In a class in United States history in the Hermiston high school the other day during a discussion on the effects of immigration on opportunities left in this country for young Americans it developed that half a dozen boys declared their faith in the possibilities afforded on their project by scientific farming. They told of their plans to secure success by modern farming. The faith of the young men is normal and to be expected, and mention is made of it merely to let the outside world know the cities do not glitter like lighthouse beacons to everyone now living in the country.

As the legislature muddles its nose too brilliant way it becomes increasingly evident that Oregon did better than it knew when it named Ike Patterson governor. To date the executive has displayed more real leadership under the pressure of extraordinary conditions than both houses of the legislature combined.

MOVE WEEDS AWAY FROM FENCES, STILLINGS SAYS

"I have to get good and mad at least once each year," said H. J. Stillings when in the Herald office Monday for a moment. "What makes me maddest is to see people burn weeds along their fences. The weeds should be pulled clear away from fencing before it is burned. Otherwise the soldering covering on the wires is melted, and the body of the wire is then exposed to the action of the elements. It rusts out in a very short time when so exposed."

Fence posts are often burned off when weeds are left along the fence to burn in addition to the damage done the wire. Mr. Stillings said:

Rev. Ware Honored

Rev. A. J. Ware, pastor of the Baptist church, was honored by being elected president of the County Council of Religious Education at the meeting held last Friday at Weston. Delegates from the local church who attended the meeting included J. Skovbo, Misses Ruth Bessell and Nell Reeves.
