SCHOOL NEWS

The football banquet Saturday November 26 was a complete success. It began at 7:30 and was held in the Methodist church. Mr. Cherry was toastmaster and several of the boys made speeches. George McKenzie spoke on "Necks," John Newell's was "The Coach," Mr. Walenta's was "The Team," and Lester Carson's was "The Girls." Ruth Bensen spoke about "The Boys."

The interclass debates will begin December 16. All of the classes are looking forward to be the winners.

The annual high school basketball practice will start Tuesday evening. The basketball shack has recently been repaired and showers installed.

The public speaking department have been handicapped by lack of books and material for interpretation. This year they have decided to give a public paid performance, the object of which will be to get money to buy books and material for the department. The program will also show the work the department is doing. Plans are being made and the program will be put on some time in January.

A school is commonly thought of as a quiet building in which students are at work. No one need be alarmed when they pass near our school building and watch it swell with the songs of our happy glee club students. There is a reason for this change from quietness to much singing which the hard working music teacher would tell you if you asked. To save you the trip to the teacher and to save her the bother, I will tell you the cause of this singing. A vaudeville is going to be presented by the high school on December 16. So, when you hear singing in the high school you know a vaudeville or an operetta is coming.

The seventh grade is giving a small play for their father's and mother's on Friday afternoon, December 2.

The first grade is going to give a small pageant at the Parent Teacher association, Thursday afternoon, Dec. 8.

Selections are being ordered for contestants in the declamatory contest and work will be started on them as soon as everyone has obtained his selection. Each contestant will be given the same amount of coaching. So far 23 pupils have enrolled for the contest but it is expected that there will be many more.

The vaudeville that the high school will put on December 16 will be the work of about fifty students. There will be almost every kind of comedy and a great variety of songs. There will be scenes from Romeo and Juliet, Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Sheen, a robber scene, and many other comedies. The students are singing some of the latest song hits with much success. Be sure to come and have a laugh that will brighten you up.
