

SAFETY DEPOSIT BOXES

Serve so many purposes so well and at such slight cost that their use is becoming well nigh universal.

They may be used for the safe keeping of deeds, abstracts, insurance policies, bonds, receipts and a hundred and one other valuable records, the loss of any one of which would pay box rent for half a life time.

We still have several boxes to rent. The cost is trifling, a third of a cent a day. Ask us about a box the next time you are in the bank, or write or telephone.

BREEDERS START WITH LITTLE

and I'll bet they will make dandies. We have only lost the weak half."

And so each spring Mr. Holmes lets the great guns of the Pacific fleet cull his growing chicks and is developing a strain of poultry unsurpassed for vigor. Last year his gross income was well over $100,000. All glory to him a New York born and bred poultry man.

I notice in this month's O. K. the death of the surviving brother of the famous Corliss brothers poultry farm. Ray Corliss was drowned five years ago while on a fishing trip, and Wesley was killed while answering the call of a friend from the roadside. Turning in his car to see who was calling he drove his touring car off a built up grade turning bottom side up in the ditch and breaking his neck.

The Corliss brothers run 47,000 hens on 65 acres and were planning to reach 60,000 this year. Wesley Corliss had only recently purchased 12 more acres to hold this increase of flock. Only 3 months old pullets are purchased by the Corliss farm and not a male bird or a baby chick is allowed on the place. Twenty years ago the Corliss brothers founded this great poultry production ranch with 200 hens and nothing else for assets. So why can't some one of us here in Hermiston reach heights undreamed of?

It is all ahead of us and most of us have the major portion of our lives to accomplish it in. Perhaps a desire to be a world beater lies within the heart of every one of us, and if we will apply ourselves diligently to our poultry farm as these men have done, we may yet reach an equal position in the hall of fame.

THOUSANDS OF RABBITS KILLED DURING CAMPAIGN

Results from poisoning rabbits has been excellent this winter according to H. J. Ott, one of the project leaders on rodent control. During the past few weeks 85 ounces of strychnine has been put out in areas where the rabbits have been plentiful. Checks made in several instances have caused farmers to arrive at the conclusion that approximately 500 rabbits have been killed by each ounce of poison.

KENNEDY IS ON WRESTLING CARD IN PENDLETON TONIGHT

Jack Kennedy, middleweight wrestler, former resident who recently returned here to live, will be on a 30 minute special event at Pendleton this evening. Ted Thye of Portland and "Bull" Montana of motion picture fame, winner of many masculine beauty contests, will furnish the headline attraction for the card. "I don't know who my opponent will be," Kennedy said, "but I'm in pretty fair shape, so I'm not worrying."

Kennedy wrestled here several years ago. Since leaving Hermiston he has increased his knowledge of the fine points of the game. Tentative plans now in the making look to a match in Hermiston the latter part of this month.

BIG CROWD ENJOYS LIVELY PROGRAM AT MINNEHAHA

Community Affair Saturday Night Full of Laughs for Audience That Fills Building.

A big community meeting and entertainment, one of a series, was held at Minnehaha school house last Saturday night under the direction of the special committee in charge of such affairs, and the program proved highly pleasing to the crowd that packed the house to capacity.

Dialogues, recitations and musical numbers filled the program which was followed by an informal feed. The dialogues and recitations all had their share of comedy and kept the crowd in high good humor. The program was as follows: Community singing "Sending a Telegram," dialogue; M. T. Matott and Mrs. R. E. McFall. Recitation, Roy Pearson. Vocal duet by Grace Jackson and Virginia Rodda.

"The Minister's Mistake," dialogue; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Watson and Mrs. Chester Flannigan. Recitation, Mr. Stitts. Piano solo, Ruth Kaiser. Recitation, Mrs. Hineidine. "Tin Cans," a talk, by W. G. Rodda.

"Down With the Lever," dialogue; Charles and James McElroy and Carl Calkins. Recitation, Clint Jackson. Violin duet, Mrs. M. T. Matott and L. Hamm. Recitation, Rev. G. F. Watson. "Madison Square," a dramatic incident; Mrs. Rodda, Chester Flannigan, R. E. McFall, M. T. Matott and Mr. Harris and son. Among the visitors who were "smoked out" for brief talks were Bert Nation, Dr. D. S. Rowe and J. S. Harvey, editor of the Herald.

- (2) Energy.
- (3) Abiding enthusiasm.
- (4) Faith.
- (5) Skill.
- (6) Courage.
- (7) Responsibility.
- (8) Experience.

COUNTY HEALTH NURSE REPORTS ABOUT WORK DONE

Following is the report for the month of January, made by Miss Edna Flanagan, county health nurse, as reported by Mrs. H. E. Shesley:

"During January 182 visits were made for all purposes; investigative, instructive, nursing and miscellaneous.

"Seventy-one letters were written and 362 were sent out for the association. Eight schools were visited and 17 visits were made to schools. Nine hundred and seventy-eight miles were traveled in interest of work.

"Seven hundred ninety-eight school children were weighed and the physical examination was given. Of the 793, 192 had defective teeth, 158 suspected nasal obstruction and 103 were 7 per cent or more underweight 15 were 20 per cent or more overweight.

"In the recent reports from the state board of health we are finding an increasing large number of small pox throughout the state. This is due our physicians say to the lack of vaccination which has so effectively controlled smallpox for a number of years in the past. The last report from Dr. Stricker shows no cases from this county."

Bird Cripples Live Under Big Handicap

As in the case of human beings, so in bird life there are those which for some reason or other are fated to go through life with certain handicaps. Unfortunately, man is mainly responsible for bird cripples. Rabbit trapping, as carried on today, is responsible for damage to thousands of pheasants. No less than 50 per cent of those shot in a small wood recently had only one foot, but they had managed to survive and were in perfect condition apart from this damage.

Smaller birds often get a leg smashed, but seem able to get along without it by hopping on the sound one and using their wings. Not only will a starling just manage to exist under such conditions, but it will fight and scramble after food and manage to hold its own.

In wild-fowling it is frequently found that after a large flock of birds has been put to flight a smaller number remain behind and seem loath to fly. If these were examined through a good pair of glasses, they will be seen to be the halt and the lame that have been damaged in some part of the body.

Nature has a rough-and-ready way of healing their hurts and many cripples survive for a time. Few birds that are born cripples survive for long, for their enemies are many and the weakest are the first to go.

Blackened Character

The city of Pueblo, Colo., is, on account of its smelting and refining works, one of the smoggiest cities in the world. One winter a traveler stepped from a train at Denver, and walking up to a policeman, asked him the way to a certain hotel. The officer cast a scornful eye on the man, who was covered with soot and grime, so that he looked like a chimney sweep, and laconically inquired of the stranger if he were a coal miner. "No," said the dirty one, "I am not a coal miner nor a charcoal burner. Neither am I in the coal business. More than that, I am not a negro minstrel."

Land of Lottery

Lottery tickets are sold in Madrid just the same as newspapers are sold on the streets in the United States. One is never out of range of the lottery ticket seller. Everybody indulges in this dissipation, and there is ample opportunity for there is a state lottery distribution every two weeks. There are official agencies, but these seem to be patronized only by those who buy the tickets to sell again. Ordinarily purchases are made of the persons along the street who call their wares just as the huckster and newsboys do, and as the day for the drawing approaches they grow more and more excited, each one claiming that he is about to sell the lucky ticket. Hunchbacks are the best salesmen, for there is a superstition that these persons bring or give luck.—Chicago Journal.

Harbors Lacking in Chile

Chile is a land without harbors. Steamers stop in the open sea and boats come alongside. The water is filled with sea lions, and the rovers often have to push them away with their oars.

Antofagasta is a busy town, built upon rock and sand. In order to make a public garden the people had to import earth from other countries, but the small flowering park is a tribute to the people's tenacity.

Vantage Points

A certain motorist, very indignant, indeed, drew up beside a young man on a country road. "See here!" he shouted to the young fellow, "why do you have these bumps every here and there on this young fellow?" "Why," said the young fellow, with a simulated air of surprise, "didn't you notice? They were put there so as to give a fellow's car a start to jump the puddles!"
