as much lumber to build this new style house, and that is why we feel discouraged, but it will brighten us up a great deal if you will build for 300 hens instead of for the 200 that you had thought of.

You can do it for the same money

We'll sell the same amount of lumber and you will have increased your capacity fifty per cent without additional expense. You'll be happy and so will we.

BREVITIES
Occurrences of Interest Cleared Here and There About the City and Neighborhood

Jack Biggs and Joe Norton were business visitors in Lexington Monday.

John Schimke and family were visitors Sunday at the Eugene Boylen home near Echo.

George Challis left Sunday for Wapato, Washington, with a truck load of household effects belonging to L. H. Berry, who is moving from this city to the above named town.

Methodist Episcopal church Sunday, Jan. 31—Sunday school at 10 a. m. Morning worship at 11 a. m. Epworth League at 7 p. m. Illustrated lecture at 8, "Mission Hospitals and equipment." Prayer and Bible study Thursday at 7:30 p. m. Henry Young, minister.

Word was received here this week from the Waugaman family, former residents of the project but now residing at Everson, Wash., telling of a serious mishap which befell Mr. Waugaman. While cranking a car the crank failed to release, striking his left hand shattering one bone so badly that he had to be taken to a hospital where holes were drilled in several places enabling them to be tied together. At about the same time Mrs. Waugaman suffered a fall down a flight of stairs severely spraining her foot.

The Neighborhood club met at the home of Mrs. Frank Beddow Jan. 27 with a good attendance. The Beddows are leaving soon for a wheat ranch near Pendleton. The Neighborhood club will give a farewell party for Mrs. Beddow at the home of Mrs. C. L. Upham next Wednesday, Feb. 3. It will be an all day affair. Friends of Mrs. Beddow and all old members invited. The next regular meeting of the club will be at the home of Mrs. Fowler Feb. 10.

The Community club will meet February 2 at the library. Mrs. E. P. Dodd will give a book review of the prize novel, "Wild Geese," also Mrs. Brownson will give reviews of several of the new books.

At the Hotel Corlis, formerly the Hermiston hotel, last Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Callahan entertained about sixty guests at a dancing party.

Mrs. Floyd Knerr and Mrs. C. B. Lomax were hostesses to the Baptist ladies aid at a tea on Wednesday afternoon. The afternoon was devoted to sewing and games provided by the entertainment committee. Delicious refreshments were served. Those present voted the event a most enjoyable one.

Whence Cocoa Comes

The cocoa plant is now grown in many districts of the tropical belt, and its consumption, in one form or another, has increased all over the world. It is an evergreen, and is equal in size to a well-grown apple tree. The pods, about eight inches long, grow out of the trunk, and are red, yellow, black and purple, according to the season. There are twenty or thirty pale red beans inside each pod, embedded in a soft white pulp. Cocoa groves are never planted solely with cocoa trees.

Although it grows best in hot countries, it is delicate, and has to be protected from the sun, and for this purpose forest trees are planted in the groves. Some of these grow to a great height and have a tufted head like a natural sunshade. These protecting trees are called "Cacao Madra," or cocoa-mother.

Squirrel's "L"

A telephone wire might be termed a public highway, but rather a highway of speech than one for transportation.

However, this fact does not seem to be generally known, at least not among our animal friends. From Wilmington, Del., comes the story of a squirrel that travels a mile every day by telephone wire for its meals, crawling all the distance along the wires. William Krause, a grocer, some little time ago coaxed the squirrel down from a telephone pole by offering it nuts, and since then the squirrel has made its appearance every day. Out of curiosity, Krause followed it one morning and found that its nest was in the woods fully a mile distant.—Telephone Service Bulletin.

Card of Appreciation

I take this means of thanking all of the patrons of the Mutual cream station for their business in the past. Our business relations have been gratifying and appreciated by me. I have sold the station to Mr. Cecil Warner who will endeavor to run the business along the same lines that I have conducted it.

L. H. BERRY.

NOTICE

I wish to assure the butterfat producers of this project that my only desire is to give you a square deal, and that I shall try to uphold the same principles that Mr. Berry has always held in his dealings with you. I shall retain Miss Nation as tester. You who have watched her from month to month know that she is an expert in this line.

C. WARNER,
Manager Mutual Creamery Co.,
Hermiston, Oregon.

TAKEN UP NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that I have taken up and kept for about 7 days at the H. J.
