"Mockery"

STARRING LON HANEY, RICARDO CORTEZ AND BARBARA BEDFORD

A story of the Russian revolution in which Lon Chaney plays the role of a herit-like peasant, who worships a girl of the upper class and becomes her slave. The terrible horrors of the revolution with sudden turn of events place him in power. As a leader he becomes egotistical and unbalanced, turns brutal against the girl he loved but finally pays for the disaster with his own life. "Mockery" is considered by the film companies far better than "Tell it to the Marines" or "Mr. Wu." Don't fail to see this tragic story of Russia.

Wednesday and Thursday April 18 and 19

"Hills of Peril"

A good bad man, a fighting buckaroo in a moonshiner's cave; also a wonderful marksman.

Saturday and Sunday April 21 and 22

"Fighting Love"

STARRING JETTA GOUDAL

A DeMille production. Jetta Goudal, herself a harming mystery, makes a living heroine for this story. She avoids all men and all social gayeties when off duty. What she does before and after working hours is still a mystery. Nobody knows except that she retires to her own home. This little french actress will explain nothing regarding her exclusiveness.

SUCCESS WITH COWS-CHICKENS

I'm still trying to figure out why Mrs. Haddox hasn't done mighty well. A little more than $600 annually built into investment, eggs and 100 chickens a year to eat, her own clothing and some things for the house.

Some folks are too doggoned modest, and Mrs. T. H. Haddox is one of 'em!

The astounding thing to me about her record is that poultry is a sideline. There are seven Haddox boys that call her mother. She has gobs of other things to do besides bossing and working for those chickens.

One thing both she and her husband are very positive about is this: Poultry requires expert care and knowledge in greater degree to make it consistently profitable over a period of years than does dairying. I think the fact that her most profitable year in the business was her first year is what has caused her to expand no farther than a 700-flock—that and the fact that caring for a flock is mighty hard work, and there is a limit to what even a human dynamo can be expected to do.

Out north of the Haddox house is the dairy barn and the orchard lot in which he has his herd of big Holsteins. What a herd they are! They are under test in the Umatilla Dairy Improvement association, and their owner thinks they will return a herd average for the year of something more than 400 pounds of fat. Their records so far this year indicate that they are one of the highest producing herds of their size in the state under test.

There are 17 producing cows in the herd now. The sire is a young animal from the Hollywood farm with Segus blood predominating in his makeup. Mr. Haddox feeds some grain all during the year and says that it is necessary if a dairy man wants to make money. He is strong for ensilage, and grows enough corn to fill the 65 ton structure as full as possible each fall.

"I made the same mistake a few years ago that a lot of other men in all kinds of business made," Mr. Haddox admitted while we were visiting. "I spread out too far, bought more land and rented too, and the result was that when hay prices went down I ran into losses. As things panned out, this herd of cows has made me money every day, and I've used the profits they returned to make up a part of the losses I suffered trying to farm on a large scale. No more of that for me! From now on I'm a dairy man for my part of this business."

"On this 40 acres here I can raise pasture and corn enough for ensilage for my herd and some of the hay. Of late years it has been possible to buy hay for less on the market than it costs to produce it, so I'll buy what I don't raise. I'm still paying off some of the losses I had to take on big scale farming, and I've got some more to pay."

"I can see my mistake very clearly now. I'm not the only one that made it. There are others. This project can continue to improve, and it can do it a lot faster than most people realize if folks will handle dairy cows and poultry and not try to farm too much land."

LOCAL MAN SIGNS UP FOR AVIATION WORK IN SCHOOL

Portland, Ore., April 12—Earl W. Grigg, Hermiston, Oregon, has enrolled in the Rankin School of Flying here. He is a member of the largest class of flying students in America, since 113 cadets signed up in March at the oldest school of its kind in the northwest. The total enrollment at the school is over 450.

Grigg will receive his instruction in flying from the large corps of licensed instructors under the personal direction of Tex Rankin, the pioneer aviator in the northwest. He will receive his ground work from lieutenant Basil Smith, U. S. Naval reserve officer, who was formerly an instructor in aeronautics at Boston Tech.

BRIEF GENERAL NEWS

Henry Ford is visiting in England for the first time in 12 years.

The unveiling of the mounted statue of General Robert E. Lee on Stone Mountain took place Monday, the anniversary of Appomattox.

Chile has offered Commander Richard E. Byrd the co-operation of that government in forwarding the work of his south pole expedition.

A belated winter snowstorm accompanied by rapidly tumbling temperatures swept over Kansas, Nebraska and southwestern Iowa Saturday, isolating several cities, including Omaha.

Carl Gray, president of the Union Pacific system, has announced a budget of $90,000,000 for improvements and maintenance this year. This is $5,000,000 in excess of the 1927 budget.

The latest report concerning Leon Trotsky, once leader of Russian red army but of late months exile in the farthest reaches of soviet Russia, says he and his wife are in Latvia. Recent rumors that Trotsky had been assassinated are scouted by the Moscow government.

COUNTY KEY BANKERS

Who are they? County representatives of the agricultural committee of the state bankers association by whom appointed? Preferably by the agricultural committee in co-operation with the President and Secretary of the State Bankers Association, and the Extension Director of the College of Agriculture.

What are their duties?

- To get in touch with each bank in their respective counties and get a line on what each is doing agriculturally.
- To represent the agricultural committee of the state association in any county matters pertaining to agriculture in which banks or the bankers association are interested.
- To serve as the medium through which the assistance of banks of the county can be obtained to meet an emergency such as a sudden outbreak of disease or insect pest.
- To be responsible for interesting the banks of the county in one or more of the agricultural projects approved jointly by the state committee and the college of agriculture.

How can they proceed?

- By correspondence.
- Present projects or plans at county banker meetings.
- Make personal visits to banks of the county, preferably in company with the county agent.

Kentucky's Purebred Sire Special, sponsored by the Kentucky Bankers Association, left Louisville recently, making morning, noon, and afternoon stops every day. Besides exchanging a purebred sire for a scrub bull at every station, registered heifers, gilts, sheep, and pens of purebred poultry were to be given away. Exhibits and discussions, together with the preparatory work in which over 500 people are engaged, should stimulate raising the average production of Kentucky livestock, according to F. C. Dorsey, of Louisville, Representative of the Agricultural Commission, American Bankers Association.

Platinum's Value at First Not Recognized

At one time platinum was regarded as a nuisance. Today it is more valuable than gold.

Scientists have proved that it is the most permanent of all metals and that it resists the action of moisture or the elements for centuries. Platinum is of exceptional value in dental work because it is not affected by the acids and secretions of the mouth.

It was the Spaniards who brought this metal to the notice of the civilized world. When they were in Mexico and Panama in search of gold they regarded platinum as a nuisance and a dangerous metal because, being as heavy as gold, it was easily mistaken for gold when covered with a coating of yellow metal.

It was not long, however, before they realized its value for making jewelry, and used it for snuff-boxes, sword and dagger hilts, and other ornaments.

It now commands a higher price than gold. When it is in crude ore form it is like a coarse gravel that appears dull and unpromising. After the first refining process the metal is spongy and porous. It is then pressed into round disks.

In ancient times the metal was hammered into very thin sheets and then worked up into endless varieties of ornaments, the best specimens of which have been found in Ecuador.

Washington, D. C.—A $600,000,000 farm relief bill was offered by Senator Brookhart, republican, of Iowa, as a substitute for the pending McNary-Haugen measure. He would meet the cost of exporting surplus crops by levies upon the treasury up to this amount.

Michigan Indorses Hoover and Smith. Detroit.—Herbert Hoover, republican, and Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York, democrat, were indorsed as presidential nominees by Michigan voters in a preferential primary.
