THE START IS MADE

For several years growers of turkeys on the project have looked forward to the time when the volume here would reach the point where co-operative marketing under some plan would be feasible.

The results, by and large, seem to be pleasing and the pool selling a success. In some respects local growers are not 100 per cent satisfied, but the start has been made, and that is of much importance.

Practically every grower profited by the deal in the knowledge gained of market requirements, and they are all determined to turn this knowledge to account in later shipments.

This sort of attitude toward any problem assures its satisfactory solution eventually.

SCHOOL NEWS

The second number on the high school program of this year is to be given on Thursday evening, December 8 at 8 o'clock. Birch the Prince of Magic will entertain us with spiritism unveiled, spirit writing, table floating and other spirit manifestations.

The first, second and third grades will present a Christmas pageant at the Parent-Teacher association meeting on Thursday afternoon, December 8 at 3 o'clock.

The high school girls have been discussing having a basketball team. Many of the girls want the game but due to some objections it will be decided upon before the Parent-Teacher association Thursday afternoon, December 8. The vote of the parents will decide the matter.

The following people have been absent from school this week: Walther Ott, Marda Hannan and Lester Carson.

Mary Brownson has returned to school this week after a few days of illness.

Ina Lenhart spent the week end at Alpine.

Mr. Walter Warner went to Pendleton for the week end.
