Political Season Opens

Even without looking at the calendar and finding for ourselves that the primary elections are to be held within three months, there are certain indications that bring home to us the fact that we are about to have again the privilege of taking a direct hand in governmental business by naming candidates.

Interest is being displayed all along the line from national affairs down to community politics. While no public announcements have been made, several men who aspire to county offices are already actively at work trying to gauge public opinion to ascertain their chances. The same is true as to the legislative offices.

Sheriff Cookingham will undoubtedly run again for the republican nomination. He was nominated four years ago on an independent ticket. He has made no public announcement but is already at work. Whether he will have opposition in the primaries is still problematical, though that there has been much talk that Tom Gurdane, until recently chief of police at Pendleton, joint captor with C. L. "Buck" Lluellan, of Wm. Hickman, will be a candidate for the republican nomination for sheriff. Lluellan has also been mentioned.

Locally quite a few persons have evinced a desire to vote for H. A. Pankow for sheriff, but he has no political aspirations and is giving the matter no consideration.

In the presidential race the name of Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, is much in the foreground as far as republican politics are concerned, with others being talked of to quite an extent. Governor Smith is receiving most publicity of the democrat possibilities.

Carl Abrams has announced as a candidate of the republican party. Hal the ordinary amount of interest in the E. Hoss has resigned as private secretary to Governor Patterson, presumably to make his formal announcement in the near future, if the chances look good to him.

All in all, it looks as if the political pot may boil hard enough this spring and fall to arouse more than the ordinary amount of interest in the elections. That is as it should be. There can not be too much interest displayed in selecting servants of government.

WHATZWAT
(In the Seventh Grade)

Stanton, the secretary of war, had an uncontrollable temper. He often flew into fits over the conduct of the war. One day he started some fiery criticism about a general before President Lincoln. The longer he talked the angrier he grew. At last President Lincoln said, "Why not write a letter to this general, telling him just what you think of him?" Stanton said, "A good idea. I think I will try it." The next day he showed the letter to Lincoln. "Excellent, excellent," said Lincoln. "You told him just what you think of him. Now what are you going to do with it?" "Send it to him of course," Stanton said. "What would you do with it?" Lincoln answered, "I would put it in the waste basket now that you have relieved your mind." After a few moments thought without a trace of anger left Stanton threw the letter in the waste-basket.

ATHENA MIXES DATES AND FAILS TO SHOW FOR GAMES

Due to a misunderstanding in the dates of their schedule Athena high school basket ball teams did not come to Hermiston last Friday night. The large crowd was disappointed as this promised to be a close game.

After refunding the admission fee Coach Walenta announced that a game between two teams to be made up of the whole squad would be played for the benefit of the crowd. Logan Todd was struck by an attack of spring fever and donned a uniform to work it off. The game was fast and interesting but with many fouls.

This Friday the locals play the Umatilla five on the local floor. It will be a double header. On Friday the high school girls team will play a team made up of the local teachers and the boys will play the town team or the American Legion five.

INCOMES ON OREGON FARMS

feed available which is the economic basis here.

Dairying Prospect Good

Dairy situation is favorable with increasing demands for products, without corresponding national increase in production, though high quality of butter must be produced. Little alarm need be felt over shipment of cows from state, as they are being fully replaced with better ones.

Surplus eggs of this state comprise but a small percentage of the total production. National volume will be little affected if Oregon production is doubled or trebled. The poultry business in this state is fundamentally sound but depends as much on safe management as on current egg prices.

Apple production has reached its peak in the northwest. Larger units production at low cost is vital to profits. Little if any increase in Bartlett pear acreage is warranted. Peach production can be improved in quality and grading with profit, though no great acreage expansion is warranted except under exceptional growing and marketing conditions.

No increase in acreage of brambles can be recommended except in localities of exceptional cultural conditions and marketing facilities. Vegetable growing for canneries is on the increase in Oregon, having expanded more than 300 per cent since 1920. Walnut markets are being affected somewhat by fluctuating production in competing areas. Filberts are remaining more stable.

The complete report contains detailed figures and trends on which recommendations are based.

The POLICY of PROGRESS

A STATEMENT by GENERAL MOTORS

IT is the policy of General Motors to maintain continuous improvement, in every one of its car divisions, with no interruption in production.

This means that you enjoy the benefits of new engineering developments promptly — just as soon as they have been thoroughly tested on the 1245-acre Proving Ground.

It means that you can now order the new Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Oakland, Buick, LaSalle, Cadillac, or GMC Truck, and receive immediate delivery.

Behind this policy of continuous improvement is an organization so widespread and resourceful that it can make and sell quality automobiles more economically than any automobile manufacturer in the world.

In the north and south it logs and mills its own lumber. In the east it makes its own ball bearings and radiators. In the middle west it produces its own plate glass. Its plants are busy in 33 important American cities.

From almost 5,000 suppliers, its materials are obtained—steel by the hundreds of thousands of tons—wire by the tens of thousands of miles—upholstery by the acre—nuts, bolts and washers by the millions. Its sales and service take place through 33,000 dealers. More than 275,000 families look directly to General Motors for their livelihood—almost a million and a half men, women and children in every community in the land.

Meaning so much to so many, General Motors has felt a supreme obligation to look ahead.

Are there methods by which General Motors cars can be better built to better serve?

Are there new ideas which can increase the utility and pleasure and safety of motoring?

Are there new materials which can add to owner satisfaction?

Such are the questions that all General Motors engineers have always asked. The answers have made it possible, year after year, to offer an increasing measure of beauty in design, modern performance, riding comfort and distinct style. Thus in every price class, from Cadillac to Chevrolet, purchasers are constantly benefiting from the General Motors policy of progress.
