

Where will you be at seventy?

Recent investigations have shown that a large number of persons are dependent on relatives or charity in their old age. When the autumn of life approaches, and the leaves of youthful vim and enthusiasm fall, it is extremely difficult for any person, no matter how able, these investigations prove, to compete in the world of business and commerce. What better insurance against dependence in old age than a savings account in a bank? One dollar will start you on the road to economic security.

HERMISTON BRIEFS

The American Legion and Auxiliary will enjoy a picnic together at the reservoir Sunday evening. Those going will meet at the club rooms at 6:30.

F. B. Swayze, E. P. Dodd and C. W. Kellogg drove to Yakima Friday on business. Mr. Swayze and Mr. Kellogg returned Sunday evening. Mr. Dodd will remain at his ranch for a week.

Mrs. A. H. Norton entertained at a luncheon Wednesday honoring Miss Martha Farrar. Four tables were in play during the afternoon. High score went to Mrs. Ralph Richards. Low score to Mrs. Ralph.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl McNaught returned Tuesday evening from a trip in the valley. Mrs. McNaught spent Mother's day with her daughter, Nancy, at O. A. C. They were accompanied home by Mrs. J. F. McNaught who will make an indefinite visit.

Mrs. E. P. Dodd and daughter Ruth were Pendleton visitors over the weekend. Ruth helped her cousin, Catherine Collins, celebrate her birthday Saturday. Mrs. Dodd's father, Mr. Alexander, enjoyed his birthday Sunday, so they were there for that occasion also.

SENIOR CLASS ENTERTAINED

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Cherry entertained in honor of the senior class Saturday evening at their home. The senior boys were asked to bring additional girls, there being only three in the class.

An evening of stunts consisting of get together march, intelligence test, athletics, senior traits, singing and valedictory was enjoyed.

Prizes went to Nell Reeves and Gerald McKenzie. Daffodil, the class flower, was used in the color scheme.

No Use for Soft Couches

It was natural, on account of the rigors of climate, that interest in sleeping arrangements should be pronounced in northern countries. Surely no southern race evolved the feather bed. Among the humble Saxon folk, writes Estelle H. Riek, in the Mentor Magazine beds were simple sacks filled with straw and laid on benches or chests. This use of straw continued for centuries, even on the beds of kings. The covers were usually the skins of wild beasts. It must be said, however, that these robust people had a certain contempt for a soft couch, so that often their choice of a hard one was voluntary.

Still in the Making

It takes patience and wise forecast to make one satisfied with the slow development of things in the world. So much is in the making. The present output may seem imperfect and uncouth, but wait; after a while the finished product, and it will please us much. It was on this account that a Scottish artist once said: "I never let barns or fools see my pictures till they are done." It takes a mature mind to get along with immature things.

C. C. PROEBSTEL

Republican Candidate for Re-election
Present District Attorney

YAY PRIMARIES 1928

...Nine years Court experience and in County affairs, the past four years as District Attorney. The first District Attorney to maintain an office in the Court House, employing no stenographer, thus saving the County rent and office expense. I have maintained the office as a public office, and not as a sideline to a private downtown law practice, devoting my entire time to the duties of the office. ...Official records show that I have been successful in my prosecutions; that I have won all my supreme court cases, and have kept Umatilla county out of expensive litigation. I have applied all public money with advantage and savings to the taxpayers.

I have become well acquainted and am on good terms with city, county, state and federal officers, and will actively cooperate with them in the enforcement of all laws.

I was born and reared in Umatilla County and am a qualified and practicing lawyer. Served during the late war in the Regular Army, 12th Infantry, 8th Division. I am a home owner and taxpayer and have a family consisting of a wife and two children. The oath of office is my pledge, my record your guarantee. Why change without reason.

Interesting Light on

Old Labor Conditions

An agreement for preventing labor disputes in the building industry, drawn up 1,500 years ago at Sardis, in Asia Minor, reveals some interesting parallels between labor conditions then and today. The document, Electrical Workers' Journal makes known, is an agreement entered into by the Sardis union of building artisans and the artisans of the city.

Some of the most interesting provisions are as follows:

"That we will complete all pieces of work given out to us by any one of the employers, provided that the employer is prompt in paying to us the wages mutually agreed upon.

"If, when a man undertaking the work declines it, some one of us be found neither doing anything nor performing work in accordance with the provisions herein written, we bind ourselves to pay (the sum) as a fine to be used for the city's public works. . . .

"And for the full discharge of the fine we pledge, under a lien both general and individual, all our property, present and future, of every kind and sort."

Genius Accorded to

Old Southern Mammy

"The southern mammy was America's first woman artist. She created our choicest and most original food compositions," declares Farm and Fireside's cooking expert in reviewing the home life of George Washington.

"Washington had one of these mammys who made history in the kitchen," continues the article, "and their art had much to do with the happy social life of the home and the world-wide fame of the South, for its hospitality in Colonial days could not have been without the genius of these dusky women."

Washington's particular colored cook was famed for miles around and Mount Vernon became noted for its hospitality. The dinners given within its beamed dining room played an important part in Washington's life and in the political development of the country. At that festal board the fiery patriots of the Revolution decided the future of the new nation.

The World's Greatest

These are the men that H. G. Wells regards as the greatest in history, and why:

Jesus: As a man takes precedence of all others by virtue of the new and simple doctrines which He brought into the world—the universal, loving fatherhood of God. Buddha: Although in different language, he, too, had called men to self-forgetfulness 500 years before. Aristotle: Laid the foundations for research and classification of scientific knowledge. Bacon: Set men to thinking along new, fresh lines; who between 1210-1233 prophesied the steamboat and airplane. Asoka: The only military monarch on record who abandoned warfare after victory. Lincoln: Embodies the essential characteristic of America; standing for the quality of opportunity, for the right and the chance of the child of the humblest home to reach the highest place.

Various Gases

The bureau of standards says that water gas, usually enriched with oil, is the principal gas manufactured in the United States for city supply. Most natural gas has a higher heating value and is, therefore, more valuable, although it does not command as high a price as water gas, because the supply is usually so great. Oil gas is a term used to designate a number of gases manufactured from oil. The differences between these various gases depend upon the relative proportions of the several constituents which make up the mixtures.

Fountain Pen Not New

Fountain pens were used as long ago as 1600, when reference was made in a book to their use by travelers.

In 1788 fountain pens were first mentioned in an advertisement, and about this time they had come to be called by their present name.

In a "Dictionary of Arts and Sciences," published in 1754, fountain pens were defined as "a pen made of silver, brass, etc., contrived to contain a considerable quantity of ink and let it flow out."—London Tit-Bits

Light

The bureau of standards says that both light and heat are electromagnetic vibrations which carry energy as does any system of waves. Light is now made by many to include invisible waves called ultra-violet and infra-red. Strictly, light means luminous vibrations, or visible waves. Radiant heat is simply the energy aspect of any electromagnetic waves. In the strict sense light must be visible, but all light contains vibrant energy which may be identified as heat.

A Useful Baby

A new use has been found for the baby in the modern home. In one Indianapolis family the new baby and the new radio set came to the home about the same time.

The baby is awakened at 4 a. m. for its night feeding and the fond father has asked his wife to awaken him at the same time so he can listen in on his radio for the programs that are said to be unusually good at that hour.—Indianapolis News
