MONEY SENT AWAY

For apparent bargains as often as not fails to bring back the value anticipated. The materials may almost suit and still lack enough to make the purchase a disappointment.

There's No Excuse

For sending out of town for printing. Very few individuals or firms are doing that today for the simple reason that they can depend on the Herald's fast service, dependable workmanship and reasonable prices for quality printing.

In addition, customers have the knowledge that any aid in the way of special knowledge about forms we have, is at their disposal in helping them solve the problem of that new piece of printing. Figure your next job of printing with your community printing factory.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL BREVITIES

Dr. M. S. Kern and his father, Fred Kern, were here from Pendleton Tuesday.

Mrs. J. Skovbo and two children and Mrs. Floyd Knerr are in Portland on a vacation trip.

"While London Sleeps," featuring Rin-Tin-Tin, Saturday and Sunday, at Cozy Theatre, Umatilla.—Adv.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Biggs and sons and Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Harvey and children spent the week end at Wallowa lake.

Dr. and Mrs. R. G. Gale have been here for several days from Klickitat, Washington, visiting friends. They formerly lived here.

H. K. Dean, superintendent of the experiment farm, was in Pendleton on business connected with his work Monday.

Mrs. C. A. Stephenson and daughters, Marie Lou and Lavelle, are here from Perry, Oregon, as guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Wright.

Ralph "Shorty" Longhorn left this morning for Pendleton to begin his duties as driver of the Troy laundry truck that serves this territory.

Mrs. C. C. Durfee and Mrs. L. A. Phelps have returned from Seaside where they spent more than a week on a vacation trip.

J. M. Biggs will be in Portland Monday to attend a meeting of the executive committee of the American Legion. He is a committee man in the sixth district.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Warner and daughter Jane and Mrs. Mabel Ralph and three daughters left Wednesday for Seaside where they will spend a week.

Joe Neary, graduate from the Hermiston high school with this year's class, left Monday for Oakland, California, where he will enter St. Mary's college. He will take a pre-medicine course.

Shipments of cantaloupes and watermelons are being made at a lively rate by Irrigon growers, according to Mrs. C. E. Glasgow who was here yesterday. The melons are ripening very rapidly during the past few days.

Dr. H. C. Curry, the Seattle Eye-sight Specialist who has made professional visits to Hermiston twenty years and is known for good optical work at reasonable price will again be at Hermiston Hotel Saturday, August 20, for one day. Eyes examined. Glasses fitted.—adv.

Rev. Henry Young, formerly pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church in Hermiston, was here a short time yesterday. He left here for Pasco to visit his son and from there will go home to Hood River. The apple crop in that district this year will be one-third of a crop, or about 3,000 carloads less than in 1926, he said. Strawberries sold by the association this year brought a gross return of $3.75 f. o. b. The raspberry crop was not profitable, he said, many patches remaining unpicked.

Mr. and Mrs. William Shaar were Pendleton visitors Monday.

A. H. Norton was off duty at the bank Monday on account of an infection in his left arm.

Mrs. Ida Knight, with Mr. Knight and their children, a guest at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. McCoy, is doing photographic work during her visit. She is specializing in portrait work of children and goes to private homes in taking the pictures. She will also take farm scenes.

The Twin Falls project in the Snake river valley is producing wonderful crops this year, according to Rev. C. C. Curtis, pastor of the Christian church in Twin Falls. With Mrs. Curtis and their two children he stopped in Hermiston for a short time Tuesday morning. The family was en route to Portland and other valley and coast points.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Waller and daughter returned Friday after a trip to Salem and other points in the Willamette valley. They visited Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Phipps, former project residents, near Salem. They were also in Eugene, Corvallis and Albany. They returned home by way of the Mt. Hood loop road. The Phipps have a very desirable place, Mr. Waller said.

I. N. Hartsook, former Hermiston resident, was here the first part of the week from Oregon City, where he is now living. He was called here because of the destruction of a yard of bees which he has been having kept on the James Neary ranch. After an investigation of the yard, he offered a reward for information leading to information that will convict the party or parties who killed the honey gatherers.

C. S. McNaught returned Wednesday from the beach where he has been on a vacation.

Weather Changes
The hot weather that has prevailed for three weeks was broken Wednesday by a west wind. The wind strengthened today and resulted in a much lower temperature than has been prevailing since summer came.

Many Odd Forms of Home Savings Banks

From Manila comes direct evidence that the Filipinos believe in growing their own coin banks. The two most popular forms are a section of bamboo with a slit and firmly sealed on both ends, and the other is a carefully hulled and polished coconut. The bamboo bank is called an "Arkancia" and the coconut a "Tubo." Both are pretty good at defying the attempts of children to get at the contents, because they are very difficult to break.

Although coin banks are not widely used in the Argentine there is one which serves a double purpose, particularly in the interior of the country. This is an artistically decorated gourd which though primarily intended as a receptacle for tea drinking is sometimes converted into a coin bank. The tea drunk in the Argentine is known as "mate." It is sipped from the gourd by means of a metal tube called a "bombilla." The gourd tube passed from one to the other at table is considered a gesture of real friendship and regard.

Bulls and animals, attractively colored, are very popular as designs for children's coin banks in France. Singapore uses no design typical of that section of the world, the favorite receptacle being a tin can with a slit at the top.—Exchange.

On Reclamation Projects

A marketing association for handling poultry products is being organized on the Grand Valley project, with an initial membership controlling 50,000 hens. The organization will include Delta and Montrose counties.

Checking of the records in the office of the attorney for the Vale-Oregon irrigation district on June 30 showed that 6,450 acres had been signed up on the "incremented value" contracts and 2,000 acres in the "excess land" contracts, described in the New Reclamation Era last month.

During the month of June, 31 entrymen, making a total of 113, had been awarded farm units and filed water rental applications in the Tule Lake division of the Klamath project. About 10 units remained on which applications had not been filed. More than 70 per cent of the entrymen have started development of their units, and it is estimated that about 2,500 acres of these lands will be cropped or under cultivation this year.

The annual report of the Milk-Cassia Dairymen's association, Milk-doka project, shows a marked growth in business during the year. A total of 352,568 pounds of butterfat was handled at an average price of 43 cents a pound. The association paid out during the year $151,604.24 in cream checks to the farmers for milk and cream. Expansion of business required additional quarters, which were obtained at the old Burley potato chip mill, which has been remodeled and where railroad trackage is available.

Clean up prices on last year's crop on the Yakima project have been much better since the first of the year than was expected, with the result that the returns from both apples and potatoes held in storage were practically $1,000,000 more than had been estimated.

Turkey thieves have been active on the Newlands project and it is believed that a well-organized gang with several avenues of disposition of stolen birds is at work. The loss to several growers has been considerable.

Many Kinds of Bark in Use as Medicine

The United States Pharmacopoeia lists 17 kinds of bark used in medicine. There are, however, no less than 35 kinds of bark altogether grown in America which are more or less widely used for preparing simple, homemade remedies, although only 1 are classed as "officials."

Some are valued, for example, as febrifuges, chief of which, of course is the Peruvian bark or cinchona, in which the world owes the price-reducing boon of quinine.

A second class includes those which exert a cathartic or laxative effect and of these the most highly prized is the bark of the graceful little buck thorn tree found in California, and known by its Spanish name of casaca sagrada (sacred bark).

A third class includes those which stimulate the flow of one or another of the secretions of the body, such as the saliva, gastric juice, perspiration mucus, etc.

Others are soothing in nature, such as an infusion of slippery elm, and many may be used for preparing soothing drafts in cases of sore throats, etc. Still others are said somewhat vaguely to possess "tonic" properties.
