Occurrences of Interest Gleaned Here and There About the City and Neighborhood

Rev. A. J. Ware has been in Portland several days to attend a state committee meeting of the Baptist church.

A business meeting of the Baptist Ladies Aid society will be held Wednesday afternoon, February 8, in the church basement.

Mr. and Mrs. Pearson of Lena are here as guests at the home of their son, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Pearson. The Pearsons are on the place formerly farmed by Harry Watson.

Mr. and Mrs. Oral Henriksen have moved onto the place south of town formerly owned by S. E. Starr which they recently acquired by a trade. They came from La Grande.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. McKenzie entertained at dinner parties last Saturday and again on Tuesday evening. Covers for twelve guests were laid each evening, and after dinner bridge was enjoyed.

B. S. Kingsley was called to White Salmon, Washington, the first of the week. Fire in a store adjoining his store there did some damage to his stock, and he went down to secure an adjustment on his loss.

Mrs. F. C. McKenzie was hostess at a luncheon and bridge party last Thursday afternoon. Covers were laid for 12 for the luncheon. Prize winners at bridge were Mrs. H. T. Fraser and Mrs. H. E. Hitt.

C. M. Jump, manager of the Stanfield project, was a visitor in Hermiston today. He will be the leader of club work on the Stanfield project this year and is making plans for the organization meeting to be held there Saturday night.

Special services in Hermiston will be held Tuesday evening, February 7, by the Salvation army. The services are to start at 7:30 in the Free Methodist mission. Captain Eggert of Pendleton will be in charge of the meeting.

Miss Dorothy Hitt entertained the members of the L. S. C. club with a delightful dinner party last Saturday night. Those present were: Misses Ruth and Elba Hamrick, Anna Galcher and Ruth Bensel. After supper a business meeting of the L. S. C. was held.

Charley McElroy and his motor left last Friday for their new home near Wallowa. They made the trip with R. E. McFalls in his car. Carl Calkins went up with their car of livestock which was shipped Thursday. Mr. Calkins returned home with Mr. McFalls Monday.

The Women's auxiliary of the Farm Bureau will meet Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The session will be a social one and will take the form of a hard times party. Members have been requested to bring a hard times gift package, and the lunch will also carry out the hard times idea.

A welcome to the project was extended Mr. and Mrs. Tony Sherrod by a large group of their neighbors when an informal party and reception was held in their honor Monday night at Minehahaha school house. They recently arrived here from Wallowa after an exchange of property with the McElroys.

Union services at the Baptist church Sunday, February 5. Bible school 10 A. M. Morning worship 11 A. M. Theme, The Upper Room. Special music. Solo, Miss Sansted. The Lord's supper. Evening services: Young people's meeting 6:30 P. M. Preaching 7:30 P. M. Theme, Physical Blessing and Religious Duty. Special music. A cordial welcome to all. A. J. Ware, pastor.

At the Methodist church—Sunday school at 10 A. M. Morning service at 11. The sermon subject will be, "Nothing But Leaves." Good singing. Come and join the mixed choir. Young peoples meeting at 6:30. All young people are welcome. They are studying "The Christ of the Indian Road." You will enjoy it. Evening service at 7:30. Subject, "Selling the Birthright." S. Hamrick, pastor.

Al Henriksen, father of Oral and Clifford Henriksen who recently traded for the S. E. Starr ranch south of town, was here yesterday. "We expect to get away from wheat farming and back into the sheep and cattle business just as fast as we can," said he. "Our plans are to stock this ranch here with purebred sheep as soon as we can get around to it."

Dr. M. S. Kern was here Tuesday on a business mission.

Mrs. Charles Cook is confined to her bed on account of illness.

F. B. Swayze is in Portland on a business mission.

"It looks to me as if the turkey growers up here have done pretty well this year," was the comment yesterday of Charles Glasgow who with J. L. Graybeal was a visitor in Hermiston from Irrigon. "We started work on our gymnasium and expect to push it right along. We are using donation labor on the excavating."

Charles McElroy, former project resident, is a patient in a La Grande hospital on account of a dislocated shoulder and a fractured shoulder blade, according to information received by friends here. The injury was sustained before Mr. McElroy and his mother left Hermiston last week, but he did not realize then the extent of his injuries.

SUPT. YEAGER TO SPEAK TO HERMISTON P. T. A.

J. A. Yeager, county school superintendent, will be the chief speaker at the next session of the Parent-Teacher association. The meeting will be held at 3 o'clock in the high school, Thursday, February 9.

"Supt. Yeager's talk will be of particular interest to those from the rural districts," J. H. Reid, president, said, "and we wish particularly to have parents of school children who live in the country to hear Mr. Yeager's talk."

Camouflage of High Order Saved Convict

Extraordinary tales of adventure, death and escape from the French islands of exile off the Guiana coast are told by Blair Niles, the first woman to visit the prison islands.

"There was, for example," she writes, "the convict stationed on one of the Devil's island group, who, some months ago was missing at the five o'clock roll call. At that hour the keepers are busy rounding up the men and locking the correct number into each dormitory for the night. Number X was missing; he failed to answer to his name. Search was made of the three islands. It revealed nothing. The sun was sinking; in a few moments the tropical night would fall. The canoe men were commanded to launch the boats; far, far out a speck was seen on the deserted ocean. The prison authorities focused their glasses. But they saw only a dark mass on the surface and above it the great spreading horns of one of the water buffalo which the administration imports from French Indo-China. Only a dead water buffalo floating out to sea. They revoked the order to the canoe men. Anyway, darkness had suddenly shut down.

"But the prisoners knew that the dead water buffalo was one of their comrades, his body bound to a plank and covered with banana leaves, while with arms and legs he swam desperately. The buffalo horns—didn't a buffalo die on the islands only last week? The horns were the escaping convict's camouflage."—From the Forum.

Mail Service Older Than Christian Era

Communications were sent from town to town by more or less regular service in the reign of Cyrus, the great Persian conqueror, 600 years before the Christian era. Four centuries later Queen Jezebel wrote letters and sent them throughout the Jewish kingdom, to which she affixed the name of King Ahab, and sealed them with the king's seal. In the Book of Esther mention is made of sending letters by post throughout the royal provinces. About the beginning of the First century Augustus, the great Roman emperor, established a system of communication throughout the empire. Marco Polo, the Venetian traveler, reported that as long ago as 1280 China had no less than 10,000 post stations. The term post as applied to a system of mail transportation had its origin in France in the Sixteenth century, where a general system of communication was set up by the government.—Detroit News.

Their Work Never Done

There are 30 men working in Paris who never can hope to get their work done. They are painters who hoist their scaffolds to the top of the Eiffel Tower and, working downward, paint each strut and girder until finally they reach the ground. This operation takes 12 months and then they must at once take their scaffold to the top and begin anew.

Champions of Mules

George Washington and Henry Clay were the foremost champions of the American mule. The greatest trouble with the animals since is their owners.—American Magazine.

Look Forward

The man who continuously looks backward doesn't make much progress. As the saying goes, "he lives in the past," not even in the present. So far as the future is concerned "he's a dead one."—Grit.
